NOS. 1373 TO 1398.

JULY—DECEMBER, INCLUSIVE.

1894.

The following semi-annual Index of the Conveyances and Projected Buildings in New York City, as published in THE RECORD AND GUIDE during the last half of 1894, will be found of great value to those of our subscribers who have preserved all the issues of this paper during that period. Care has been taken to keep the Index up to the same standard which has characterized it in the past. The pages are given on which all the transfers of realty published in Volume LIV. can be found, and the streets and avenues are so subdivided that few references are required. For instance, transfers of property on Bank street appear in four issues during the six months. Bank street in the Index is subdivided into three parts, so that the least possible trouble need be incurred, provided it is known between what streets the property is located. In this volume we have continued to arrange the transfers in such a manner that almost every street affected (below the Harlem) can be seen at a glance by turning to the pages which the Index calls for. Take for instance page 11 and find thereon:

Beaver st. No 22 / begins Beaver st. s s, Marketfield st. (140.11 w Broad st. 21.4
x61.7 to Marketfield st. x22.3x58.11, 4-sty brk store.

The above applies when a piece of property is on the corner of any street or avenue below the Harlem River and runs in depth upon both streets more than 100 feet, or when a plot has buildings fronting on both streets, and also when the property begins on one street and runs to another. Although many of our subscribers have used the Index for years, some of them do not fully understand the completeness of the work. We are frequently told of errors that our readers think they have discovered, which, upon investigation, prove to be errors of the searcher—not of the Index. For instance, in the current number appears the following: Armand place (23d and 24th Wards), 15, the latter being the page on which a transfer on said street may be found. Now, turning to page 15, the average searcher would fail to find the item referred to, because it does not appear in the alphabetical order of streets. A close search shows the item under the head of

Sedgwick av, n w s, 175 s w Perot st, runs n w 99 x s w 50 x n w 85 to s e s Armand
pl. x s w 73.4 x s e 184 to Sedgwick av, x n e 122 to beginning.

The Index is, therefore, in some cases condemned for a supposed error which is really the strongest evidence of the thoroughness with which it has been compiled. Where such an omission should occasionally seem apparent to the subscriber, he should search the whole page, and he will then find the item which is referred to. The Projected Buildings are indexed in a similar manner, so that it can readily be ascertained on what streets improvements have been made. Those wishing to keep a file for permanent reference should see that all the numbers are complete and have them bound. Cost of binding, $2.00 per volume. A suitable temporary binder, holding one volume, can be obtained at the office of THE RECORD AND GUIDE, 14 and 16 Vesey street; price, one dollar.

Annexed will be found a table showing the boundary lines, also the number of blocks contained in each of the thirteen Sections, and under which all property is now indexed in the Register's office by locality on new land maps of New York City, according to law, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1891. The tax maps are also arranged in a corresponding manner.

CONVEYANCES.

NOTE.—The figures in parenthesis—for instance, page (970) under the head of Allen street, from Delancey to Stanton street—denote that the transaction on the page given is Leasehold, an assignment of lease or a lease running for a long term of years. This explanation is made so that subscribers searching for transfers in fee can at once distinguish between the former and the latter without referring to the pages mentioned.

DYCKERHOFF PORTLAND CEMENT

Is superior to any other Portland Cement made. It is very finely ground, always uniform and reliable, and of such extraordinary strength that it will permit the addition of 25 per cent more sand, etc., than any other well-known Portland Cement, and produce the most durable work. It is unalterable in volume and not liable to crack. The foundations of many of the most important buildings recently erected in this city were constructed of the Dyckerhoff Portland Cement, such as the Statue of Liberty, Equitable Life, New York Times, New York World, Pack, Judge, Metropolitan Opera House, Metropolitan Telephone, U. S. Army, U. S. Trust Co., Union Trust Co., Farmers' Loan and Trust Co., Washington Memorial Arch, Brooklyn Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial Arch, Postal Telegraph Co., Grant Monument, Riverside Park, and others.

IF ability to take bad news well indicates that good news will be beneficial, then prices on the stock market ought to advance whenever final action on the tariff bill is taken and the railroad strike comes to an end. The hardening of prices of speculative railroad bonds within a day or two evidences a strong opinion that both matters will end satisfactorily to security-holders generally, even if there are still some dangers in store for particular issues. There are hardly likely to be any irreconcilable differences between the dominant sections in the Senate and House as to the final shape the tariff bill shall take, and its opponents are not likely now to prolong a struggle that is sure to be a losing one. The administration forces have shown by the votes that the defeat of this measure is a luxury that they cannot afford to give to their political opponents, even if there is a doubt that their victory will be scarcely more pleasant to them than defeat would be. The business of the country cannot fail to find any decision better than the uncertainties of the past six months. Regarding the strike it can only end in defeat for the men ultimately, but with the damage that may be meantime done an unascertainable quantity. Mr. Debs' statement makes it more illogical than ever, because he says that the strike of the American Railroad Union was ordered in sympathy with another strike that the Union discountenanced and advised against from the first. That business of all kinds has suffered no more than it has done, and that prices of securities have been maintained as well as they have, in view of the serious events that are happening, is an encouraging feature and therefore justifies the hope and belief that further declines are improbable and that current quotations will be about the basis for the next advance.

THE English and European banks which pay interest on deposits and cannot find employment for their money even at the low rates prevailing, have passed through an unprofitable half-year. For instance, in London the average rate for three months' bills has been 1.3 per cent, with only a portion of the loanable money employed, while the allowance on the total deposits averaged .25 per cent. The unfavorableness of this showing is intensified by the absence of any sign of bettering. The French are a more practical nation than they are generally supposed to be, as shown by their taxing every form of evil they cannot remove. Betting, among other things, is taxed and produced about $550,000 last year. It was originally intended that the proceeds of this tax should be devoted to charity, on the principle that the poor should benefit from the pleasures of the rich, but it finds its way into the national treasury all the same. A correspondent from Berlin remarks that that city is approaching the dead season; in view of what the condition has been, burying ought to be more in order than dying. Imperial and Prussian 4s continue to be sold, and new investments made in 3s. The public evidently foresees danger in holding the high interest rate bonds, disliking to carry them through conversion. From this and other signs it may be concluded that the financial disturbance which began with the Baring failure has affected a readjustment of interest rates, and governments in good standing will, in the near future, pay not more than 2 per cent and perhaps less for their money. Germany has a great deal of money invested in the Balkan and Danubian States and is watching the progress of events there with interest tinged with anxiety. France has made a demand on Austria to be put upon a parity with Italy in the matter of wine duties, which raises the fear of a customs' war between the two countries, though the existing treaties between them would not permit such measures for some time to come, and meantime an amicable arrangement may be obtained. Twenty per cent of the wheat area of Austria and Hungary is said to be in bad condition owing to cold weather in May followed by heavy rains in June.

WE publish in another column the figures which the Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments have just issued showing the assessed valuation of real and personal estate in this city. It is clear that the hard times have not affected the high and increasing estimation in which the Commissioners hold the real estate of this city. The judgment of the best informed brokers would be that the immediate market value of the real estate of this city has declined considerably during the last twelve months. A few would not hesitate to say that could it all be put up at auction in a normal way it would be sold for very much less than it would have brought at such a hypothetical sale a year ago. Some conservative judges estimate that real estate, on the whole, judging from the income it yields, has fallen perhaps 10 per cent since the beginning of the financial depression. This, on the basis of last year's assessments, would mean a decline of about $156,000,000. The Commissioners, however, are strong bulls on the situation. Their judgment is that real estate is worth every penny that it was worth in 1893, and they have added to the assessments for this year something over $50,000,000, which presumably was necessitated in their judgment by the $55,000,000 worth of new buildings constructed during 1893. However, it is unnecessary to complain. It affects nothing. It is immaterial whether we have a high valuation and a low tax rate, or a high tax rate and a low valuation. The extremes go in pairs. The main thing is not the basis upon which the taxes are raised, but the amount of money which the taxpayer has to produce from the bottom of his pocket. The city's bills, we know, are heavier this year than last year. That is the main fact. They have to be paid. One cannot help remarking that the personal estate assessments remain as ludicrous as ever they were. They have increased a little during the last twelve months, but still they are only a comic representation of the personal wealth of our people. The assessment of the personal property of residents was increased about $10,000,000. The sum which the city receives from this source is so insignificant that it is doubtful whether, from a financial point of view even, the personal tax is not rather a source of loss to the city than a gain. When pressed, as it recently was in the case of the Goulds, it results in driving men of wealth into other less exacting communities. Perjury, of course, is its chief fruit, and as a method for promoting false swearing nothing has ever been devised by man to beat it.

WITH in every respect the worst railroad strike the country has ever known in progress, the question of the means to secure its termination is not more, and it may even be said not so important as the steps that should be taken to prevent its recurrence. The American Railroad Union is a superb illustration of the powers of organization among the working classes, yet it is most probably not the most perfect piece of work of the same kind that can be fashioned by the same hands. Using its power with justice and moderation and with a proper regard for the rights of others it might be of the greatest service to railroad employes and enjoy the respect as well as the admiration of the community. But as it has chosen to employ its strength in a way that inflicts unnecessary inconvenience and enormous financial loss wholly undeserved, not only on the railroad companies and the traveling public, but upon the country at large, its acts must be taken as a warning that its policy is one of tyranny, and the greater interests outside of it, leaving out the interests of capital as represented by the millions in the hands of individuals and corporations, require that it shall be met by an organization more perfect and powerful than itself. This organization is already at hand in the shape of the Federal Government. By placing all the railroads of the country under Federal control it would be possible, and recent events have shown that that is the only way to keep the communications of the country free and open to the legitimate uses of the people at large. Considering what the railroads are to the people of the different States and the principles underlying the creation of the duties of the central power, it cannot be doubted for a moment that had the railroads existed when this Government was formed they would have been intrusted to the care of the Federal authorities as were the waterways and the postroads. Not only are the railroads part of the necessary communications of a country as were its highroads in times gone by, but they are also, as were the roads, a most important feature in defensive arrangements. As it is equally the duty of the government to keep open the commercial communications as to maintain the integrity of the military communications, every reason points to the wisdom of giving the Federal authorities the necessary powers to perform this duty.

SHOULD it be true, as most probably is the case, that the flow of gold to Europe from these shores is about to cease, the greatest danger that threatened the national treasury—the depletion of its stock of the precious metal—will be removed. The treasury is well supplied with currency to meet its maturing obligations for a little while, and as final action on the tariff bill cannot now be long delayed, it may reasonably be expected that the revenues of the government will show an increase within thirty days. Given anything like a revival in business the deficiency in the country's receipts for the past year should give no anxiety whatever, even if no further issue of bonds is contemplated. Should the results of the next month be as satisfactory as is now anticipated, there is sure to arise, however, for very good reasons, prima facie it must be admitted, a demand for the reform of the national currency. This is almost inevitable, but it is to be regretted that this discussion should appear to be so near, and every business man will share the hope that it may be put off for some time to come yet, because it is sure to revive all the heats and animosities, crude theories and absurdities that have been raised so easily and silenced with so much difficulty and have consequently injured business so much in the past three years. At the present moment the hands of Congress are too clumsy to handle a matter of so much delicacy; it is not until the country has learned better what it wants and the business of the country has had an opportunity to regain something of what it has lost from faulty legislation and the unwise disturbance of commercial laws that the important question of currency reform can be approached in the proper spirit. The commercial world has had enough of what it did not want, and although we have a good many things of the same class now, let us take time and be sure of what we do want before we make any more changes.

Irrational Tenement House Planning.

IT is a noteworthy fact that professionally the architect has had very small concern for any of the social problems that have come from time to time within the range of his professional activity. The doctor, we know, has acted very differently. The medical profession have been zealous reformers. To take an example, for the sake of the contrast it affords, the improvements which have been made of late in the sanitation of buildings have been due very much more to the preaching and the activity of the medical profession than to innovations and betterments produced by architects. Indeed, left to himself the architect apparently would continue to the end of time planning buildings, careless of their sanitary condition, so long as clients were satisfied with them and the public were willing to live in them. We cannot at this moment recall to mind a single improvement which has tended to make our buildings more habitable and better adapted to the conditions of their uses that has originated with the architect. On the contrary, it can be urged with some force, if not with strict accuracy, that the greater modern improvements in the way of plan, construction, and equipment, have been forced upon architects either by the public or by engineers, or by specialists of one class or another. If any one thinks this is too strong a statement let him consider for a moment the attitude of long and total indifference of our architects toward the tenement house problem in this city. Year after year, the profession has been busy erecting tenements and flats which have recently been characterized by one, himself an architect, as "the worst curse which ever afflicted any great community." The enormous deficiencies of these buildings in plan, light, air, health and comfort have been so striking from the first that they cannot have escaped observation. Architects, indeed, have probably been more keenly aware of the radical defects of these structures than any class of the community, yet how little effort even along the lines of professional activity have they given to bringing about any reform. Doctors, politicians and philanthropists have all addressed themselves to the problem of improving the character of the tenement accommodations in this city, and the reforms, such as they are, that have been effected in the last twenty-five years are due to their labors and to the thought and discussion which those labors have promoted. The architect has held himself aloof from the work and his chief lament has been that the conditions of modern life in a city like New York, and the requirements of clients are inimical to truly artistic work, meaning by artistic work close copying of the architecture of other centuries and other societies.

In view of the foregoing it is gratifying to come across an article in the current number of Scribner's Magazine, entitled "The New York Tenement House Evil and its Cure," by Mr. Ernest Flagg. Mr. Flagg is an architect who stands very high in the profession, and he treats his subject entirely from the aspect which it presents to architects. We very cordially recommend the article to our readers. It is a common sense, instructive and positive paper. While we cannot quite agree with the writer's sanguine hope that the tenement house evil is susceptible of being eradicated solely by an architectural treatment, there can be very little doubt that he has touched one of the chief sources of the evil, and has proposed a remedy which sooner or later must be applied.

Mr. Flagg's contention is that the worst defects of the tenement house spring from the division of New York City into lots of 25x100 feet. This and the high price of land in the metropolis which necessitates the utilization of every available square foot of surface, has created an irrational and illogical plan from which it is sheerly impossible to obtain the light, air and comfort necessary for healthy existence. Even tenement houses of the so-called improved type built upon these lots are, Mr. Flagg says, buildings "with wells or shafts of stagnant air at the sides, acting as conductors of noise, odors and disease from one apartment to another. The bedrooms of one family have their windows directly opposite, and four feet distant from, the windows of the house adjoining. Each family has generally a cooking-stove in one of the rooms which open on to this same slit or well. Very little imagination is required to picture to one's self the wretched condition of people forced to live under such circumstances, and the great danger arising therefrom to the health and morals of the community. By far the greater number of the inhabitants of this city live in such houses, from sixteen to twenty families to a single lot. From the time of its first introduction there has been no radical change in the plan of these houses. Acres upon acres have been covered by them, all constructed upon the same general plan based upon the shape of the lot, 25x100 feet. Strange to say, they are not usually built singly. In most cases the houses are put up in blocks of from two, three and four, up to twenty or more, yet no attempt is ever made to depart from the stereotyped plan. If an owner has a plot of 100 feet square, instead of building one house he builds four houses. It never seems to have occurred to any one that this is an extremely extravagant and wasteful way of building." Extravagant and wasteful in the extreme, however, it is. Mr. Flagg proceeds to show that this system involves the erection of an enormous, unnecessary amount of walls and partitions, also an unnecessary number of entrances, halls, etc., and consequently loss of room. This loss of money and space would be sufficient under proper planning to provide properly lighted and well-ventilated buildings, which, while giving better accommodations to tenants, would yield the owner returns as large as those he now obtains. Mr. Flagg proceeds to reform the "plan" and like a sensible reformer he accepts, as far as possible, present conditions. The 25x100 lot we cannot away with. Whatever may yet be done in the arrangement of the newer parts of the city, in the ancienter parts the old lot system must remain; but instead of building our tenements on single lots, we could increase the area and use two, three or four lots instead of one. Our new office buildings are not erected any longer on single lots. The area for our tenements might likewise be expanded. The advantages of a larger unit for building purposes are mathematically certain. As every builder knows, a square is the cheapest plan to build upon—it requires fewer running feet of wall to inclose a given area. With four lots our builders would have 100x100 feet to deal with, and Mr. Flagg shows that there is a saving of 15 per cent in adopting a square plan instead of the parallelogrammic plan necessitated by the 25x100 foot lot. Comparing four separate tenements such as are built to-day on a plot 100x100 with a single tenement built on a like space, he shows that in the four tenements there are 850 square feet of space occupied by brick walls against 650 in the single building, 515 square feet against 350 for partitions, 800 square feet against 290 for stairs and corridors, 175 against 75 for water-closets—leaving in the four-building plan only 2,060 square feet for light and air against 3,060 square feet in the single plan, both plans giving the same rentable space, viz., 5,600. In the matter of cost, too, the figures are all in favor of the single building plan. The number of running feet of brick wall from the foundation to the roof in the single house plan is 650 against 850 for the quadruple house plan; the number of running feet in each floor, 700 against 1,030 respectively, and the contents of the building in cubic feet, assuming both to be 70 feet high and contain six stories, 190,000 against 556,500. On this basis, putting the cost per cubic foot at fifteen cents the single house plan would cost $73,500 and the four house plan $83,475. But further, from the figures for the single house plan must be deducted $8,000 for the saving of 200 running feet of brick wall from foundation to roof, and of 330 running feet of partition plastered on each side of each floor. This brings the net cost of the single building down to $65,500 against $83,175.

The result then of using a larger unit than the 25x100 lot is not only a cheaper building, but a building that meets the essential requirements of health and decency, and though it costs some $18,000 less to erect, it yields the same amount of rentable space, so improved in quality that the owner would probably be able to obtain, at any rate until the majority of property owners were as wise as he, either higher rents or a more permanent and better class of tenantry.

High as we esteem it within its own sphere, we have small opinion of philanthropy as a force for bettering the condition of mankind in large bodies. It may relieve the distressed or the sick even in great numbers as individuals, but we think it is useless to call upon it to effect the reform of an evil that some disorder or ill-arrangement of the community has created. For the tenement house evil Mr. Flagg suggests a reform the working force of which is not charity in any form. It appeals to the common sense of real estate owners and builders. It demonstrates that it will be profitable to desist from the unnecessary wasteful and illogical work which they have been doing in thousands of undertakings in the last twenty-five years. During the last fourteen years $325,000,000 have been spent in tenements and flats, and had rational planning overridden the tyranny of the 25x100-foot lot, 15 per cent at least of this might have been saved and people at the same time have been better housed. We should add that the 50-foot plot is also susceptible of rational and economical treatment.

Mr. Flagg proposes that the Board of Health should attack the problem at once by prohibiting buildings of the present type. "A simple regulation," he says, "for space at the side of the building like that now enforced for such space at the rear would quickly bring about a change of plan." This seems a very simple way to effect the most desirable reform needed now in the metropolis, and although we have said we cannot regard Mr. Flagg's proposition as a "cure" for the tenement house evil it would undoubtedly go a vast way towards improving the conditions amid which the greater part of the population of this city pass their existence. The Board of Health should take the matter into their consideration.

The Tenement as an Investment.

There has probably been no year in the history of New York realty so trying as the past one has been, or one better calculated to bring out the investment qualities of a property, meaning by investment qualities the least diminution and irregularity in the returns. Tenement house property has, according to the evidence of brokers best qualified to express an opinion, stood this test best. There are, of course, parcels belonging to every class of property that have paid as well in the past year as they have ever done, but placed in groups it may be confidently assumed that the results have been more unsatisfactory as the grade is raised. This is not unnatural. In the process of contracting the city's population on lesser space it follows that cheapness being everywhere the main desire, though the idea of cheapness may be different in nearly every case, that the greatest demand should fall upon the old unimproved houses. In the process of economizing by the community there has also been a great deal of doubling up, of which the evidences are greater in the tenements than anywhere; one broker, as will be seen below, fixed this at 10 per cent.

As there are instances of high-class property paying during bad times as well as good, there may be found also instances where tenement property has proved as unsatisfactory as any. Joseph Toch, of 957 3d avenue, recently gave it as his opinion, referring to the 10th Ward, that tenement property had suffered most and said: "A friend of mine owns ten tenements in the 10th Ward and he tells me that not only could he not collect his rents, but has to help many of his tenants by making them small loans. Often instead of collecting $10 or $12 he has had to loan the tenant $3 or $4." But the preponderance of evidence is the other way. Even up town, where the competition of new property is a serious drawback, tenement property was favorably regarded. One East Side broker in the "80s" said: "Tenement property has stood the test of the hard times not only well, but better than other property. It fills better and the rents are more promptly paid. As an instance we can name one house on 2d avenue in the '90s" from which the returns for three months this year have been $170, $180 and $190 against $130, $110 and $150 last year. These are tenements of three and four rooms. Vacancies are quickly filled up, which is not the case with flats, as these are very hard to let when they become empty. Tenants are moving from high-priced to low-priced apartments for the sake of economy. Another broker of large experience in the same district said: "More rent has been lost in the high-priced houses and apartments than in the cheaper properties; more tenants run behind and move away and there are a good many more vacancies right through these classes of properties. Stores are excepted because that class of property has held its own at increased rentals on the avenues, especially on 3d avenue, where it was thought that the cable would bring more business. In the tenements more rent has been lost this year through tenants running behind, but they have been better rented than ever before. Low-priced flats have also been in demand. We have rented some that were never let before and there is a great call for those renting at from $15 to $18. At the same time they do not show better average results because the loss through tenants running behind has been great. House property has on the whole suffered most, notwithstanding a drop of 10 per cent, roughly estimated, in rents. We have fifteen houses to rent now; we do not always have as many as that altogether to rent in the spring. The drop in rent has been greatest in proportion to the value of the property. The rent of one house on Madison avenue was reduced from $3,500 to $2,800, and another owned by the same party which used to bring $2,200 could be had for $1,800."

The brokers most qualified by their experience to speak on the subject were unqualified in their approval of tenements as investment properties. For instance, Cyrille Carrean said: "The times have made very little difference in tenement property, which has kept up very nicely. There is no difference in the collection of rents up to the present time. At one time last year it looked as if there might be some trouble; a good many of the tenants seemed to think they could avoid the payment of rent by working on the sympathies of the landlords, but a number of dispossessions stopped that. When they found that it was a question of paying their rent or of going out, they managed to pay up. This has reference to tenements renting at from $9 to $10. High-priced flat property seems to be a little more affected; the higher the class the more it is affected. On the whole, in my opinion, tenement investments present the best elements of certainty." A broker on the opposite side of the city, P. C. Eckhardt, of No. 693 9th avenue, speaking of the district between 42d and 59th streets west of 8th avenue, estimated the doubling up in the cheap unimproved tenements at about 10 per cent. Tenements at from $7 to $9 a month were easily let with the losses not greater than in ordinary years. The results in flats renting at from $20 to $25 were not quite so good. He found the great losses to be in apartments renting at from $25 to $45; running up to about 30 per cent due to vacancies and the tenants leaving with rents unpaid, where in ordinary years these losses would not amount to more than 5 to 6 per cent on an average. Collections were bad all around; the higher the rent the harder it was to get it.

Geo. J. Kenny, of the firm of Geo. J. Kenny & Bro.: "Our business is in tenements, flats and business houses. Taken on the whole of any class of property we have in the office, tenements hold their own the best. On account of the dullness of trade a good many more business premises, stores and lofts have become vacant, and are more difficult to rent than when times were good. Last May it was necessary to make reductions in rents of store properties of from 10 to 15 per cent; this was the case in about one-half of the renewals. It must be borne in mind, however, that these reductions were of a temporary character, in some instances for three months only, and in others an agreement was made from month to month. In the majority of instances they were for a year in order to tide ourselves over the present condition of business. Another feature peculiar to the times is that some districts have suffered more than others. The Bowery, Grand, Broome, Spring and Crosby streets, and that district bounded by Canal and Houston, from the Bowery west to South 5th avenue, there appears to be more vacancies than there have been for some time past, as is evidenced by the many 'to let' bills seen there. The applications are not one-half what they were when business and everything else was in proper condition. This has naturally reduced rents. For instance, No. 297 Grand street, let in 1890 and 1891 for $1,500, the present rental is $3,000. The drop in this case, however, is partly due to the changed character of the street. Property in the Bowery has been for three years in a depressed state compared with what it was before that time, consequently rentals have decreased from 20 to 30 per cent. Taking fifty-one parcels on the Bowery, our experience shows that where they once brought an average of $3,000 per annum, they are now being rented at an average of from $2,000 to $2,400.

"Our tenements extend from Pearl street up as far as Harlem, and our experience has been that this class of property holds its own better than any other class of real estate. For instance, taking a hundred tenements, five-story double houses, four families on a floor, renting at from $8 to $15, situated in the down-town section below 14th street, which I consider a first-class renting locality, we find that, compared with business property, the loss is exceedingly small, and in a good many cases there is no more loss or change than if the times were good. This applies particularly to the 1st, 2d, 4th, 6th and 14th Wards. The further you go up town the less it applies. This is due to the fact that the poorer population have a preference for the down-town section where a great many old buildings have been torn down for business sites, crowding the people more together and consequently creating a demand for tenements in excess of the supply. Up town, in Harlem and Yorkville, the contrary is the case; there the supply is much greater than the demand, the vacancies more numerous and the rentals lower. Collections are harder in all sections of the city without a doubt. The collectors, when times were good, would succeed in getting all the returns in by the 15th of the month, it now occurs that they are not able to do it until the end of the month, and have double as much work in doing that as when times were good. Regarding improved tenements and flats, take the district from Houston to Canal street and from the Bowery to the East River, it is more difficult at the present time to achieve the same success both as to keeping the apartments let and the rents collected than was the case heretofore from the fact that this is a densely-populated Hebrew section where the people have very little work owing to the dullness in the manufacturing industries. These people would be most ready and willing to pay their rent promptly if they had work to do, but it is the lack of work and the consequent cutting off of their incomes that creates the condition of things that now exists. Taking twelve houses in this district, six improved tenements, renting on an average from $12 to $20 a month, and six old and unimproved houses, we find the following results: The six improved houses in good times would be all rented and the rents all collected by the 15th of the month; now, on the same basis of rentals, there are in the same house five to six vacancies and in some cases small reductions of rents and far more difficulty in collecting rents, so that they are not got in until the end of the month and very often one month runs into the other, with a good many tenants showing the rent up in arrears. The loss from this class of property is from 10 to 20 per cent.

to 15 per cent. The six old tenements show better results both as to getting tenants and collecting the rents; this is simply because they can be rented at lower rates by the owners on account of their investment not being so large and the demand for cheaply-rented tenements is greatest.

Mr. Kenny's experience of the better class of apartments in the Jewish quarters is similar to that of the agent for a number of houses of the same class there—nearly all corner houses and new. This gentleman said he had 350 apartments let and twenty-six empty, besides eighty stores. Of $5,000 rent due on the 1st of June $600 remained unpaid at the end of the month and $200 would probably be a total loss. This represented the condition of things that had existed ever since last August. The apartments rented at $17 and $18 a month, and there was a great deal of boarding and doubling up among the tenants. There was on all sides, too, an apparent fear among brokers and collectors that the worst had not been seen, and that unless there was a speedy improvement in the conditions of business the ability of tenants to pay rents would naturally become less. One large firm, having charge of about a thousand tenants in flats and houses, renting at from $700 to $1,200, had from the collector a list of defaults in June rents on the 13th amounting to probably 10 per cent of the whole, and 10 per cent of those defaults remained unpaid at the end of the month. Last May they had less demand for the houses and flats in their charge than before, and consequently the number of vacancies was unusually large. They admitted, as did others, that collections were worse in June than before.

From the statements given above, as well as from the remarks of other brokers not quoted, two very important facts were brought out. One was that, as might be expected, the returns on New York real estate during the past year were better in proportion as the rents were low. Circumstances might qualify the application of this statement in particular cases, but considered broadly it is true of New York realty as a whole. In Harlem one broker said he could let every cheap apartment he could get hold of, and collect the rents, too, while another was of the opinion that tenement property in that district was no better off than any other class. There was no such divergence of opinion in any other part of the town, and the exception may be taken to be only one of those particular cases previously referred to. The second fact brought out was that June was the worst month known for collections; this was admitted in every quarter without any qualification whatever. Whether, therefore, New York real estate has gone through the worst or has yet trials in store depends entirely on the condition of business. If it revives immediately and circulates money in the form of wages, well and good. Continued and further losses of wages would, of course, affect the tenements, but it is hard to see any condition that would influence them adversely that would not be even more trying to the better classes of property.

The "Tenderloin" District.

Reputable renting agents as a rule look with favor on the reform wave that gives promise of a more or less thorough moral purification of that section of the city lying west of 8th avenue, between 23d and 54th streets. Agents who are reputed to have extensively handled in the past property occupied for unlawful purposes are chary, however, in expressing their views regarding the present condition of the district or its outlook for the future. A conservative estimate is that there are now not less than 200 unoccupied houses on the West Side, north of 23d street. Owners whose agents formerly exacted excessive rents in consideration of complaisant indifference regarding the character of tenants are naturally the principal sufferers in a financial sense. But they are not alone. One of the results of the enforced vacating of the disreputable houses and flats has been a reduced rental value of nearby stores and shops located in buildings wholly or in part occupied by respectable people. The rents asked for the untenanted buildings are said not to indicate larger reductions than have been made elsewhere in the city, but it is understood that agents are ready to consider offers, no matter how low, from would-be tenants. The trouble is there are no applicants. The houses are also unsalable, for the time being. Having once acquired a certain reputation, they have been rendered useless for general residence purposes, and it is safe to say that their value has been impaired from 15 to 25 per cent. The "Tenderloin" section south of 40th street has suffered the least, as with the development of the city the principal portion of it—that below 34th street—has been for some time gradually undergoing transformation into a business district. It is still largely a residence locality, but the class of tenants is such as takes kindly to adjoining factories and business houses and has for years been able to get along quite comfortably even with neighbors of doubtful reputation. Property north of 40th street in what may aptly be called the "Tenderloin" annex has suffered most from the general exodus of its unsavory population. That is, it has suffered from the point of view held by interested owners of vacated houses and flats, but been greatly benefited according to the view taken by those who still retain the ownership of dwellings that have always sheltered respectable tenants. It is not more than twelve years since the neighborhood was an eminently respectable one. The district was subjected to the invasion of undesirable tenants in limited numbers at frequent intervals up to seven or eight years ago, and from that time until recently has been the most rapidly-populated of any quarter of the town by the demi-monde. Owners who refused to accept them as tenants have had a disagreeable time of it, and many who at first would not entertain offers to lease were finally forced to favorably consider them or let their buildings remain empty. Even the agents of the Astor properties have for some years been compelled for self-protection to rent only from month to month to insure the securing of respectable tenants for a number of the dwellings in their hands. Certain streets in the district having been given over almost entirely to the possession of the votaries of rice have now relapsed into a condition of innocuous desuetude, and the possibility of their regaining their lost reputations for respectability looks to be a slim one for some years at least.

REAL ESTATE INTERESTS BEFORE THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.
140 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK, July 2, 1894.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In reference to the article in your issue of June 23d, calling for an expression of views on proposed changes of the organic law, I beg leave to submit the following extract from a recent communication by me to a prominent member of the Constitutional Convention:

"First, as to suffrage. I am very clear as to the right of women to vote, but am doubtful of its expediency. I think that it would be unwise to open the door wide and at once to the unrestricted right of all adult women to vote, but it is time to begin to educate the sex to it, and such right might well be given as an experiment to women having a property qualification.

"But the gravest question connected with the suffrage, in my judgment, is to compel those who have the right to exercise it. Every voter should be required to register and vote (subject to such exemptions and legal excuses as would be right and proper) under a money or some other penalty. Those who can vote and won't vote should be made to vote. In no other way can we force the wealthy and the better classes to interest themselves in the questions of municipal and local government.

"That municipal elections should be divorced from national and State elections goes without saying. I see that propositions have been made to compel a citizenship of a certain number of days prior to an election as a prerequisite to the exercise of the right to vote thereat. I think, instead of ten days it should be at least one month or even longer.

"The right of dower should be absolutely abrogated and cut off. It has performed its function in bygone days and is now of very little practical use or advantage. We might do as they do in Connecticut—give a wife dower only in lands of which her husband dies seized, but I think that a more radical amendment is needed. While we have been so careful of the rights of the wife we have neglected those of the husband. If a married woman dies seized of realty intestate her husband has a life interest in it, and if she chooses to deprive him of this all she has to do is to make her will, and she may convey her lands in her lifetime without his knowledge or consent; but the husband cannot dispose of his real estate without his wife's concurrence and signature, nor can he cut off her dower interest in his lands by a will or any other instrument.

"It may be that a hint might be adopted from the Louisiana Code, which deprives the husband of the right of testamentary disposition of a certain percentage of all his property for the benefit of his wife or of his wife and family. But that is a second step, which should be considered after the abolition of the right of dower.

"There is no subject of greater importance than that of taxation. The rural districts, with a fatuous indifference to their own true interests, are constantly urging measures which tend to place the chief burden of taxation upon personality, with a persistent blindness to the teachings alike of history and political economy. If personal property were to bear the full share of the general rate of taxation, within ten years thereafter three-fourths of the farming interests would be bankrupt and three-fourths of the farms would be sold under foreclosure. I am a strong and firm believer in the single tax theory, not, however, according to the gospel of Henry George, because I draw the line at the vital principle in his theory. I think, without exception, that the whole burden of local taxation should be borne by real property and the improvements thereon, rated at its full, actual, market value. At present we have almost as many systems of assessment of values as there are counties in the State, averaging all the way from 30 to 100 per cent. The latter, in my opinion, should be the proper gauge in the assessment of realty. I am strongly convinced that the principle of local option by counties as to the mode and method of assessment would be of lasting benefit.

"The legacy or succession tax Act (now known as the Act relating to taxable transfers) is cumbersome, complicated, intricate and obscure. It involves frequent appeals to the Courts for its construction, and requires an unnecessary number of salaried officials to see to its collection and enforcement, and withal considerable property which should be brought under its operation escapes. The present system should be cut off, root and branch. Not that I am opposed to the tax; I think it the most just and equitable of all taxes, and should be the most easily enforced. But there should be no exemptions. The total estate and property of a decedent should pay a tax at a uniform rate, the value of the whole estate to be ascertained, and a tax levied, say of 1 per cent, which I think would be ample and would bring in a greater revenue than the present tax. This plan would do away with the chief work of the appraisers and other officials, it would be simple, easily understood and could be effectually carried out.

"As to exemptions from direct taxes, there should be none, absolutely none, for any matter or cause, in favor of any interest whatever. Benevolent societies, churches, schools, hospitals, should all be taxed and each pay its quota. The system of exemption has become a scandal and reproach. It has grown out of all proportion, and if it were cut off absolutely and forever, neither the cause of religion, nor of charity would suffer one iota. The fact that a church or a charitable society is to be subject to taxation, and that taxes hereafter are to be considered in the estimate of its running expenses, will be no deterrent to the formation and organization and the continued prosperity of churches and charitable societies of all kinds."

J. C. LEVI.

THE FUNDAMENTAL CAUSE.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Permit me to point out the fundamental cause of the popular and police corruption which you comment upon with so much horror in your editorial in the issue of June 30th.

The real cause is the enactment of various ordinances and other statutes, constituting certain acts criminal which are not criminal by nature.

Thus it is not criminal for a merchant to place cases on the sidewalk within reason; if a statute is enacted calling it a criminal offense, those who have the power of inflicting penalties at once are endowed with a valuable privilege which will be sold if circumstances compel. In such a civilization as ours, where it is not possible for everybody who is willing to work to make a living, circumstances do compel to obtain the wherewithal to live by any means. It may be very pious, but it is also quite in vain to denounce such actions.

By the same rule the statutes prohibiting bar-rooms from opening at certain hours or on certain days are, in the eyes of abstract justice, invalid. The only proper function, and in the long run the only possible function of government is the protection of liberty.

If more is attempted the privilege of limiting the normal liberty of others is conferred upon some, namely, upon the police. The liberty in question will be exercised just the same, only it will have to be paid for.

So, too, although the life of a prostitute is an exceedingly disagreeable one, women are forced into it to support life; of the people who say "Better death!" few would practise what they preach, yet such arrangements, however deleterious to individual and social development, are distinctly liberties that do not interfere with the liberties of others and are consequently outside the line of criminality.

Government, in a free country, cannot include the regulation of morals; when it mistakes its sphere and tries to do so it invites corruption.

Dwell a moment on smaller matters for illustration: People habitually turn to the right in walking in the street; make a law that they must turn to the right, and each who is arrested will have to pay or suffer.

So, again, people are usually careful how they carry their umbrellas; nobody wants to poke people's eyes out; make a crime of the horizontal position, as has been actually proposed, and you produce more suffering and corruption by imprisonment and payment to escape it than you prevent pain by the possible diminution of accidents.

We have too much government, too many laws. Everybody says so; few see why.

The reason is that we have forgotten the oldtime declarations about life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. We think the pursuit of happiness means not the happiness of the pursuer, but of some unco guid purist whose chief delight is to see how many people he can get put into jail.

A Correction.

LOCATION OF THE STABLE FOR THE STREET CLEANING DEPARTMENT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

As there were some inaccuracies, of course unintentional, in the statements referring to me published in your journal of June 30th, I request that you will afford me sufficient space in your columns to correct them.

1st. I have not "endeavored to get authority to buy property and build a stable" anywhere.

2d. I have never attempted or contemplated attempting to obtain a stable for the Department of Street Cleaning "in the midst of the residence neighborhood in West 75th street."

The facts are that persons owning or controlling a stable in West 87th street built, as I am informed, some thirteen years ago, and continuously occupied as a stable during that time, offered to lease that stable to the Department of Street Cleaning.

I asked the authority of the Sinking Fund to make the lease. A committee of West Side property-owners appeared before the Commissioners and protested. Upon hearing their objection I immediately withdrew my application. In doing so I stated that it was necessary for the proper performance of the duties of the Department of Street Cleaning to have a stable in that section of the city west of the Central Park. Several of the gentlemen who had appeared as protestants against my leasing the 87th street stable immediately offered to aid me in procuring a stable in some location that would be unobjectionable, and, in furtherance of that promise, several locations were suggested to me. Among the proposals I received was one made by a member of the West Side Association, who was one of the committee who protested against the leasing of the 87th street stable, who offered to build and lease to the city a stable in 90th street, between Columbus and Amsterdam avenues, on a block partly covered by stables, and upon lots abutting in the rear upon stables already built in 89th street; it being, as the proposer stated, a stable district.

That offer was submitted by me to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund and was read at a public meeting of that Board. It was referred to the Comptroller and was held under advisement by him for some days in order that an opportunity might be given to any persons who might desire to object, and was finally approved at a meeting of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, at which a member of the West Side Association publicly stated that the site was unobjectionable and was not and would not be opposed.

My preference for a stable site was some point on "the low-lying ground west of Riverside Drive," and I endeavored to obtain such a location, but found it impracticable and also violently opposed by property-owners adjoining the Riverside Drive; and as members of the West Side Association kindly offered to secure an unobjectionable location for a stable, I left the matter in their hands and finally accepted the offer made, as stated, by one of their number and against which no objection was or has been made apart from the statement referred to in your paper.

WILLIAM S. ANDREWS,
Commissioner of Street Cleaning.

Comptroller Ashbel P. Fitch is the cleverest of all our city office-holders. Even when he feels called upon to do some metaphorical kicking he does it in so courteous and refined a way that the kickee comes away with pleasurable emotions. It was all about that stable for the Street Cleaning Department. THE RECORD AND GUIDE last week said it was to be located between West End avenue and the Boulevard, on 90th street. So we were informed, and when we made inquiry about it at the Department of Street Cleaning the statement was confirmed by the two subordinates who answered our inquiry. Now it appears that they were wrong, our information was wrong, and consequently THE RECORD AND GUIDE was wrong. Mr. Fitch said: "Even the best and generally the most correct of us will make mistakes. But THE RECORD AND GUIDE is generally so correct that when it goes wrong it does a heap more harm than if it was customarily wrong—don't you see? Now, you are all wrong about that stable business, and it has caused me a heap of trouble, for not only do I read THE RECORD AND GUIDE, but my friends and clients read it, and they have been coming in here and raising Cain with me for permitting such an outrage, and it has taken time and pains to explain myself. My good friend, Cyrus Clark, President of the West End Association, was the last one in about it, and here is Commissioner MacLay in here now to see about it. Now the fact is that the stables are not to go between West End avenue and the Boulevard, but over here two blocks to the eastward, between Amsterdam and Columbus avenues, and when I showed it to Mr. Clark he was altogether satisfied. I showed him that they would abut upon the stables already in existence in the rear, facing on 89th street, and that there are stables and cheap flats only in the block. We have got to have stable room somewhere, and I do not know of a less objectionable place on the West Side. I would never for a moment have sanctioned a stable between West End avenue and the Boulevard."

According to the resolution of the Sinking Fund the Commissioner of Street Cleaning leases from Jacob & Skinner the three lots on 90th street, south side, 100 feet east of Amsterdam avenue, for ten years, at $5,000 per year, Jacob & Skinner to erect a stable on them for the use of the department.

Amending the Findings of a Board of Survey on an Unsafe Building Case.

For the first time in the annals of law a trial was had, recently before Judge Daly and a jury of the Court of Common Pleas, to decide whether a precept—an order—issued by a Judge, based on the report of a Board of Survey on an unsafe building case, should be altered or amended. The statutes provide that when a building becomes unsafe or dangerous the same shall be made safe and secure or removed, as the same may be deemed necessary by the Superintendent of Buildings. If the owner fails or neglects to comply with the Superintendent's order within a time stated therein, a survey of the premises follows by a Board consisting of three persons, one of whom is named by the Superintendent of Buildings, another by the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, and the third by the owner of the premises, unless the latter neglects or refuses to appoint such surveyor, and then the other two surveyors act, and in the event of a disagreement they appoint a third person as umpire.

The case in question was the building, No. 14 Maiden lane, a new ten-story fire-proof structure, having a frontage of about 23 feet and a depth of a little over 60 feet—a tall, narrow building. While the building was in course of construction a violent wind storm occurred in October last and listed over the skeleton iron frame of this building about 10 inches out of plumb. The frame was up the full height of ten stories, but they had not been bolted tight and the brick encasing walls were only part of the way up. The Superintendent of Buildings, taking cognizance of the unsafe condition of the building, directed that the leaned over portion be taken down and rebuilt to a vertical line. The owners failed to promptly certify their willingness to comply with the order issued by the Superintendent, and the latter thereupon called for a survey in accordance with the provisions of the building law. On this Board of Survey Deputy Superintendent Hornum represented the Department of Buildings, Mr. A. J. Bloor represented the Chapter of Architects, and the owners were represented by the architect of the unsafe building, Mr. G. A. Schellenger. The surveyors unanimously reported in favor of a system of knee bracing for each column at the ceiling line on every story, first restoring the frame to a plumb line by the use of diagonal braces and jack screws; and in addition thereto the surveyors required a lattice girder to be placed underneath the ceiling line of each story, about midway of the depth of the building, extending down to within 8 feet of each floor line. In due time an order of Court was issued directing that the report of the surveyors be carried out. The frame was brought back to a plumb line, and the knees or brackets all put in, these brackets being made of considerably larger sizes than demanded by the surveyors' report, with a view of obviating the necessity for the lattice girders, for it was seen that these girders would tend to darken the back portion of each floor and the central hall and staircase portion as well, and would deprive the owners from obtaining such rentals as they could reasonably expect to receive from a building whose location in the centre of the jewelry trade was particularly intended to accommodate a class of tenants who require a great amount of light for their business. The difficulty arose as to how the lattice girder requirement could be legally set aside. The Judge who issued the precept declared that he had no power to alter the findings of the surveyors, nor could the surveyors alter their report after the order of a court had been issued, but the Judge consented to open the precept and allow the question of fact as to whether the building had been made amply safe to be submitted to a jury. This was accordingly done. The three members of the Board of Survey, and Mr. William J. Fryer and Mr. Andrew J. Post, as experts in building construction, gave testimony as to the present entire safety of the building by reason of what had been done in the way of knee bracing, and the uselessness of any farther requirements under the circumstances. The jury came to a decision without leaving their seats that the building is safe and strong, and approved of a modification of the precept so that the cross-girder requirements should be eliminated therefrom, and thus ended the trial of the first case of its kind.

Free Rent Down Town.

A novelty in the way of a down-town "To Rent" sign is displayed on a store front on the corner of Park place and College place. It reads: "Possession now; lease dated September 1st." It is the first of its kind noticed in the business section of the city, although the offer of free rent for a preliminary month or two long ago ceased to be unusual with agents of up-town dwellings and flats.

A week divided by the greatest of our national holidays does not usually prove a busy one in real estate circles. Nevertheless several sales of valuable properties have been negotiated by brokers. Residences have continued in good demand and the week has developed a promising buying movement involving parcels in the mercantile district south of Bleecker street. The inquiry is reported to be extensive for property in and contiguous to the older dry-goods district, but would-be buyers insist upon entertaining offers at low prices only. In addition to the sales reported in the "Gossip of the Week" another has been made of a valuable Worth street parcel, particulars of which are not as yet ready for publication.

The transactions in the auction room have been exclusively of sales under legal decrees. A sale on Friday by D. P. Ingraham & Co., of West street pier property, promised a ripple of excitement, but the ripple failed to materialize. There were but two bidders, A. W. Cruikshank, representing a number of heirs interested in the partition suit, and Benjamin W. Carskaddon, the agent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. The latter made the first bid, $286,000, and the last one $287,800, and became the purchaser.

The following are the comparative tables for New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1893 and 1894.

New York, July 2, 1894. FLOYD T. SMITH, Secretary.
Commissioners of Taxes and Assessments.

It is announced that Corporation Counsel Clark will make application to the Supreme Court during the month for the appointment of Commissioners of Appraisal of the property to be taken for the widening of Elm street. The maps have been approved. Six months after the appointment of the Commissioners the title to the property necessary for the widening will be vested in the city, but no payment of awards will be made until later, when all the formalities have been observed.

The North River Bridge Company yesterday applied to the Board of Street Opening and Improvement to close 24th street, from 10th avenue to a point 380 feet east, and to open a new street 50 feet wide from that point, through the blocks between and parallel with 9th and 10th avenues. The application was laid over until September 7th. The Board ordered the opening of 127th street, from 2d avenue to the Harlem River.

The scheme to widen Lexington avenue 50 feet on the west side, between 128th and 131st streets, heretofore described in THE RECORD AND GUIDE, was also presented to the Board and supported by nearly one hundred property-owners who were present. Its further consideration was laid over until the next meeting.

The property was sold at auction five years ago to Mr. Lawson for $40,000, and about $60,000 has since been expended on buildings and other improvements. The insurance secured by the destruction of the residence made the seller's actual investment a much smaller one.

Charles Strauss, attorney for the company, is reported to have closed a purchase for the Eastchester Development Co. of a plot of about eleven acres at Eastchester, on the main road to Mount Vernon.

Macley & Davies have sold to Edmund P. Grosbeck for the Pelhamdale Land Co. four lots at Pelham Manor for $2,600. The purchaser will erect a residence on the plot.

Judge Barrett has decided the suit against the plaintiffs, holding that as the law for the erection of the structure in City Hall Park has been repealed, and the plans could not, probably, be used elsewhere, the remedy of the architects was by an action at law against the city for breach of contract.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Being a subscriber to your paper I would like you to answer the following: A obtains a lease from B, who is sole executor of an estate for a term of years; shortly after obtaining said lease B dies, and C, who is one of beneficiaries of the estate, is made co-administrator with D. Now, does the lease which A has got hold good whether it is or not on record, A having failed to have the lease recorded.

Answer.—A's failure to have the lease recorded does not invalidate it, but we cannot say whether the lease "holds good" or not because we are not apprised of the contents of the will. If, by the will, B had power to make the lease, the lease "holds good;" otherwise those who succeed him can repudiate it.—LAW EDITOR.

MARITAL TROUBLE—DOWER.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A woman deserted her husband (4) years ago, took all his furniture, and said she would never live with him. I would like to know if the husband lives long enough in another State (such as South Dakota) and gets a divorce, can he sell his real estate in the State of New York, give a deed, and be independent of her, or has she any claim on the property?

Answer.—If the Court of the foreign State acquired jurisdiction of the person of the woman, and the proceedings, including the decree, were regular in all respects, the man may afterwards sell his real estate, free of his wife's right of dower. But the reports are full of cases where a widow has recovered her dower in the real property of her husband who, in his lifetime, procured a decree of divorce against her in a foreign State. This, by reason of irregularities in the proceedings in the Court of the foreign State.—LAW EDITOR.

AUTHORITY OF EXECUTORS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

An unmarried person dies, having no relatives nearer than nieces and nephews. In the will her property is left to her "next of kin," which, of course, are the nieces and nephews. Her estate consisted of personal property and also a burial lot in Greenwood Cemetery, in which there is a vault containing the remains of many members of the family. (1) What disposition of the lot have the executors the power to make; some repairs are necessary? (2) Have the executors authority to order the repairs to be made? There is no contest among the heirs, but I should be glad to know the legal status of the matter.

Answer.—(1) None, unless there is power given by the will. (2) No, unless such authority is given by the will. The burial lot is now the property of the heirs. Though they may not dispose of it they can, with the concurrence of the officials of the cemetery, make the necessary repairs.—LAW EDITOR.

MORTGAGES.

The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

JUDGMENTS.

In these lists of judgments the names alphabetically arranged, and which are first on each line, are those of the judgment debtor. The letter (D) means judgment for deficiency. (S) means not summoned. (F) signifies that the first name is fictitious, real name being unknown. Judgments entered during the week, and satisfied before day of publication, do not appear in this column, but in list of Satisfied Judgments.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JULY 7, 1894.

Better Conditions For Brooklyn Real Estate.

BROOKLYN'S taxpayers will have to pay a smaller tax bill this year than last. That much has been already determined. The budget for 1895, which is given in detail elsewhere, was completed and adopted at the meeting of the Board of Estimate on Monday and transmitted to the Board of Aldermen for its formal approval and the fixing of the rates for the tax levy. Of course this result was attained only by the exercise of the most rigid economy in making the appropriations for the current year, and in the doing of it Mayor Schieren is entitled to all the credit. The last ring administration had left behind it a largely increased public debt which called for an increase of over $140,000 per year in the annual interest charge, and the annexation of the county towns of Flatbush, Gravesend, Flatlands and New Utrecht necessitated the extension of the police and fire systems, the building and health inspection, with two additional police courts, over the new territory. All this made some additions to the tax levy imperative, although the new territory will not figure in the Brooklyn tax levy for another year.

Notwithstanding all these drawbacks the total levy is less by over $770,000, or nearly 6 per cent than that of last year. This result could scarcely have been achieved had not Mayor Schieren rigidly held the Board of Estimate and the heads of all the departments to a strict compliance with the law, which limits the amount of the annual appropriations, exclusive of interest upon the public debt, to 2 per cent of the amount of the general assessment for purposes of taxation. This is a charter limitation upon the Board of Estimate, but it has hitherto been overlooked or disregarded by the ring administrations, and the tax levies have been swelled to nearly 3 per cent of the total assessment. This year it is promised that it will be but little in excess of 2.7 per cent. This percentage is of course calculated upon the last year's assessment. But it appears furthermore that the Board of Assessors has been responding somewhat to the spurring for reform in the matter of the general assessment, and has given the assessment books a more or less thorough overhauling, with the result that the total valuation for tax purposes has been increased by several millions of dollars. In a few localities where the market value of property has depreciated during the last few years some reductions have been made, but these have been few in number and of no great amount. In the newly-improved sections of the city, notably in the 8th and 25th Wards, the assessments have been nearly doubled, and in nearly all other parts of the city they have been greatly increased. These are preliminary figures, and are subject to modification upon the review of the assessments consequent upon the filing of protests by the several property-owners, and hundreds of such protests were filed up to the final day for filing, which was last Saturday. Not until all these protests have been acted upon will the amount of the general assessment be known, but it is said to be certain that the figures will show a much larger margin between the present bonded debt of the city and the constitutional limit than has been apparent for many years.

The books of many of the assessors showed that in many districts vacant property had not been assessed for more than a fifth to a fourth of its actual market value, and improved property in but little greater proportion. A general effort was made all over the city to put unimproved property on the books at about 50 per cent of its real value and improved property at about 70 per cent. Coupled with this effort was another to equalize the assessments wherever the policy of favoritism of the ringsters had been shown. While, therefore, the total tax levy is less this year than last, and the majority of taxpayers will have less to pay, there will be some who may expect to find their tax bills larger by large percentages than they were last year. But they will be those who have for several years been paying less than their proportionate share of the cost of government. In general this manifest spirit of economy in the city government, with a greatly increased valuation of property and a much lower tax rate than the city has known for years, cannot fail to redound far and wide to the city's credit. It would be a very great and agreeable surprise to find the tax rate below 2.5 per cent, but from present indications that is not improbable.

Appropriations for 1895.

FIGURES THAT WILL ALLOW OF A LOWER TAX RATE THAN FOR MANY YEARS.

On Monday the Board of Estimate met and gave final consideration and approval to the city and county budget for the current year. The fact that police, fire and health supervision and building inspection had to be extended over the newly annexed wards made some of the departmental appropriations larger than would otherwise have been necessary; the item for interest on the public debt is larger because of the increase in the debt by former administrations; the items for two new police courts are made necessary by the addition of Flatbush and Gravesend.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows:
The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rule is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET. NEW YORK.

BRICK.—A general holiday right in the middle of the week has not tended to improve business upon a market already predisposed to quietness, and altogether affairs have been pretty dull since last writing. Some receivers say they are agreeably surprised at the smallness of the arrivals compared with what they had calculated upon, and have been saved some trouble by the limited quantity they were called upon to handle, yet found stock quite plenty enough for demand, both in the matter of quantity and assortment, the loads not running seriously to poor quality to any noticeable extent as yet. Prices, too, are reported as without change on the general average, and we find no occasion to alter our run of quotations. There is an erratic demand for Pales, with stock selling at about old figures when business is accomplished. While the influence of the "4th" has been such as to retard shipments from points of supply, it has also served to curtail consumption and make a balance against the light character of the offering. It is also claimed that on a great many structures now under way, upon the sites of buildings demolished, there has been an immense proportion of old brick used, much beyond what is ordinary, and of course that makes a difference in the handling of new stock. In some cases the old stock is simply piled up after being cleaned off and used over again openly and freely, but occasionally it is said that builders will cart stuff from one site to another, say, by way of illustration, from 14th to 20th street, passing on the way loads going from 20th to 14th street, probably with an idea that change of soil will improve quality.

LATH.—Sellers have not secured the advantage rather calculated upon a week ago, and, indeed, the market is, if anything, a shade weaker. Further arrivals did not run up very extensively, but the main difficulty was in the previous liberal amounts received and distributed among dealers throughout the usual circle of custom, and it was necessary to make close search in order to find place for fresh offerings. Rates had to be shaded also and business was done down to $1.65 with not more than $1.70 claimed at the close on cargo lots, though some small parcels might do a trifle better.

LIME.—There is no charge worthy of note on the general market. The call for supplies was moderate and a little indifferent, but that condition still finding a balance in smallness of the offering and its apparent control. Arrivals have not sold out clean, and receivers were not particularly anxious that they should, as the narrow supplies carried by dealers makes a sudden development of demand a possibility and it is well to be partly prepared for the contingency. Prices as before, and shipments of stock from the East still understood to be withheld.

LUMBER.—It has been an exceedingly dull week all around, and no new business was opened up except as a matter of the most positive necessity. Of course the holiday has contributed to a curtailment of the already exceedingly limited demand, and no one predicts any improvement of a positive character for some little time to come. It is reasonable that operators should remain quiet, and there is a desire now to accept all adverse features and await results of legislation, labor troubles and other disagreeable annoyances to which the general business community has become subjected. Current offerings of supplies in comparison with the outlet are ample enough, and a great many additions of several grades could be reached if really wanted, but sellers do not urge matters, and have quite generally reached a point of passive submission to neglect no matter what attractions they may offer in hopes of securing custom.

The hopeful feeling in regard to fall trade, to which allusion has already been made, continues in some quarters, and while some operators disagree as to the date, they are willing to endorse the notion that a foundation has been laid for a vast increase in the consumption of lumber for building purposes in this locality. Sooner or later the dealers will commence to see what is coming and find it necessary to gather up a large quantity of stock in order to bring the assortments in yard into proper working trim, and such conditions can hardly fail to put the general market into healthier condition, although it is not expected that any greater gain on values can be secured than the bringing about of a more uniform line of figures and a stoppage of the necessity for continually coaxing buyers, on staple grades at least.

Some Spruce from the Eastward is coming along from time to time, but over that which is random and has to seek a market much irregularity prevails. If receivers have luck in finding a dealer a little pressed for stock they can get a good price for a very poor cargo, and it may be within twenty-four hours that a very much better schedule will go begging and finally sell at an extremely low figure. In fact there is no regular market and sellers are compelled to use their judgment in handling goods under much more strained circumstances than in many years. There seems to be no doubt that previous suggestions of a shutting down of mills this month will be generally carried out. Old logs are about exhausted and manufacturers will not buy new logs at a cost above a parity of rates they are bid for their product.

Hemlock remains quiet and to some extent nominal. About old rates are quoted and a precaution to firmness made, but there has been no fair test of direct demand, and now and then comes a hint from agents that if buyers could be found for larger quantity of stock they would get easier terms. Nevertheless there are many who feel that manufacturers will have an advantage as soon as fall trade sets in and stiffen the market especially for thoroughly standard cuts. An increased measure of attention is given hemlock in Canada and preparations making to expand the cut. A Fredection journal says:

"Mr. Elisha Gilpatrick and other American gentlemen purpose erecting a large mill somewhere along the line of the Canada Eastern Railway. In this mill it is proposed to make use of hemlock logs. These logs will be sawn into boards, the boards will then be planed and dried, and shipped by rail to the United States market. The drying process will occupy about six weeks, and after they have been dried for that length of time the weight will be much less, and the expense of shipping will decrease accordingly. The capacity of the mill will be about 4,000,000 feet per year."

White Pine is quiet beyond the natural deal in occasional lots of box and the filling of a few export orders. Offerings moderate, but would increase quickly enough if buyers gave the cue. Yellow Pine is slow and tame, with all sellers making a price to suit the deal in hand.

Hardwoods have been dull all around and present no feature worthy of extended notice. The stocks of dealers and manufacturers have received some additions of late from purchases made early in the season, but new orders at the moment are few and far between, with a general indifference among buyers in regard to the future. Prices are no lower than they have been of late and sellers, as a rule, except that it will be better to do no business at all than make further modifications of rates.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

STATE.

Of the Albany position the Argus says:

The lumber market furnishes the same old story of dull trade, not alone here, but in all other sections of the country. Pine dealers report no change in prices or in freights, which continue at $1.35 from Tonawanda. Spruce men say there is practically no improvement in trade, and that sales for June will undoubtedly fall behind last year.

METALS.—Ingot shows very little change of an important or noteworthy character. A few buyers put in an appearance, but their wants were supplied with small odd lots as though taking only something for a working assortment, and they found ample offering at former rates. On the average range of valuation we quote at 9.15c, 9.91c for Lake and 88.9c for casting brands. Manufactured copper has been only fairly active with business confined almost entirely to small routine orders. There is no official announcement of change in prices, but a hint that official figures are frequently quietly shaded. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 14c; do, 14 to 16 oz., 15c; do, 12 to 14 oz., 16c; do, 10 to 12 oz., 17c; do, 8 to 10 oz., 20c; do, under 8 oz., 22c. Sheets longer than 72 inches add 1c, for 12 to 16 oz., 2c, for 10 to 12 oz., and 3c, for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets not above 36x96 in., 16 oz. and over, 14c; do, 14 to 16 oz., 15c; do, 12 to 14 oz., 16c; do, 10 to 12 oz., 22c; do, 8 to 10 oz., 25c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 14c, for over 32 oz. and add 1c, for 16 to 32 oz.; 15, 14 to 16 oz.; 1c, 12 to 14 oz.; 1c, for 10 to 12 oz., and 2c, for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz., 14c; do, 16 to 32 oz., 16c; do, 14 to 16 oz., 18c; do, 12 to 14 oz., 20c; do, 10 to 12 oz., 24c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 14 to 17c, for 32 to 64 oz.; 19 to 22c, for 16 to 32 oz.; 21 to 27c, for 14 to 16 oz., and —a—c, for 12 to 14 oz. Bolt copper, 3/4 inch diameter and over, 11c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c, above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 96 do, 4c, do; circles, 96 do and over, 5c, do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1 to 2c, per lb, above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 18 to 24c, per lb. IRON.—American Pig has met with only light demand, less than ordinary, even allowing for summer and holiday influences. The supplies seem to be kept under very good control, and the market in consequence rarely feels the burden of an excessive offering, yet there are plenty of evidences that if buyers wanted more stock they would get it promptly and at former cost. There is still some delay in obtaining fuel, but that causes no great inconvenience. We quote at $12.00 a 13.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $11.00 a 12.00 for No. 2 X do., and $10.00 a 11.00 for Gray Forge; Scotch pig iron, $19.50 a 22. Old material sells principally in small odd lots of a few hundred tons, yet, all things considered, manages to run up quite a respectable total from time to time, and pretty much old figures are retained for all kinds. We quote at $11.00 a 11.15 for old iron rails; $10.00 a 10.75 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $9.00 a 10.50 for cast scrap; $10.00 a 11.00 for old car wheels, and $6.50 a 9.00 for borings, stove plate, etc. Manufactured iron may be considered moderately active so far as the sale of thoroughly staple selections are concerned, and there is some booking of orders for structural shapes to be delivered during the fall and early winter months. A trifling irregularity in cost now and then shows itself, but on the average prices stand comparatively steady. The following quotations are made f. o. b.: Pittsburgh—Angles, 1.25 a 1.30c; tees, 1.10 a 1.50c; beams and channels, 1.30 a 1.35c; base; sheared bridge plates, steel, 1.25c; Universal mill plates, steel, 1.25c; iron, 1.35c; refined bars, 1.35c, base. Steel rails do not find much attention, and the renewed troubles of the railways with laborers will probably retard any contemplated movement in way of late summer and fall work. Manufacturers, however, stand to the old line of valuation and we know shading has occurred. We quote standard sections $24 a 25 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead has, on the whole, had a pretty steady market and fair trade, a portion of the demand since our last report, coming from nearby cities where the market was somewhat oversold, and stock could not be brought forward from the West with sufficient expedition to make good the deficiencies. The primal markets are, as a rule, firm. We quote at 3 3/4 a 3.45c, per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 5 1/2c, for Pipe, 6 1/2c, for Sheet, 15c, for Tin-lined Pipe, and 37 1/2c, for Block Tin Pipe. Pig Tin does not secure much speculative attention, operators appearing to care only for quick deals and in small lots. Consumption has been moderate and stocks incline to accumulate somewhat. We quote at about 19.35 a 19.40c, for round lots, and 19 1/2 a 19 3/4c, for jobbing parcels. Tin plate on spot has found only moderate, uncertain demand and operators were not very anxious to take hold for future delivery, the market as a rule showing quietness. Offerings fair and prices without much change. We quote as follows: L. C. Charcoal, Melyn grade, $6.25 a 6.30; Charcoal, Melyn grade, crosses, $7.75; L. C. Charcoal, Allaway grade, $5.35 a 5.10; Allaway grade, crosses, $6.45; Charcoal terms, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.25 a 7.30; M. F. grade, 20x28, $11.50 a 14.55; Worcester, 14x20, $5.70 a 5.75; Worcester, 20x28, $11.00 a 11.05; Allyn grade, 14x20, $5.15 a 5.20; Allyn grade, 20x28, $10.00 a 10.25; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $1.90 a 5.00; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.70 a 9.75; L. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $5.00 a 5.05; J. B. grade, 14x20, $5.15 a 5.20; L. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.30 a 5.35 basis; L. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.45 a — basis. Spelter has not secured a very great amount of attention, but the supply was kept well under control and prices secured support accordingly. We quote 3 1/2 a 3 3/4c, for Common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—Conditions do not undergo much change, and the market may still be noted as very dull. All classes of dependent custom seems to have fortified itself very well, with both assortment and quantity of stock, and feels unwilling to come in again until better satisfied regarding the chances for fall trade. Valuations are made on the former general range, but the tone is unsettled. We quote Cut at $1.00 a 1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.15 a 1.25 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c, per keg for steel; Wire, $1.00 a 1.15 for car lots, and $1.25 a 1.35 from store.

PAINT, OILS, ETC.—Business generally was somewhat dull, so much so in fact that a number of operators thought it a little odd that any attempt should be made to canvass the market for news this week. About the only call was for small parcels wanted to meet some special order and the chances favor quietness for a few weeks. Some of the trade are talking over results for the first half of the year, and none appear to be in a rejoicing mood either as regards the volume of goods sold or the margin for profit, yet the conclusion is that the paint trade has held its own with other lines of merchandise and for some of the staple goods the showing is a little better than calculated upon. It is also considered that the outlook is fairly promising, with a chance that if general business conditions improve there will be some pretty lively trading. For the time being prices are unsettled and nominal with most advantages in buyers' favor. For leads, Corroders' quotations stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 6½¢ net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase 6¢.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 5.9¢.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 5.3¢. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1¢.; in 25 and 50 lb tin pails, add ½¢., and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½¢. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots of 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corresponding point. Linseed Oil has not been very active since our last, but the market remained under control and prices steady on all useful grades. We quote at 50¢ 52¢. for Western, 53¢ 54¢. for City from domestic seed and 54¢ 55¢. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine continues very firmly held at the south and that tone is reflected here, but buyers object to the cost and business runs light in consequence. We quote at 30½¢ 31½¢. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.--There is not much of a supply here. It is said, nor any great inducement to bring stock forward. The only prevailing demand is stimulated by urgent necessity, and that at the moment proves exceedingly small. Prices lack strength, but are nominally unchanged. We quote Tar at $1.85¢ 1.90 in place or Wilmington bbls., $2.50¢ 2.55 in pork bbls., and $3.50¢ 3.55 in oil bbls.; Pitch $1.50¢ 1.70.

LUMBER.

Appended quotations are based almost wholly upon prices obtained for goods from first hands.
Yard rates necessarily range much higher owing to the expenses attending sorting out and grading cargo and even car lots, besides which must be added the cost of handling and carrying until consumers are ready to invest. Terms of sale also prove important factors, and altogether it is impossible to give a line of retail quotations thoroughly reliable in character.

MERCHANTS in several lines, particularly in dry-goods, have been agreeably surprised by the contents of their mail in the past week. Many of them who expected, if anything, cancellations of orders already given as a result of the prevailing railroad troubles, found instead an encouraging number of new orders. In the iron trades wage-scale settlements have been achieved without either the strikes or the lockouts that had been threatened, and those trades are so much benefited. Blast furnaces are producing more pig, while the stocks on hand show a tendency to decrease. Railroad managers are to be congratulated on the results of the strike, not, be it understood, because of anything they did to end it, but because an inevitable struggle has been closed on terms so much to their advantage, and it has been proved for them that they can manage their own business without dictation from the Unions; the latter have also doubtless learned that it takes two to make any kind of a bargain. The combination of railroad employes that has just been broken cannot be put together again for some years to come, and meantime it is to be sincerely hoped that both sides will have found a more sane way of arriving at what should from time to time be due from one another. The stock market has taken both good and bad news very coolly. Manipulation keeps the Industrials in the front, but the public is in too critical and cautious a temper to accept such kind of bait. Besides the investment issues in this class do not move with the speculative. Cordage common goes up while the 6 per cent bonds go down to a 7½ per cent basis. Similar movements are to be detected elsewhere. The securities which show such discrepancies are just objects of suspicion. Probably the wisest buying is found in the stocks and bonds of railroads which have seen their worst and have had not only the water but also a good deal of the substance squeezed out of them. This statement is borne out by the strength of the speculative bond list. The outlook is encouraging even though the signs of improvement be faint.

SIR WILLIAM HARCOURT in presenting his budget showed that the fall in the prices of articles used in brewing in ten years had been something like 30 to 40 per cent, while the retail price for beer had remained unchanged. The brewers paid income tax on profits of about $31,500,000 in 1884-85, and lately on about $50,500,000 of profits. This was a very effective argument for securing from the beer interests larger contributions to the public revenues. Prices of commodities in Great Britain continue to fall, the average on July 1st reaching the lowest limit yet known. Capital applications for the first half of the year were 20 per cent better than they were in the same time in 1893. The number of failures were 6,118 for the half year against 5,837 for the corresponding period of last year. Drinking champagne may seem a peculiar result of hard times, yet it is apparently what France experienced. Recent figures, covering the period since the Baring failure, showed that the exports of champagne dropped from 21,699,000 bottles in 1890 to 17,359,000 bottles in 1893, while the home consumption in the same time increased from 4,077,000 to 4,876,000 bottles, so that 800,000 more bottles were consumed in France in the bad year of 1893 than in the good one of 1890, while foreigners drank very much less. Austria-Hungary proceeds with much deliberation in carrying out the agreed currency reform. It has been decided that the obligation of the public to receive the one florin notes shall cease on January 1, 1895; the public offices will take them for six months longer. In the meantime, government, post and banking offices will hold back the notes coming to them and replace them with silver coins. The latest date for their redemption will be December 31, 1899, so that the new century will see this reform practically only begun. Reports of the rye crop of the dual empire are very unfavorable. Prices are firm in all the European security markets, and there are indications that money will soon begin to flow away from London, where it has been accumulating at such a rapid rate for some time past, which will mean that there is growing up a new use for it.

The Business Depression and the Eastward Movement.

HISTORY, of course, always has the advantage of hind-sight, and by and by when History comes to review the events of the last eighteen months certainly it will comment upon the fact that the popular estimation of the financial depression that commenced in 1893 was from the very first remarkably insufficient. One has only to recall the judgments upon the situation delivered from day to day during the last year by commercial men, even those well informed, or turn to those diurnal newspaper effusions that dealt with Wall street affairs and the conditions of the different mercantile markets, to be impressed strongly with the fact that the people of this country have had all along a very inadequate conception of the nature and the extent of the crisis through which they are still passing.

People have persisted in regarding the depression as the effect of a sudden, violent and arbitrary cause. In the beginning of trouble it was supposed that the nation had unexpectedly but avoidably slipped upon its silver policy. "Repeal the Sherman act" was the cry last summer, and "that done," said everybody, "the nation will speedily resume its hale and prosperous condition." Unquestionably this was the popular diagnosis. The Sherman act was repealed, but, as we all appreciate, contrary to prophecy prosperity did not return. Indeed, far from it. Business in the Fall of 1893 was in many respects more discouraging than it had been in the summer. The industrial machinery of the country was rather slackened than accelerated in pace, and as month after month went by without bringing in any improvement, people relinquished those glowing expectations which they had attached to the repeal of the silver purchasing act. A revision of judgment was necessary. Clinging still to the notion that the depression was the result of some single accidental disturbance, it was declared that the tariff agitation was really the effective cause of the prolonged commercial stagnation. This idea has been disseminated so volubly that it is now accepted without objection, even by those who at first opposed it for political reasons. A few persons, perhaps, hold that the evil that the Sherman act did lives after it, but the majority, beyond doubt, are of the opinion that but for the Tariff revision in Washington something approaching a normal condition of business would have been restored ere this day.

The disturbers at the Capitol of the economic peace of their country are now, in all probability, nearing the end of their riotous proceedings, and it will be interesting to witness whether popular expectations of a commercial revival will follow the settlement of the tariff controversy. We believe there will be a large measure of disappointment for the country, not because it was not a wise step to repeal the Sherman act nor because it will not be positively beneficial to end for a time the wearisome and selfish bickering about the tariff, but because, in our opinion, the mercantile inactivity of the last year is not primarily the consequence of crude experiments with silver or political wrangling over schedules of duties. Silver and the tariff undoubtedly have played their part in producing bad times; but they were at most what the doctors term "contributory" causes; they were not the efficient causes. For the latter we must look elsewhere.

That a nation advances through a series of impulses is a trite observation. The example of the pendulum as an illustration of the course of all human affairs is so old that it can be used only with a strong prayer to the reader for indulgence. Nevertheless nothing is more certain than the fact that a people do move along their career not in an unbroken steady progression, but in a succession of advances, each step forward being followed by retrogression as the force of each impulse is expended. The swaying of a pendulum does represent the character of the movement, with this important difference: the pendulum returns to its original starting point, whereas in the oscillation of human affairs the initial position is not again resumed. This vibratory action is observable in all the activities of mankind, but it seems to be particularly marked in the mercantile affairs of nations. Favorable conditions arrive to promote the industrial activity of a people. The forward movement at first is comparatively slow; it gathers force, enterprise creates enterprise, expansion is accelerated, each success achieved leads to larger enterprises, manufacturers enlarge their works, increase their machinery and the number of hands they employ, wages advance, storekeepers branch out, debts increase, all calculations are made on an enlarged scale. Society from high to low moves to a more and more extravagant measure, expansion is the order of the time—the entire commercial world orders its affairs as though continuous indefinite progression was possible. All this would go very well if expansion could be carried on indefinitely. The trouble is it cannot, or rather it cannot at the high pace which prosperity soon promotes. People outrun themselves, outrun the circumstances of their condition, outrun the limit of the impulse that set them going. It is a common experience how strong the tendency in business is for prosperity to cause people to outrun the market. A firm has a demand for its goods that presses hard upon its productive capacity. It increases its machinery and its working force, seeks new customers, carries its enterprise into new fields. Additional enlargements seem to promise even greater returns. They are made and perhaps still others. The success of yesterday appears to promise and usually is taken to promise greater success to-morrow. It is easy to see, however, that each step forward is a step toward danger particularly as, despite the closest calculation, each step is necessarily more or less a step in the dark. For this reason: A firm may—though not many do it—take a conservative view of its own condition, but all its calculations must be more or less based upon the calculations which others make with whom it deals. At last our supposititious firm reaches the limit of expansion, usually to find that the limit is a point untenable for long. It can be touched, but it cannot be held. Retrenchment is necessary. A single firm in this position may save itself without great loss. Slow readjustment is possible. But the case is not so easily treated when the entire community is in the same condition. A part of the commercial fabric has been built out too far beyond the foundations. To change our metaphor and return to the pendulum, the backward movement must perforce be commenced and the return is usually so fast that readjustment is necessarily violent. This tendency of commercial enterprise to outrun the warrant of conditions is perhaps deplorable, but apparently it is unavoidable, for it springs from human nature, and from the fact that even if men would calculate wisely there is no method at present known by which they can measure their efforts with the general condition and discover whether they are or are not moving too fast.

So, to return. In our judgment, not Silver nor the Tariff is the fundamental cause of the present depression but the fact that this country has for a time outrun itself: consequently the final disposition of the Wilson bill will not bring about an immediate rapid improvement of business any more surely than the repeal of the Sherman act did. Improvement, indeed, will be a slow process. The commerce of the country must get back again to solid foundations. Economy, retrenchment, are in our present condition the only effective instrumentalities for creating better times again. A year or two, perhaps longer, will be needed for the process. Then we shall feel once more the pressure to move forward. Expansion will begin, slow at first, but as each tentative extension of enterprise succeeds it will be followed by others until business is again moving rapidly, sooner or later, as the circumstances may be, to outrun itself as in the past. All talk, to-day, of a sudden revival of business, of a quick resumption of activity in the fall is ignorant or malicious. Rigid retrenchment must precede expansion.

Retrenchment, however, will probably be less painful and destructive in the East than in the West. The expansion of the last few years like the course of Empire was, we all know, to a marked degree, Westward. The country has been pushing its commercial boundaries towards the setting sun. Capital, factories, population have for years been moving Westward and now, as many facts indicate, the inevitable retrenchment will be accompanied by a reverse movement, Eastward. It is easy to see that the last steps taken must be the first to be retraced. The return has commenced. Population has been retreating East rapidly since last year. Middle State cities have a great many immigrants from the far West. Factory hands are pressing into the older centres. Even in the real estate business here in New York there are new comers who several years ago were carried Westward by the expansion from the metropolis. For some little time to come New York and other big Eastern cities are certain to receive considerable accessions of population from the West. The activity of the nation will be more concentrated than it has been of late, and in this way the older centres will obtain an offset to the losses of bad times. It is a common remark that the East is not suffering anything like as much as the West is. Neither will it. But even beyond New York, Eastward the movement will be. Already we see immigration from Europe has fallen to small proportions and emigration thither has increased so greatly that it is equal to the immigration. The long cabin passenger lists reported recently by all the great steamers sailing to Europe is, in part, a part of this movement, and in part, too, the large exports of gold that have been made in the last year are undoubtedly due to the same Eastward trend (or pressure inward upon the old centres) of population and capital.

SECTIONAL feeling in the West is very strong, judging from a number of letters published by The Review of Reviews, though based on very little that is rational or reasonable. These communications are intended to account for populism and other forms of trans-Mississippi discontent, and, though written by a number of well-known Western men of standing and position, taken as a whole, are no more impressive or logical than explanations which attribute all one's misfortunes and errors to the conduct of one's neighbors usually are. With one exception they are all full of abuse of the money power of the East, and while professing for the Westerner every intention to be honest, do not seem to understand that while he clamors for his cheaper dollar with which to pay his debts, those professions go for nothing. With the same exception these writers overlook all the trouble and distress that is present in the East, probably because the outcry is less from the Eastern than from the Western States, or perhaps because, as some Western men have put it, the East is more used to distress than the West, and therefore less entitled to sympathy. The one exception noted comes from Topeka and is encouraging, as it shows that there are men in the West who can take an honest and comprehensive view of the situation. The writer of this letter finds the true causes of Western distress in the rapid occupation of free land, over-production and over-speculation. He sees, too, that the West has hardly as much cause of complaint as the East, but that it takes a less sensible view of the situation. He thinks, too, that populism, being the outcome of purely temporary conditions, will disappear when these conditions are removed. If such reasonable views as these were more prevalent and had more influence in the West the whole country would be benefited.

The Half Year's Record.

THE following tabulated statement of the recorded transactions of the first six months of 1894 tells its own story. Compared with the first half of the two preceding years a great falling off is shown in the number of conveyances as well as in the average value of the parcels transferred. The deeds filed from January 1 to June 30 were nearly 1,200 less than those recorded during the same period in either 1892 or 1893; a reduction little short of one-seventh. The record of the second quarter indicates that less activity has prevailed than during the first three months and the lower aggregate consideration paid for the property conveyed since April 1 bears silent but expressive testimony regarding the general lowering of values that has taken place. In 1892 the deeds filed in the first six months numbered 8,070 including 2,471 in which considerations of nominal sums were expressed. The average amount of consideration was $16,746. In 1893 the average was $18,623 inclusive of 2,845 instruments containing nominal considerations. This year the average price paid was only $13,130. A greater number of deeds containing nominal considerations were filed, however, there being 3,032 out of a total of 6,874. The summary of the transactions in the 23d and 24th Wards is fairly satisfactory in number at least, but shows the same reduced average consideration paid as property in the older sections.

The statistics of mortgage loans are hardly less instructive. The average amount of all loans advanced in the first half of 1892 was $12,080, in 1893 it was $13,331 and $11,999 in 1894. The number of mortgages this year at 5 per cent or less compares favorably with those advanced at the same rates of interest during the past two years, and were it not for the lower average shown that fact would be an indication of stability of values from a loaner's standpoint. As it is the mortgage table discloses nothing particularly discouraging, but at the same time it does not indicate any particular strength.

The building record is far from satisfactory. The table for the six months of 1894 shows a falling off of more than one-sixth in the number of new buildings planned when compared with the record of last year, and more than one-fourth when subjected to a comparison with the figures for 1892. The estimates of cost for the various buildings projected average very little less than the approximate cost given for those of 1892, but are considerably less than the average of those of 1893. Still, the estimated cost of proposed new buildings is so seldom to be relied upon that the figures in their entirety are usually unworthy of serious consideration. One section of the city only has attracted increased attention from builders. It is the one bounded by 110th and 125th streets, 5th and 8th avenues, which was formerly ignored while the district west of it was selected as preferable for improvement by many of the speculative builders.

The Elm Street Improvement

Corporation Counsel Clark is at last going forward with that Elm street widening and extension undertaking. During last week he had the preliminary maps and orders and other proceedings thus far taken critically gone over, to detect, if possible, any errors that may have crept into them. He admits that he expects a hard contest over the proceedings in the courts, and is taking special precautions against being tripped up on technical points. For a time he was disposed to yield to the ignorant clamor of a portion of the daily press against this improvement, assuming that there was not in fact any real public demand for it. But now, unless something unforeseen happens, he will in a few days advertise the required notice of his intention to apply to the Supreme Court for the appointment of Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment. When they shall have been appointed and have taken their oaths of office, the city will be empowered, under the new law, to take immediate possession of the property and go ahead with the improvement, leaving the question of awards to abide the findings of the commissioners and the decision of the courts.

In this Elm street improvement matter I have heard the opinion expressed that in their desire to make out a strong case for damages against the city the protesting property-owners have slightly overreached themselves. All of them are agreed upon the desirability of the undertaking, and there isn't one of them who doesn't know (and privately admit) that he is more likely to get more than less than the real value of his property if taken by the city under the extraordinary powers of the new law. They consent with pleasure to the argument that the authorities are likely to take into consideration the peremptory taking of their properties as a circumstance in aggravation of damages, and to deal with them more liberally in the matter of awards because of that fact than they would otherwise do. But they have been humored in their fears of insufficient awards by the hysterical attacks of a sensational press, and had carried their protests against the improvement so far that the Corporation Counsel was on the point of abandoning it entirely. A committee of these owners called upon John T. Williams, one of the largest owners on the line of Elm street, and asked his co-operation in their opposition. But he declined to enter the opposition, expressing himself in favor of the improvement (as they did likewise in the end), and confident that whatever steps were taken by the city authorities, he could rely upon a fair award for the property taken. This seemed to impress the committee and open opposition to the improvement ceased from that time.

Changes in the Tax Numbers.

Owners of property between 14th and 40th streets will observe that their tax notices contain two numbers, an old and a new one. The explanation of this is that under 512 of the Laws of 1892 the city is required to prepare a new set of maps adopting the same numbers as exist on the land map adopted for recording deeds. Under this arrangement property will be known for taxes and assessments by the same number that it is known for transfer. The act, it will be remembered, divided the city into sections. Section 1 extends from the Battery to Grand street and Section 2 from Grand to 14th street. Chief Deputy Bell has recommended the Tax Commissioners to have these two sections surveyed to correct the inaccuracies in present maps. Pending the Commissioners' decision on this recommendation nothing has been done with them under the act referred to, but the maps have been prepared for Section 3, extending from 14th to 40th street, and are in use for this year's taxes, but for the information of property-owners both the old and new numbers are given on the notices; hereafter only the new numbers will be used for that section. The maps for Section 5, north of 40th street to 96th street and east of 6th avenue, and Section 6, north of 96th street to Harlem River, east of 6th avenue, will be ready for the taxes of 1895, and the assessments of this coming fall will be made by them. Probably the maps for Sections 4 and 7 will be ready by 1896. Wherever this act is put into force the old as well as the new number will be used for the first year, but the property will thereafter be known by the new number and section instead of the old number and ward as heretofore.

Real Estate Indebtedness and Taxation.

Attorney General Hancock has written the following opinion in answer to an inquiry if indebtedness on real estate should be taken out of the personal assessment against the owner of the real estate:

He says: "Sec. 4, chap. 411, Laws of 1885, as amended by chap. 212, Laws of 1892, provides for the assessment of personal property liable to taxation, at its full value, according to the best information of the assessors, after deducting the just debts owing by the person or corporation so assessed; but no deduction shall be made or allowed for or on account of any debt or liability contracted or incurred in the purchase of non-taxable property or securities owned by him or held for his benefit; nor for or on account of any indirect liability as surety, guarantor, endorser or otherwise; nor for or on account of any debt or liability contracted or incurred for the purpose of evading taxation.

"All personal property not exempt by law from taxation, owned by any person or corporation, should be assessed, after deducting just debts, as above provided. Land is assessed regardless of debts. If the landowner has given his bond on a mortgage, or both, it is a debt and should be deducted from his personal assessment, providing he brings himself within the law as above set forth."—Law Journal.

Why September is a Dull Month.

In a recent conversation Richard V. Harnett talked freely of the reasons that, to his mind, have caused real estate transactions to be fewer in number of late years during the month of September than in July or August. He claimed that most of the sales closed during the later months of each year had been in process of negotiation before the owners or buyers had left for summer vacations, but for one reason or another their consummation had been delayed. Frequently there would be hesitancy on the part of either principal to agree to conditions or terms and the sale sought by the broker left in abeyance, with the prospect of his work having to be done over again in the fall. One party to the transaction having left town, it sometimes happened that the one remaining in the city suddenly concluded that he had been unwise in not yielding to the demands of the other, and proceeded to notify the broker of his readiness to close the pending sale. The out-of-town principal was then communicated with and if he had not undergone a change of mind could telegraph his consent or send it by mail with instructions to forward the contract for his signature, and in a few days at most the sale would be completed. Again, it is often the case that an investor before leaving town will instruct his broker to advise him in the event of any parcel being offered in a particular section of the city. Should such be put upon the market the broker ascertains the lowest price and other particulars, conveys the information to his client as soon as possible, and the result is often an immediate sale. Why there has not existed the same possibility of successful negotiation in September was explained by Mr. Harnett to be due to the custom of summer sojourners indulging in short visits just before or after the beginning of that month to friends in distant localities or to resorts other than the one they have spent the summer in. These visits are frequently prolonged or when the weather continues hot are supplemented by others. The consequence is the address of the prospective seller or buyer becomes for the time being no longer a reliable one for the broker, should he seek an immediate answer in reference to a real estate possibility. Summer prices for realty are not usually low ones and in the case of the investor who returns to the city on September 1st, with his faculties made keener by a change of scene and rest for a month or two, he is unlikely to feel any great desire to invest or speculate until he has had ample opportunity to discern how the market is likely to go, higher or lower. The result is the actual opening of the active fall market is delayed until October.

Mr. Harnett's explanation of the reasons for September dullness appears all sufficient in the light of the experience of recent years.

The market might, however, open early this year in the event of September being distinguished by the bracing autumnal weather that was the most delightful feature of that month previous to a decade or so ago. Our September weather has for several years been equally as sultry and enervating as that of the month preceding, and that fact, no doubt, has had much to do with the inactivity that has been noted in real estate transactions. There is no reason why a month of seasonable weather, immediately following August, should not be accompanied by a revival of interest in realty and followed by an immediate resumption of a condition of active buying, selling and trading.

Nationality and Promptness with Rent.

Rent-paying as a race or national characteristic may seem at first blush not a matter that would repay examination. Most people believe that the prompt payment of rent is merely a question of individual ability and honesty. The New York rent collector whose business lies in the poorer districts of the city has, however, another opinion, and one confirmed by his books for the past six or eight months, in which the credit of both high and low has been tried so severely. In recent conversations with agents and brokers on the subject of tenement property it incidentally came out in every quarter that the Italians in the tenements paid their rents as a body more promptly than tenants of any other nationality. Negroes had a good record and Germans stood well. The most dilatory were the Hebrews and the Irish. These two latter people were also unfavorably esteemed for their knowledge of the intricacies of the law between landlord and tenant, particularly wherein it gave the tenant opportunities to worry the landlord or to avoid his just demands. One agent, whose tenants were either Hebrews or Italians, said while among the former there were, owing to the bad times, omissions and delays, the Italians had their money ready on the first day of the month. It may be that the Italian's freedom from trades unions and his readiness to accept any work at the current wages of the time being, makes him richer and consequently better able to pay his debts than the men of other nationalities who are more particular about what they do and how much they get for it. It may be also that as the newest comer he is not yet initiated into ways that are the terror of landlords and is only more honest because more ignorant, and that his character for prompt payment of rent will be lost when the process of sophistication is developed in him. However, there is no gainsaying the fact that to-day the Italian, above other races in the tenement enjoys the respect of the rent collector as one who can be relied upon to pay promptly for what he receives.

The Third Avenue Bridge.

The old 3d avenue bridge is rapidly being demolished, and now, even in the duller season of traffic, the temporary bridge is proving a more than temporary nuisance. It was built so low that nothing bigger than a rowboat can pass under it and it has to be opened for every little insignificant craft that comes along. The delays are consequently long, frequent and exasperating. More than a few months of it the people of the North Side and Harlem cannot in patience endure. More expedition will have to be employed in the construction of that new bridge or some one in authority will wake up some morning before long to find himself exceedingly unpopular.

Correspondence.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

As a member of the West End Association and on behalf of the other members of the Association, I desire to enter an emphatic protest against the effort which some persons are making to saddle the responsibility upon the West End Association for the stable proposed to be built for the Street Cleaning Department on the south side of 30th street, 100 feet east of Amsterdam avenue.

So far as I am able to learn, through the papers and from statements made by the city officials, the responsibility of the West End Association begins and ends with the fact that Mr. Cyrus Clark, President of the Association, and Messrs. Jacob and Skinner, members of the association, are pushing this matter. Mr. Clark's interest in the matter I do not understand, as he has always seemed to have the improvement of the West Side thoroughly at heart. Messrs. Jacob and Skinner are of course interested in the profit they will make in the construction of the stable. I am, however, surprised that these gentlemen should give any aid or assistance to a scheme that will work as great damage to surrounding property as this. I am aware that on the north side of 89th street there are already stables, but the other owners of vacant property on the south side of 90th street have repeatedly refused to sell for stable purposes. The north side of 90th street and the south side of 91st street are still vacant, with the exception of a few houses on each street. Let the proposed stable be built and the certain result will be two blocks of similar structures set amid one of the most attractive portions of the West Side.

The owners of improved property on 90th and 91st streets surely have some rights, and the certain result of the erection of this stable will be the depreciation of their property fully one-third.

Mr. Andrews' expressed wish to have the stable along the water front adjoining the dumps should certainly be acceded to as there can be no doubt that less harm would result than if it is put anywhere else.

I am certain that if a meeting of the West End Association should be called to consider this matter that its members would without hesitation condemn this proposed terrible damage to the section of the city they are organized to look after and protect.

EMINENT DOMAIN.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

During the last week's session of the Legislature a bill slid through which was not printed. This bill gives authority to the Park Board to take, when they like and if they like, any of that land lying between the Washington Bridge and Dykman street, and the 10th avenue to Harlem River, for park purposes. The bill is not mandatory, i. e., does not command the board to take the property or any part of it, but gives them a sort of fast and loose option on it. Before the bill had been signed by the Governor, and before I ever heard of it, I had ordered plans for some brick apartment houses which I proposed to build on the easterly side of 10th avenue, north of 185th street. The question now is, does the passage of this bill and its signature by the Governor in any way jeopardize my building the houses, or rather, does it jeopardize my chances of getting paid for the value of my improvements in case the Park Board should ultimately conclude to take this property for a park? This is a very serious question to property-owners and one on which there is a diversity of opinion on the part of lawyers. From a common sense standpoint there can be no question that owners have a perfect right to improve their property with the certainty that they can collect for such improvements in case the City concludes to take it, and that there is no risk until the City actually elects to take it. Will you give the public the benefit of your opinion in the premises?

Answer.—We regret that you do not furnish us with a copy of the Act referred to, as it is impossible to answer the question definitely without first having read it, and we have not been able as yet to obtain a copy. We will do the best we can, however, under the circumstances.

We are of the opinion that if, as you say, the Board is clothed with an absolutely discretionary power to take the land, which they may never exercise, you may without risk make your improvements; and in the event that the land is finally taken, may recover their value. But courts have frequently decided that "may" in an Act of the Legislature is to be construed to mean "shall" or "must." So that an Act of the Legislature which by a layman might be considered to be permissive, would be construed by the courts to be mandatory. If the Act referred to should be so construed, we are of the opinion that you could not recover the value of improvements made after it took effect.—LAW EDITOR.

FIXTURES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I bought a house from T R and took title to it. Now this T R wants to remove the gas-pipes and the chandeliers which he had put up after he had bought the house, as there were only gas-pipes and fixtures in hall and store when he, T R, took title, and he, T R, had gas-pipes and fixtures put into the upper floors. Can he remove pipes as well as fixtures in upper floor?

Answer.—The question what are fixtures, arises in four classes of actions—between executor and heir, vendor and vendee, mortgagor and mortgagee and landlord and tenant, and in these various classes of actions the rules differ somewhat and the distinctions drawn are very puzzling. A treatise could be written on the subject covering many pages. But your question is answered by one of the most recent cases (1880) in the Court of Appeals, McKeage vs. Hanover F. I. Co., 81 N. Y. 38, Rapallo, J., says, in his opinion: "Gas pipes which run through the walls and under the floors of a house are permanent parts of a building, but the fixtures attached to these pipes are not. They are not permanently annexed but simply screwed on projections of the pipes from the walls left for that purpose and can be detached by simply unscrewing them." If there was no agreement between you and T R concerning the chandeliers and gas fixtures, and no representation or act on his part that induced you to believe that they were to go with the house, he may remove them.—LAW EDITOR.

Steps Toward Rapid Transit.

The Rapid Transit Commission at a meeting on Tuesday, all present save the Mayor, informally adopted the plans of the Steinway Commission for an underground electric road through Broadway and the Boulevard to the Yonkers line, as a necessary preliminary to getting the question of city ownership and construction properly before the people at the November election, as provided for in the act. In the resolutions by which this was done, the legal advisers and engineer of the board were asked to report by next Tuesday whether there were either engineering or legal obstacles to the construction of the road as laid out by the Steinway Commission, and a preamble was adopted asserting the authority of the commission to alter the route or system and to provide for additional lines, after the vote of the people shall have been taken. Final action on the adoption of the Steinway Commission plans was deferred until Tuesday next.

Seeking Damages for the Third Track.

The Manhattan Railway Company is not going to be permitted to lay its third track in 9th avenue without a legal contest. Thomas A. Maitland, a large owner along the line, has sued for an injunction in the Court of Common Pleas, alleging serious damage to his properties, in addition to the damage caused by the original structure. Counsel for the company contended that the additional injury to the property would be purely technical and inappreciable. Judge Bischoff took the motion for a preliminary injunction under advisement.

Persistent application on the part of the brokers who remain in town has resulted in the transactions of the week involving an aggregate investment that will stand comparison with that of any similar period of July for several years back. The sales, it is true, have not been of special moment in any instance, and perhaps if the trading feature were eliminated from the business of the last six days it would yield not an atom of encouragement to even the most uncompromising of real estate optimists. Be that as it may, the market still gives evidence of being very much alive despite the near approach of midsummer. Prices to be sure continue low, and are really lower than the reports of sales disclose, purchasers and brokers alike showing a not unfamiliar disinclination to take the public into their confidence by giving out the actual figures contained in contracts. Private dwellings are still changing hands, although they are said to be a drag in the market. There are some select sections of the city to which such a statement may not apply, but it is no exaggeration to say that its general application is warranted by existing facts. Purchasers of residences are only secured at present when the inducements offered are such as to leave no possible doubt in the minds of buyers that bargains can be obtained. An improved demand has been felt during the week for flats and tenements and a number of them are slated to change hands. Vacant lots on lines of improvement are still being sought in small parcels and when sales have been made former quotations have been maintained. Unimproved plots not eligibly situated seem to be in no demand whatever either for investment or improvement.

The following are the comparative tables for New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1893 and 1894.

Little interest was taken in the auction sales held since Monday at the Broadway salesroom. The operators and professional bargain seekers who have hitherto been accustomed to lend their presence to the daily sales were not on hand during the week in any appreciable number. A single sale—one by James L. Wells on Tuesday—was the only public offering. It comprised twelve lots at Belmont, in the 24th Ward. They were all sold at fair prices. On that day B. L. Kennelly again adjourned for one week an executor's sale of Nos. 1137 to 1141 Madison avenue, and owing to legal complications in which the estate has become involved the sale is likely to continue to be adjourned weekly for an indefinite period. Rutland & Whiting bought on Wednesday for a client Nos. 246 and 248 Cherry street, at foreclosure sale, for $27,500. The price is considered a low one. On Thursday two adjournments sine die of sales were announced, one by Geo. R. Read of property on 12th avenue, 136th and 131st streets, and the other by John T. Boyd of a foreclosure of Nos. 8 to 14 East 110th street. D. P. Ingraham on the same day adjourned until September 20th a foreclosure sale of Nos. 304 to 310 East 95th street. On Friday L. J. Phillips & Co. adjourned to the 24th inst. a foreclosure sale of the property on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 89th street.

HOUSES THAT WILL SOON BE READY FOR OCCUPANCY AND SALE.

Messrs. Lindsay & Johnsen are completing seven three-story and basement dwellings on the south side of 71st street, between West End avenue and Riverside Drive. They present a handsome appearance, three being of brownstone, two of redstone and two of limestone. Six are each 18x55, and one 17x55. Features have been made of the plumbing and the interior trim in order to secure work above the usual to be found in such houses.

On the same street, opposite the Lindsay & Johnsen houses, the Horgan & Slattery Co. are at work on eight half brick American basement houses which are now inclosed.

B. S. Levy are finishing six four-story American basement houses on the north side of 80th street, near Riverside Drive. Three have frontages of 16, two of 17 and one of 18 feet, all are about 78 feet deep with kitchens on the parlor floor. For small houses they are very roomy, each having seventeen rooms.

TROLLEY ROADS IN YONKERS.

Before the Yonkers Common Council on Monday came the North and South Electric Railway Company and petitioned for leave to build and operate a street surface railroad in Shonnard place, from North Broadway to Park avenue; in Park avenue from Shonnard place to Ashburton avenue; Ashburton avenue, from Park to Palisade avenue; Palisade avenue and Getty square, and South Broadway to the New York City line; on Lawrence street, from South Broadway to McLean avenue, to Parkhill avenue, to Linden street, to Elm street, to Palisade avenue. The directors of the company are Francis T. Holder, president; Wm. Delavan Baldwin, treasurer; Theodore H. Silkman, secretary, and Saml T. Hubbard, Richd B. Kelly, John C. Shotts, John J. Devitt, James S. Fitch and Leslie M. Saunders.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

Henry C. Bryan has sold for David Frankenberg, No. 214 West 42d street, a five-story stone front flat, 25x93x100. The broker's price is $47,500, but we understand that a smaller consideration has been agreed upon. The property was purchased by the seller in July, 1885, for $41,000.

Builder Amund Johnsen is the purchaser of No. 79 4th avenue, the sale of which was reported last week.

Drought & Carew have sold No. 9 Christopher street, a five-story flat with stores, 31.6x90x irregular, to Aaron Altman, for between $45,000 and $50,000. The consideration is said to be all cash.

The contract entered into in May by S. & H. Corn and Harry Chaffee for an exchange of the "Corndiae," a new business structure on the leased lot No. 139 5th avenue, for nine houses on 70th street, west of Sherman square, has been cancelled. Mr. Chaffee, it seems, was unable to carry out his part of the agreement and secured a release by paying the Messrs. Corn $5,000. The broker who negotiated the trade was paid his commission by the owners of each of the parcels.

A sale was reported a few days ago of the dwelling No. 62 West 55th street, by Origen Vandenburg, for $35,000. The title to the property stands in the name of John Hayes, who bought it at foreclosure sale in May, 1891, for $27,000, and afterward recorded a conveyance from the referee for a consideration of $12,000, subject to a mortgage for $15,000. Mr. Vandenburg was the previous owner of the house, having purchased it in October, 1886, for $39,000.

Hoffman Bros. have purchased for Rev. Charles F. Hoffman from John Pettit the new seven-story office building, 24.6x113, on Liberty street, running through to Cedar, 77.6 east of Washington street. It adjoins the Electrical Exchange building, occupying the block front on Washington street, purchased a few months ago by Mr. Hoffman, and as the new building was built as an annex to the Exchange building, both form one commodious structure, 98x113 feet, the former being the frontage on both Liberty and Cedar streets. Before beginning the construction of the annex, Builder Pettit arranged with Mr. Hoffman's representatives to pay a yearly sum for the privilege of using the entrance, halls, elevators, etc., of the larger building, and made his plans accordingly. For this reason some doubt has been expressed as to the genuineness of the recent sale. It is a fact, however, that the contract was signed on Wednesday and its signing was due to negotiations begun within a short time. The price accepted is about $100,000, not a much larger sum as some of the daily papers had it. The new building is expected to rent for not less than $14,000 per year, and judging by the number of inquiries from would-be tenants, that sum may be increased to $15,000.

Horace S. Ely & Co. have sold the four five-story brick tenements, Nos. 337 to 343 East 39th street, plot 100x98.9 (Sailors' Snug Harbor tenements), to a Mr. McCauley, for $45,000.

Gutwillig Bros. have purchased of Mrs. Ida F. Cooke the four-story stone front dwelling, No. 6 West 29th street, 25x65x100, for between $60,000 and $65,000. The house is leased for the next three years and forms part of Morello's restaurant.

Joseph Ryk, of Brooklyn, is reported to have purchased of Michael W. Devine, No. 127 Crosby street, a five-story brick store, on lot 21x74.1, on the southeast corner of Jersey street. Mr. Devine bought the property in April, 1888, for $31,000.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

Lilor Bros. have sold for Joseph McNamara to M. C. Baldwin, No. 1113 Madison avenue, between 83d and 84th streets, a four-story stone front house, on lot 20x78.7. The property was conveyed in May to Mr. McNamara for $21,000, and has been sold at an advance.

The brokers, Halpin & Bogert, report $25,000 as the price, but that amount is evidently an exaggerated one. The New York Life bought in the house at foreclosure sale about three weeks ago for $19,550, and has no doubt disposed of it for a sum that would not more than fully reimburse the company for its mortgage claim with costs, etc., added. The true figure will probably not exceed $21,000.

Stevens & Son, with Charles Upton, who gives as part payment a cottage and four acres of land at Llewellyn Park, N. J. The 72d street house was recently conveyed to Peter J. Brady, of Brooklyn, but it is stated that it will be reconveyed to Mr. Stevens, Sr., before the consummation of their boy's transaction. Trade Notes.

Thillmann & Wennemer, manufacturers of artificial marble, are prepared to estimate on any work in their line, embracing all kinds of architectural marble work for the erection of churches, public buildings and dwellings; also columns, wainscoting, ceilings, etc. The firm have large facilities for doing all classes of artificial marble work, and are experienced and practical workers. Mr. Jean Thillmann was formerly with Klee Bros., and Mr. Frank Wennemer is well known to our readers as a successful architect. All orders and communications for further information should be addressed to the office of the firm at No. 204 East 86th street.

The National Mosaic and Marble Co., of No. 1 Madison avenue, are erecting a handsome front of "Manhattan Mosaic Marble" on the Daily Advocate Building, on Atlantic street, Stamford, Conn., for which structure Architect John S. Bogardus, of Stamford, drew the plans. The colors are gray and red in imitation of Scotch granite, and the effect is most pleasing. The Adams building, also at Stamford, will have a "Manhattan Mosaic Marble" front, and the columns for the new Herald Square Theatre, for which Rose & Stone are the architects, will be of the same material. Manhattan Mosaic Marble is also most appropriate for tiling, wainscoting, columns, mantles, etc.

Wm. P. Youngs & Bros., lumber and timber dealers, have one of the most commodious, best arranged and well-stocked yards in the city at the corner of 1st avenue and 35th street and extending to the East River. They handle pine, spruce, hemlock, North Carolina and yellow pine ceiling and flooring and make a specialty of kiln-dried lumber.

Attention is directed to the card of Messrs. A. M. Janpole & Co., real estate and loan brokers, on another page. This firm has a number of desirable investment properties—both city and suburban—for sale, and negotiate builders' loans and loans on bond and mortgage with promptness and at low rates. A few of their recent sales are mentioned in this week's "Gossip" column. Their office is at No. 122 Bowery, over the Oriental Bank.

Persons whose avocation require them to be around among the architects a good deal have noted an unaccountable increase in the number of practitioners in this high art. In every quarter of the city offices have been opened and the word that is at once an announcement and an invitation to come in and do business—"Architect"—haug to the breeze. Judged by ordinary methods this would be an evidence of unusual prosperity, but in point of fact it is an evidence of unusual depression and adversity. It means that the offices in which large corps of assistants, draughtsmen and superintendents had been employed have found it necessary to dispense with most or many of these eminently worthy auxiliaries, who, thrown upon their own resources, have been fairly driven into competition with their former employers for the few commissions that might be borne within the range of their weapons.

CONVEYANCES.

Wherever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed in which all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranties.

2d—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed may be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus implicitly claims to be the owner of it.

REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JULY 14, 1894.

The Record of the Last Six Months.

COMPARATIVE TABLES OF THE SALES, MORTGAGES AND PROJECTED BUILDINGS THIS YEAR AND LAST, WITH AN ANALYSIS OF THEIR MEANING—A MANIFEST IMPROVEMENT IN ALL QUARTERS.

WE publish with this issue, in tabular form, the statistics of conveyances, mortgages and projected buildings in Kings County for the first six months of this year in comparison with the corresponding period for 1893. These are the official record evidences of the progress of these important industries for the periods named and, with reasonable allowances, contains the most accurate and reliable data from which the course of the real estate market may be judged.

It will be remembered that the first five months of 1893 were among the liveliest in the history of Brooklyn real estate. Then came the panic, and within a month the big loaning institutions had all sealed their treasure boxes against Brooklyn loans. From this time on for more than six months Brooklyn realty was under a serious depression—a depression that has exhausted the last bit of inflation there was in Kings County realty and left it down on bed-rock. In the meantime, however, a necessary and profitable reform was worked out in the municipal governmental system, after which the tone of the realty market began to improve.

What will strike the observer of these figures as the most prominent fact is that the volume of business, measured by money value, was a third less during the first half of this year than in the corresponding period of the previous year, both in real estate sales and in building, and about a fourth less in mortgages. The next most conspicuous fact is that the downward tendency ceased early in the spring, since which there has been a clearly-defined improvement in all branches of the real estate industry, more particularly in the building branch. It will be noted also that there is a considerable increase (over 15 per cent) in the number of conveyances for nominal considerations. If the facts were known they would doubtless minimize the apparent difference in the money value of lands sold this and last year.

In the matter of mortgages it is still apparent that money is commanding better rates of interest than it was a year ago, and that the loans are more conservatively made. The total number and amount of mortgages is so much larger than the conditions of the loan market would have led one to believe as to refute in large measure the aspersions of Brooklyn realty that were common during the panic. The whole number of mortgages is not a thousand less than in the first half of 1893, and the amount but $7,000,000 less. Altogether it seems that Brooklyn real estate has actually manifested during this exceedingly adverse period a stability and buoyancy better than have ever been claimed for it, and that should go a great way towards commending it to investors and traders. There is no sort of doubt but that such changes as will take place from now on must be for the better. The figures in detail are subjoined:

Brick Display at the Brooklyn Building Material Exhibit.

The display of front bricks has always been an attractive feature among the exhibits made at the Building Material Exhibit conducted by THE RECORD AND GUIDE at 276 to 282 Washington street, Brooklyn. Prominently located near the entrance door to the great hall, these exhibits are among the first objects that meet the eye of the visitor, and attract attention not only from the extent of the display itself, but also from the beauty and variety of the bricks shown. Massed in great numbers of many different colors and shades and in standard and Roman sizes, in an infinite variety of molded shapes, besides those of beautiful enameled finish, white and colored, the whole presents a comprehensive "study in brick" seldom equaled. Most of the varieties are shown in several laid-up courses so that a finished wall effect may be readily obtained. The convenience of such an exhibit, accessible at all times for examination and comparison to those about to build, whether architects, builders or owners, is demonstrated daily.

During the week the Eastern Hydraulic Press Brick Co., of Philadelphia and New York, have withdrawn their old and placed in position a splendid new exhibit of the most popular varieties of their extensive line of products. This unique display, a most fitting acquisition to the department, occupies a large well-lighted wall space in which thirty different varieties of bricks, besides moulded bricks, are placed in as many different panels, each panel being large enough to contain several laid-up courses as before described. These panels are numbered, the numbers corresponding to those in a descriptive catalogue that hangs conveniently beside the exhibit. The company will invite the architects and builders of New York and Brooklyn to view this fine exhibit.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The several dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICK.—Reports do not gain in cheerfulness, and the market in the main continues barren of positively cheerful features. Arrivals have increased again somewhat and kept a plentiful supply of stock on hand, the surplus being always equal to a sudden expansion of demand which did not come, and sellers have found it necessary to accept all bids on a basis of former figures in order to secure custom. Of course there is the usual expression of hope of improvement to come, but when, or how, or where it will develop no one seems to have a clear conception. Manufacturers are understood to be generally complaining of unremunerative prices and threatening to cease production and stop shipments, but it looks very much as though each one was waiting for the other fellow to take the initiative. There has been quite a little special call for pales this week and just at a time when there did not happen to be much of that particular class of stock available, giving the position a somewhat steadier tone.

CEMENT.—No one seems to have a particularly good word to say for the market. Manufacturers of some of the favorite brands of domestic are having a fair sort of trade with regular custom, and temporary surges of demand now and then help the sale of the general offering, but on the average business is slow and improving. Those contractors who book orders direct with the mills have engagements about all entered up, and dealers are adhering closely to policy of investing in the smallest amounts likely to satisfy current trade wants. Prices stand as before. Imported goods of established reputation get reasonably good attention, and some agents report practically no accumulation, but stock that has not heretofore proven right up to the mark on new brands is difficult to place even at low rates, and it is said that some remarkably low rates have been offered on landing parcels. The imports at New York for six months ending June 30, 1894, were 83,947 bbls from Great Britain and 352,313 from Continent, making a total of 436,260 bbls against 591,997 same time last year. As we have before advised, a great deal of this supply went through to interior points on engagements, but there is a suspicion that more of it lingers in local accumulation than importers care to have known. Mail advices received a short time ago from London said in substance as follows: "Very little export inquiry is received, but English makers cannot now encourage it by any further concessions in price, indeed some of the London men are asking an advance of 3d. On the other hand Belgian makers are still cutting their prices. Freights from London and Antwerp are now very near the cost of handling the cement." The Canadian imports of cement for season to July 1st were 66,300 bbls, of which 12,750 from Continent and 33,550 from England.

GLASS.—Ill-advised writers in the public press, for political or other purposes, have been howling about the shut down among the window glass factories as an evidence of hard times, etc., but as everyone properly posted knows when the fires were extinguished at the close of last month it was simply following out an annual practice. Nevertheless, trade is dull enough and the market as a whole lacks spirit all along the line and buyers talk indifferently. The flurry of demand several weeks ago satisfied wants of the small class of operators who were at that time cotopelled to get together a working assortment and the calls now are only for small parcels to make assortment. Jobbers, in consequence, invest carefully, and allow supplies to remain in first hands. The value line, however, remains firm on the dual support of the cessation of production and an unusually small stock in first hands, which is estimated at only one billion boxes, or about one-third of an average accumulation. The present offering of imported stock appears to be small, but fully 100,000 boxes are said to be held in bond awaiting the settlement of the question of revised duty. Plate glass sells fairly well and is steady at 70¢ 70 and 10¢ per cent discount.

HARDWARE.—Dealers who make a specialty of builders' hardware and the various assortments of plumbers' goods report only a fair run of business during the first six months of the year. For a while customers depended as much as possible upon the supplies already in hand and when finally compelled to enter the market limited their investments to invoices simply large enough to offset the most pronounced necessities, making a light, unsatisfactory business. There is hopes of better conditions before fall, based upon small accumulations in second hands and a belief in fuller general consumption. In the way of quotations it has for a long while been difficult to name really positive figures, for while lists have undergone no official change there was and is such constant cutting as to create great irregularity throughout. No revision can be made until trade gets into a more uniform channel.

LATH.—Since last writing the market has been subject to another knock-down blow and touched the lowest point of the season. A heavy fleet arrived, unquestionably a considerable portion of it unexpectedly, and although a great many of the cargoes were in part or wholly sold, there was evidently a surplus that bothered receivers seriously. Most dependent custom was already fairly supplied and it was a delicate matter to seek market for additional amounts in the current condition of trade. Taking the bull by the horns, however, holders of some of the big lots dropped the rate to $1.50 and promptly got out of the way the portion of supply likely to prove most troublesome, and since then matters have toned up with indications at the close that $1.60 a 1,62½ is about as low as would be listened to. There are some cargoes coming down the coast, but nothing extensive. It may be interesting to know that since January 1st the receipts of lath here from Maine and the Provinces are 15,300,000 in excess of same time last year.

LIME.—The general conditions of the market remain about as last advised. The receivers of Eastern seem to be satisfied they are getting about all the trade possible and call the business fair, with former rates ruling, and although the supply is not plentiful it is quite full enough for all present wants and not expected to increase. The State stock is doing very well, getting at least its ordinary proportion of the going demand, probably a little more in some cases and prices remain steady for both grades.

LUMBER.—Local influences have not been of a character to infuse additional life into the market and reports of satisfactory business were a decided exception among both wholesale and retail operators. Even where the progress of work in hand serves to increase the actual consumption of lumber the effect is not felt through the development of new orders, because in the first place the quantity of stuff wanted is exceedingly small, and secondly the deliveries are very largely upon contracts that have been booked along from time to time and were not of sufficient magnitude to excite more than passing comment. Some stuff is coming along in an irregular manner and goes into yard, but the additions to supply are below the seasonable average, and the indifference toward random offerings before referred to is now supplemented by a light unsatisfactory demand for specials.

It is natural that all classes of traders representing first-hand offerings should feel an anxiety to secure custom, and every chance to open negotiations with desirable buyers is carefully watched for and acted upon. Yet no salesman at all familiar with the conditions that have prevailed during the past year assumes anything of an aggressive attitude. It has been demonstrated over and over again that the indifference of demand is due solely to absence of use for supplies, and the apparent almost total annihilation of the speculative spirit, so that prices at an absolute slaughter level—as they have been in several cases—rarely meet response after a few of the leading dealers had gathered in the cream of the goods available. Within the past two weeks both buyers and sellers have been particularly indifferent over supplies dependent upon rail transportation in view of the obvious uncertainty in regard to deliveries.

With the poor results of the immediate past, and disagreeable conditions of the present, operators naturally endeavor to make some sort of forecast for the future and as a rule they continue to find basis for hopeful feelings. Many are now frank enough to admit that they have about abandoned the idea of any special force to the building consumption before next spring and think possibly all wood manufacturing industries may prove slow during the winter, but both sources of demand will revive upon unusually limited accumulations of stock, and the natural inference is that reflection will be promptly felt all the way through the market and restore generally healthier conditions of trade. It is a good card for the financial condition of the lumber trade, both local and throughout the country, that it has met the storm of adversity with a remarkably small string of failures among both wholesalers and retailers.

There seems to be very little apprehension in regard to supplies. In some localities mills have shut down altogether, others are threatening to do so, but many have a good supply of cut stock on hand, about all have plenty of logs within reach when they want them, and if custom develops, at simply a living margin, the general offering of staple grades is quite likely to prove equal to the calls made. In view of low rates already ruling and previous experience with the ability of mill men and operators who handle stuff in bulk lots, it is still believed that all the duty taken off Canada lumber will be divided up long before the supply comes to hands of the local trade, but the free list, if adopted, may prove of benefit to consumers by bringing such competitive quantities of lumber across the border as to prevent the stiffening of values naturally to be looked for with revival of dealings upon anything like a normal basis.

The export outlet is not spoken of very cheerfully by operators making that division of the trade a specialty. A considerable amount of stuff has been shipped during the first six months of the year taking into consideration the general state of business prevailing, but it went, and it is said in part on old orders and in part on consignments to markets that have been disappointingly small with a result that they are now overstocked at prices accepted under forced realizing, that shut off possibilities of further profitable shipments. There are some countries apparently wanting supplies, but they as yet fail to develop a financial condition permitting their buyers to successfully book orders. Against whatever demand of ordinary character that may arise the supply and assortment available is considered ample and probably a considerable addition could readily be made if there was occasion for it.

A combination has just been formed that is likely in future to prevent the cutting and slashing on prices of Virginia spruce that have been a feature of the market this season. The four large concerns engaged in the production of West Virginia spruce and timber have entered into an arrangement through which a leading and old established concern here becomes their sole selling agent, and for the proper conduct of the business have created a special department to be placed in charge of a gentleman of thorough experience and capability.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES. STATE.

The Albany Argus says:

Following upon the Fourth of July and a semi-holiday sort of a week, more buyers appeared here for pine lumber. Prices and freights continue unchanged. In spruce and hemlock there is only a fair demand at unchanged quotations. The stagnating influences of the strike have paralyzed western lumber markets.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

There is but slight reason for specifying the condition of trade in any locality where business is paralyzed as it has been during the past week by the great railway strike. Except in the larger cities and manufacturing centres, where considerable consumption is steadily going forward and eating away local stocks, lumber movement has been nearly arrested by the inability of nearly every railway centering in this city, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Toledo and other Western cities to handle their freight trains. This has placed an embargo on the movement of stock to market, and the outward distribution of it from the yards by rail. It has affected the pine and hardwood business alike, and its stagnating influence has extended to the remotest parts of the country, even the entire Pacific coast feeling the blighting effects of the boycott in its most virulent form.

Since the outbreak had to come, it is well that it occurred in midsummer when trade is at low tide. The embargo on traffic will thus be less severely felt than it would have been in the spring or fall when there is urgency in the movement of lumber. The demand was light at the best, and a check in distribution for a week or ten days will not be a great drawback on the season's business. When the traffic obstructions shall have been removed there will be an accumulation of orders to forward which will infuse some life into trade.

The cargo market on Lake Michigan, with this city as the principal point, is manifesting more vigor than should seem possible under the circumstances. Yard dealers have within the past month made numerous purchases of blocks at the mills and the lumber thus acquired is coming forward in heavy volume, receipts in late weeks having showed a notable increase. This measure of life in the Lake Michigan movement has more than a local and sectional influence. It reaches all around the lakes and favorably affects the entire white pine field and to some degree the yellow pine section of the South.

At Chicago:

Arrivals consist of common and cull boards and strips, pine and hemlock piece stuff, shingles and lath. The amount of piece stuff coming is scarcely equal to the demand, though a considerable quantity has recently been purchased by the yard men over the lake. At any rate, all that arrives sells without much delay. Short piece stuff continues to sell at $9.25. There is a good call for long lengths at a range of $10 to $10.50 for slimlins, and $12 to $12.50 for wide stuff.

The supply of hemlock is excessive, and the demand dragging, which renders prices anything but buoyant. Less than the usual amount of hemlock is this year being used in street work, which cuts off the demand for product. Flat common lath lumber is in fair demand and prices are maintained about at quotations. Only small lots of medium and good lumber are arriving. One lot of medium recently sold at $15 a thousand.

The growing scarcity of dry stock is evidenced by a drier feeling in the eastern markets as regards poplar. Demand has not materially improved, but the low prices which ruled earlier in the summer are being withdrawn, because it is evident that stocks cannot be replenished at such figures. At present the bulk of the dry lumber at mills is in the hands of the stronger operatives who refuse to make concessions on sales. Shipments are of course affected by the railroad strike, but this does not injuriously affect prices. Logs are scarce, many of the mills having already cut out their supply, and there is a general disposition to hold lumber already manufactured for higher prices.

The Mississippi Valley Lumberman as follows:

During the past week there has been a great falling off in the demand for lumber. This decrease was augmented by the strike, but it would undoubtedly have been noticeably large had the strike not occurred. It comes this season somewhat earlier than usual, and is but the regular midsummer dullness. It is fortunate for one thing that the great strike occurred at this time, for trade would have been rather light any way, so it will not be so seriously felt as if it had come during a season of brisk demand. This year there has been no accumulation of orders as is frequently the case at this season, and accordingly when the demand drops off, trade quiets down to almost nothing. Yet at the same time it is well known that country stocks are at a low ebb, and whenever there is an increase in the demand for lumber dealers will have to order from first hands.

NAILS.—Since the opening of the month there has been some increase of demand mainly from a line of custom holding orders over to secure more acceptable dates for invoices. Nothing like stimulating activity developed, however, and there was plenty of stock available at former rates. We quote Cut at $1.00@1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.15 @1.25 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.00@1.15 for car lots, and $1.25@1.35 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—A large percentage of operators are still very much disposed to grumble loud and deep over the condition of trade. Additional cause for complaint has been found in the disturbance of transportation facilities, but in any event consumption was not much inclined to broaden out and jobbers and retailers could meet all calls made upon them with liberality and dispatch. First-hand supplies, too, are a little fuller than manufacturers had intended to have on hand at this juncture, as it was a difficult matter to closely adjust the production to the outlet, but no more than a natural effort to secure custom is manifested. It is said, however, that of foreign goods, and especially zincs, there has been considerable quiet pressure of offerings for some time, with a tendency that way in other lines likely to have a chance under proposed changes in duty. In the matter of prices pretty much the same old story is told all around, nearly every article undergoing some cut from list rates. For lead, corrodors' quotations stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 6½c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 5.9½c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 5.9c. Lead in oil in 12½ lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add ½c., and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2½c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots of 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2½ per cent discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corrodors' point. Linseed Oil meets with a fair sort of attention, but like everything else sells only as the immediate necessities of custom arise, and the movement is somewhat erratic. On the general range prices stand about as before. We quote at 50¢52c. for Western, 53¢54c. for City from domestic seed and 54¢55c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine has again been very dull, and the influence of slow business is finally telling upon prices, which show a reduction from last week. We quote at 29½¢30½c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Demand has been erratic and moderate without much promise for immediate increase and the market a narrow one. The supply seems to be kept under control, however, and rates very well sustained. We quote Tar at $1.85@1.90 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.50 @2.55 in pork bbls., and $3.50@3.55 in oil bbls.; Pitch $1.50@1.70.

THE improvement in business which was induced by the prospect of an early end to tariff discussion disappears with the new outbreak of differences in Congress. As the memorial from the Chicago business men stated, what is wanted is a settlement, the details would not matter. Last fall saw a dispute with the President, House and majority of the Senate on one side and a minority of the Senate on the other; now a conflict has arisen with only the change of the majority of the Senate for the minority in the parties, and it remains to be seen whether victory can be achieved by the larger elements this time as it was in the case of the Silver question. The interim is, however, likely to be a very unsatisfactory period for the business world. Without some such exasperating cause it would be impossible to explain the weakness in the stock market which held so firm during the railroad strike and which now presents such a disorganized appearance, notwithstanding that Debs has shown a preference for the inner walls of the Cook County Jail to meeting the men whom he misled. The simultaneous selling of several Southwestern railroads' bond issues suggests foreign selling which may also be attributed to disgust at the failure of Congress to dispose of the Tariff bill and which also is the most probable cause of the renewal of gold exports. The market will move on news from Washington under professional manipulation until the present discussion is ended, but it is certain that outsiders will only be realizers as long as present uncertainties exist.

M. CARNOT'S tragic death has shown that men's hearts are in the right place after all. The sympathy that was lavished on France in the moment of her terrible bereavement is finding response in the better feeling with which France herself is regarding her neighbors, both in Europe and across the channel. Santo's dagger may have opened the way to the universal peace that all good men have desired; if this is so its victim would himself, from all that is known of his love of country and humanity, not regret the sacrifice. The wave of friendliness that is passing over Europe is not without its results on business. There is there, as we feel here, a vibration as if the forces of commerce were preparing to put forth their strength again. One of the best signs is the movement of money away from London, and the fact that bankrupt countries like Greece and Italy are finding a basis upon which to settle with their foreign creditors. London financial journals recognize the probability of gold coming this way soon. Active measures are being taken by representative commercial bodies in France to protect and extend its foreign trade through a group to be formed in the Chamber of Deputies. German iron exports increased 19.3 per cent in the first five months of this year compared with the same time in 1893, largely owing to the Russian demand. The project of establishing a German bank at Milan has fallen through. Later advices from Austria are not more favorable for the wheat harvest which now cannot fail to be a poor one. The City of Vienna has for the first time issued a loan without the aid of bankers and with complete success. Fifteen Vienna banks paid dividends last year varying from 6 to 18 $\frac{3}{4}$ per cent. Business on foreign exchanges is increasing with prices slightly better.

THE value of Federal interference to protect commercial communication from violent and lawless obstruction is naturally drawing attention to the question of the proper relations between the government at Washington and the railroads. As a consequence we may expect soon to have a discussion which will not only confirm the position already taken by the Federal authorities, but which may also open a way to transferring to them the whole supervision of these most necessary channels of commerce. Riotous strikers and their unthinking sympathizers are not the only antagonistic forces from which the railroads need protection. Granger legislatures and State courts have done so much more damage to railroad enterprise than mobs can ever do by their attacks on investments in them that it would be a good thing for the railroads directly and the prosperity of the country as a whole indirectly, if not only the duty of keeping open the mail routes and inter-state commercial communications, could be in the keeping of the Federal Government, but also the making of the laws necessary for their entire regulation. In order to accomplish this there need be no thought of their purchases by the Government or of the relief of the railroads from their obligations to contribute toward the revenues of the States through which they run, but simply that the terms under which they shall serve the public and the Government itself shall be decided by reference to the only authority which is in reasonable probability likely to be free from prejudice for or against either the railroads or their employees, the States or the individual shippers. To some extent this is already the case, foreign railroad corporations have found relief by appeal to the Federal courts against unjust demands of State authorities, and it would only need to offer the same refuge to home railroad corporations, and at the same time, of course, enlarge the regulative powers of the central authority.

The Cost of Railroad Reorganizations.

CONSIDERING the many great railroad companies which require reorganization the question of the probable expense of returning them to the solvent list is a very pertinent and important one. It is well known that trustees, money-lenders and lawyers always get fattest from insolvent estates; but if it was known how fat they get from insolvent railroad estates the public, and particularly that part of it which invests its money in railroad securities, would receive a shock quite equal to any that has been caused by the investigation of the Police Department. A Wall street firm, that should know how these things are managed, commenting on the Atchison plan, estimated the probable cost of the reorganization at a million and a-half of dollars. This estimate is not only not an exaggerated one but a moderate one if the Atchison is to be reorganized on the same basis of cost that other companies have been. Besides this, while railroad companies are being reorganized their properties are always so expensively managed that any one who expressed surprise at the increase of operating cost under a receiver would be looked upon as a greenhorn in railroad and financial circles. That a railroad receivership is an unusually lucrative office can be readily understood when it is remembered that a Pennsylvania judge last year resigned a life position to take a receivership before the question of remuneration was settled at all, and only recently a Massachusetts court fixed the honorarium of the receivers of the New England road for giving some fragments of their time to looking after the road's affairs at a sum for which a first-class railroad man would devote the whole of his time and energies to the work.

If then the courts, which are supposed not only to watch over and protect the interests of the creditors of a bankrupt corporation, but also of the debtors, i. e., the stockholders, as well, are inclined to take such a liberal view of the extraordinary value of any services performed for the security-holders, it cannot be surprising that the reorganizers of the insolvent corporations who are subject to no supervision or control feel licensed to estimate the value of their own services at a very high rate. That the reorganizers are accountable to no one but themselves may seem extraordinary, but it is a fact nevertheless, and it is easy to see how it is so. A reorganization committee, as at present formed, usually consists of a voluntary organization of representatives of trust companies and banks who hope to loan large sums of money at high rates of interest in times when money is a drug in the open market at 4 or 2 per cent and to secure to themselves the trust fees and commissions for the issue of the bonds under the new mortgages and of the new stock certificates that may be required. Sometimes a large holder of bonds, though holding relatively to the whole issue a small amount, obtains membership on a committee, and by throwing in his securities to back the committee is more than recompensed for any loss his holdings may sustain by sharing the committee's fees and availing himself of the inside information his position on the committee gives to him. The committee undertakes to issue certain new securities or readjust representations of indebtedness and to collect and disburse assessments for certain purposes, among the latter being the expenses of reorganization. But for the money coming into their hands in excess of that required to pay off floating debt and back interest or other things that can be definitely known to the outside security holder they are accountable to no one and make no account to any one. It is true that reorganization agreements generally specify that any excess of the funds received, after certain purposes have been fulfilled, shall be turned over to the reorganized railroad company, but as the management of that company is created by the Committee itself, the sum so turned over is of course received without any question as to its correctness. The Committee has paid counsel and accountants and its own fees, without consultation with the people who put up the money or any other form of supervision. A reorganization is supposed to be an amicable settlement between debtor and creditor, and consequently is not a matter for judicial interference. There is some show of checking receivers' accounts and salaries and fees for legal services, by the courts in cases of foreclosure, but as has already been said the courts have shown themselves to be as liberal as the people who present the claims could be and willing to sanction almost any arrangement made by counsel on either side.

All this is obviously very wrong indeed in any case, but particularly because the cost always falls on the holders of the junior, alias the rattletrap security, generally people who by their innocence or ignorance require more than the usual amount of protection. The way in which the widow and orphan and the worthless bond or stock come together, if it were not known to be due to the design of people from whom or by whom committees of reorganization are too often formed, would appear to be a matter of natural affinity. Green is in a vast majority of cases the color of the goods sold on one side and bought on the other, and which finally come into reorganization. The securities of a railroad company of any size are distributed always among thousands of persons. For instance, of the seventy-five millions (par value) of stock of the Richmond Terminal Company, preferred and common, the average holding at one time was less than two hundred shares, and every important brokers' mail contained piteous letters from poor people at the time of that Company's fall and since. How these people should be protected is obvious. It is not in the courts, because of the misplaced generosity to be found there already alluded to, but at the inception of the committee. Security-holders should take more interest in their own affairs, inform themselves of their rights, elect their own committees, watch the progress of their case in the courts, personally examine the charges of counsel and other agents and, where excessive, oppose their payment, and in short in all ways resist the unjust charges and, particularly, by their own activity, create a public sentiment that will most efficiently aid them in protecting themselves from over-charge and extortion.

NOW that newspaper "enterprise" has become responsible for a railroad accident resulting in the serious injury of several people and the jeopardy of the lives of many more, it is to be hoped that public attention will be called to the necessity of repressing the over-zealous and unscrupulous space-writers who never put their hands to anything without doing mischief. Hitherto the mercenary scandal-maker has confined himself to blasting reputations and obstructing the police in their work of detecting and punishing crime, but the reporter-switchman who is guilty of having caused the wreck of a Chicago & Northern Pacific train has shown to what reckless lengths he and those like him will go, under the encouragement of the newspapers that engage them, to keep up the circulation of their meretricious sheets. While here and there a reputation was ruined, the public has preferred to be indifferent, apparently accepting the pain inflicted on the individual as a necessary and acceptable sacrifice for the amusement afforded the crowd who delight in reading a "spicy" story. Will similar indifference be shown to the risk of life, limb and valuable property? It cannot be said that the American public shares Shakespeare's esteem for reputation, but it has a very lively sense of the value of property and some of lives. Like most other evils from which we suffer, the barbarous practices of the daily press are entirely due to the favor of the public, and it remains with them to say whether they shall continue or whether proprietors, editors and reporters, who daily and hourly trample individual and public rights under foot, shall be whipped into a proper behavior.

STATISTICS are coming to hand by which we may be able to gauge the extent of the falling off in manufactures of the past year. We cannot yet see the whole story, and it is perhaps fortunate that we cannot at a moment when people are more inclined to take gloomy than pleasant views, though the proportions of the decline might suggest the impossibility of its continuation. The failure of all manufacturing interests which came upon the country last summer was little short of paralysis. For instance, the figures dealing with pig iron for the last half of 1893 show the largest semi-annual decline on record, amounting to no less than 11 per cent. There was a similar falling off in the production of Bessemer steel rails. At the same time the prices of both pig iron and steel rails declined, in the case of the latter making the record for cheapness. It would be difficult to find another article that has fallen in price with such a persistency as the steel rail which sold for $166 a ton in 1867 and for $21 a ton in 1894. The amount of coke produced in 1893 was the smallest for four consecutive years, the decline being mostly made in the last half of the year. The value of building stone quarried in 1893 was $33,885,934 compared with $18,706,625 in 1892. The production of coal and petroleum were somewhat greater in 1893 than in 1892, but prices were unfavorable, especially in regard to the latter where the increased output was nearly neutralized by the fall in price. Taken together, these facts and figures serve to show, and our Western friends will do well to bear it in mind, to what extent our prosperity depends on our manufactures; with these in an unprosperous condition, great crops and large developments of our mineral resources, including gold and silver, are not sufficient to maintain us in a condition of prosperity.

That West Side Stable.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I beg to reply to the letter published in your last issue, written by Walter Stabler, relating to the stable in West 90th street for the Street Cleaning Department. Mr. Stabler is quite right when he says that the West End Association has taken no official action in the matter, but whatever little I have done has been done in my individual capacity. In the first place, I never knew that the city authorities even contemplated such action until I saw it published in the daily journals that the Sinking Fund Commissioners had instructed the Street Cleaning Department to lease the property from Jacob & Skinner. I have never spoken to either of them about it and neither have I seen either of them for several months. This, I think, ends the charge made by Mr. Stabler "that Mr. Cyrus Clark, president of the association, and Messrs. Jacob & Skinner, members of the association, are pushing this matter."

If I remember correctly THE RECORD AND GUIDE published under date of July 1, that the proposed stable was to be located in West 90th street, between the Boulevard and West End avenue, and that your information came from Commissioner Andrews himself. To test the correctness of the report, I called upon Comptroller Fitch and then learned for the first time the correct location. This is all I have ever done in the matter and will state further that I was out of town while the negotiations were going on and only learned upon my return what had taken place.

I will state that an owner of a flat on West 90th street (not a member of the association) called at my house and asked my aid in defeating the project, and at same time threatened that if I did not give it "that he and the Astors would buy some lots on West End avenue, near my property, and build a stable for the department." After this threat it's needless for me to say that I was not in the least intimidated and that I have taken no action in the matter since. Mr. Stabler says that he agrees with Commissioner Andrews that the stable site ought to be on "the low-lying ground west of Riverside Drive." The Riverside property-owners might wish to be heard and object to any such proposition. I beg to refer the two gentlemen to the bill passed by the last Legislature extending the boundaries of Riverside Park and thereby prohibiting forever any nuisance upon the river bank. I go much further and say that there ought not to be any street cleaning stable on the West Side, but it ought to be located in the vicinity of West 56th street, where it has been proposed to remove the miserable and disgraceful dump now allowed to exist at Riverside Park and West 79th street.

The matter would have been settled and the whole stable trouble ended if Governor Flower had signed the bill prohibiting any dump upon any of the public parks of the city.

In conclusion, the whole trouble is in a nutshell. No one wants what everyone will admit will be a public nuisance. It's the old story over again of the man with the "boils," he wants them on the other fellow.

Very truly yours,

CYRUS S. CLARK.

"Irrational Tenement House Planning."

Views of a Practical Building Expert.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I read with great interest your remarks on "Irrational Tenement House Planning" in a recent issue of your paper, and then, on the cordial recommendation which you extended to your readers, I procured a copy of Scribner's Magazine and read Mr. Flagg's article, "The New York Tenement House Evil and Its Cure." My anticipations of finding something new and better in the way of planning tenement houses were doomed to disappointment. An open central court entered through a tunnel from the street has been considered time and again by builders and rejected as not desirable. In the three different varieties of upper stories for tenements, Mr. Flagg fails to give plans for the first or ground floors, so that it is not quite possible to judge to what extent he proposes to sacrifice the first stories for hallways and passages to reach the various staircases. The open central court is a quite common arrangement in France and Germany and to some extent it has been adopted in this country. A high grade example is the Dakota apartment house on Central Park West, corner of 72d street. To apply this open central court idea on a diminutive scale to a tenement house, into which and through which the members of fifty or sixty families must pass to their respective apartments would be to provide a battle ground that would witness encounters every hour in the day and night. No quiet, peaceable family would long remain in such a house, and it would require the constant attendance of a peace officer to preserve order in that court and keep clear the thoroughfare for the tenants' incoming and outgoing.

Mr. Flagg proposes that the Board of Health laws shall be changed so as to require 18 or 20 feet between a portion of the sides of tenement houses as well as in the rear of same, and thus prevent the duplication of the type of houses now commonly built. But Mr. Flagg will have to go farther before he can compel the adoption of the plans which he presents; he will not only have to get the sanitary laws amended but the building laws as well. The present building law requires that the distance between brick walls in such houses shall not exceed 33 feet. In Mr. Flagg's 100 feet front his brick walls are planned about 50 feet apart; in his 75 feet front the brick walls are about 37 feet apart, and in his 50 feet front no intermediate wall is provided. The law also prohibits the ends of floor-beams from resting on stud partitions. Mr. Flagg presents his plans as for six-story buildings. The law says that for buildings of that height the halls and staircases shall be fire-proof and inclosed in brick walls. A simple way to enable any one to build after Mr. Flagg's plans would be to get the building law amended. Methods of escape in case of fire seem not to be worked out in Mr. Flagg's plans.

If landlords can really be shown how to "build good houses for less than it now costs to build bad ones," shown how to "get the same amount of desirable, properly lighted apartments at less cost than heretofore paid for undesirable, improperly lighted apartments," there will be no need for a change in laws, for the present laws are sufficiently elastic to allow anything that is really good, and landlords are only too willing to adopt methods that will cheapen the cost of building or result in a greater return on the investment of a given sum of money. A larger proportion of the lot given up to light and ventilation than the sanitary law now requires will be gladly approved, and Mr. Flagg can easily meet the requirements of the building law as regards number of brick walls and kind of hallways and staircases; and, although these mean an increased cost to his structures, yet not so great an additional cost as will prevent their adoption if his plans possess the merit claimed for them. It remains to be seen if any one will adopt those plans. To compel their adoption by law is not to be thought of for a moment.

Mr. Flagg says that for twenty years the Board of Health has been "pottering with the subject of light and ventilation for tenement houses" and has accomplished nothing. It seems almost incredible that such a statement can be made by a practicing architect. One has only to glance over the sanitary laws, and the dates of their enactments, to see the steady progress that has been made during the past twenty years in providing healthier and better domiciles. The limitation of the area of a lot that the building shall occupy, the open space required at the rear of the building, the requirements that every habitable room shall open directly upon a street or yard or upon a court or light shaft, and every water-closet be ventilated by a separate shaft opening directly to the external air—are these not great accomplishments? For them the Board of Health is to be thanked. You, Mr. Editor, very truly said that not "a single improvement which has tended to make our buildings more habitable and better adapted to the conditions of their uses has originated with the architect." It is to the medical profession, to the sanitary engineers, and to the specialists in building laws, and not to the architects that whatever gratitude the public may have for healthier residences, greater comfort and greater security for life and property from fire is due.

Lastly, but to commence with the beginning of Mr. Flagg's article, the fact that the division of the blocks into lots of 25x100 feet is declared to be the greatest evil which ever befell New York City, fire, pestilence and financial troubles being as nothing in comparison, for from this division, Mr. Flagg declares, has arisen the system of tenement houses, the worst curse which ever afflicted any great community. In laying out a city an arbitrary division of lots is made. In New York the width of lots is 25 feet, in Brooklyn 20 feet. In New York there are a far greater number of single dwelling houses 20 feet wide than 25 feet. There are a far greater number of tenement houses more than 30 feet wide than there are 25 feet ones. The greater proportion of residence buildings have been erected by speculative builders. These men put up several buildings at a time, seldom only one. On four lots, or a 100 feet frontage, five dwellings are usually placed, say, each 20 feet wide. If tenements, three are placed on a 100 feet frontage, say, 33 feet wide. The fact is that the unit of lots has had little or nothing to do with tenement house building. Domiciles must be provided for the very poor and ignorant as well as for those in the higher walks of life. The coal-heaver and the street-sweeper must have a home as well as the lawyer and the merchant, and so various grades of tenement houses—by whatever name they may be called—are a necessity to provide homes for the vast number of people who reside in this city. The very poorest people in tenement houses in this city are housed better than the same grade of people are housed in any other city in the world. It is the fashion to rail against tenement houses as a curse. After many years of close observation of life in all grades of tenement houses, and leaving out of the question the oldest type of tenement houses, which are fast disappearing, and former single dwelling houses altered into tenement houses, I have come to an opposite conclusion and declare that the tenement house, instead of being a curse, is a blessing.

WILLIAM J. FRYER.

NEW YORK, July 10, 1894.

Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

All architectural development must have for its basis the social conditions and business habits of the population to which it directly appeals, and buildings are successful exactly in proportion to their fulfillment of these requirements. Mr. Ernest Flagg, in his very able article on "The Tenement House Evil and Its Cure," in this month's Scribner's, a review of which is published in your issue of last Saturday, does not seem to take this fact into consideration, and although it will be admitted by all familiar with the subject, and especially by architects, that the so-called improved tenement has all the evils complained of—its development along its present lines has been entirely governed by business and social conditions.

Every one will admit that beyond question the plan suggested by Mr. Flagg is infinitely superior from a sanitary standpoint to the houses now being erected, and attention is also called to the fact that the 25x100 tenement is rarely "built singly." But what does this prove; but that fully 90 percent of the tenements erected in the city are immediately placed on the market for sale, and the builder naturally erects such houses as will reach the largest class of buyers, promptly, as, having built with a loan, he is anxious to prevent his interest accumulating and to pocket his profits.

The class of buyers which it is possible to reach with a 25x100 house, selling at from $30,000 to $40,000 is comparatively large; but how long would his houses be in the market if they were compelled to be sold with at least two lots in one parcel?

Most of these houses are bought singly for investment by people of moderate means, and on this account the builder has insisted that the almost universal 25x100 house be preserved.

Secondly, before tenements built wholly on the plan suggested can be made to rent profitably in this city, the dwellers in tenements must be convinced that the long hall, which is one of the main causes of the smallness of the rooms, and which is very properly complained of, is not a necessity.

At present such a hall is demanded by the tenants, and only recently in my own practice I have been compelled to sacrifice space in the kitchen in order to extend the halls to the front and rear rooms. The owner has insisted that it would be impossible to rent the apartments unless every room could be reached from the hall without passing through any other room.

In Europe the family of a mechanic may be satisfied with one large living room used as kitchen, dining-room, parlor and entrance to the toilet, but in this country, no matter how humble the tenant, they demand, rightly or wrongly, a room with a separate entrance, which, even if it contains a folding-bed, shall be used for a parlor, and which shall be directly accessible from the public hall.

The position of the toilet, as suggested in Mr. Flagg's plan, would not be tolerated for a moment by the dwellers in New York tenements, and they demand that the water closets be so placed as to be at some distance from the rooms in which most of their lives are spent.

Mr. Flagg also seems to have forgotten that a provision of the New York building law limits the span of beams to 26 feet, which would necessitate the building of 170 feet more of brick wall than is shown by his calculations, or its equivalent in posts and girders, thereby somewhat lessening the difference in cost between the two styles of houses.

It will further be evident to all real estate men that, as far as the financial returns of Mr. Flagg's scheme are concerned, such a house could not be as profitable to the owner as the ones now built; for although the rentable area is fully as great in the plan suggested, a plot of 100x100 feet built upon the present objectionable system gives sixteen apartments, with eight facing the street, whereas the one suggested gives twelve, with but four on the street, and the house of sixteen apartments being rented cheaper, a larger class of tenants can be reached.

Accompanying your review of the article here referred to is another showing how profitable New York tenement house property is, even in these times of financial depression, and as long as owners receive encouragement of this sort from such authority, they will continue to build this class of houses, even against the almost unanimous protest of the architects, who, being compelled to make a living from the erection of this class of houses and not to theorize over them, must obey the demands of their clients or forfeit their livelihood. The architects of this city have been by no means indifferent to the crying evils of our tenement house system, and the development, even to the present unsatisfactory plan, has been steadily opposed by most of the interested owners of real estate, who invariably insist upon the greatest number of rooms, no matter how small they may be; and the present plan has been developed mainly by the stringent regulations of the Board of Health, to whom Mr. Flagg very unjustly gives scant credit.

CHARLES H. ISRAELS.

Nationality and Promptness of Rent.

110 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK, July 16, 1894.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

In your article of this date, entitled "Nationality and Promptness of Rent," I regret to see that you have fallen into the (unfortunately too common) error of confounding nationality with Religion. You speak of Italians and Germans as being prompter paying tenants than Hebrews and Irish. Would it surprise you to be informed that some of these Italians and a very large number of these Germans are also of the Hebrew faith and therefore Hebrews of these particular nationalities?

A fellow student who was a Presbyterian and a college graduate once said to me that he was surprised that I, being a Hebrew, spoke the English language with no foreign accent. "Why should I have a foreign accent?" I asked. "I was born and educated in the United States, the same as you were, and I guess my American ancestry is as old as yours."

To speak of Hebrews as contradistinguished from Germans and Irish, is as if one should compare Methodists with English, or Catholics with French, or Universalists with Americans.

As to the merits of the subject you refer to I have had some experience, and religious faith has nothing, and national habits and training have a great deal to do with prompt payment of obligations. The Italians and Germans are good pay because they are trained to habits of thrift and economy. I think you will find that notwithstanding the prejudice against them, the Chinese and Japanese are prompt payers. Other things being equal, and speaking more especially of the poorer classes, I think the average Englishman or American is not as prompt pay as the average Frenchman. I agree that the Germans and Italians are the best pay, and also that colored tenants are more reliable than white ones. But that (as Kipling would say) is another story.

J. C. LEVI.

Developing Norton's Point—now Sea Gate.

Last Tuesday afternoon a party of about 150 visited Norton's Point, Coney Island, now and hereafter to be known as Sea Gate, at the invitation of the Norton Point Land Co. to inspect the property of the company which was purchased last summer from Mr. Wm. Ziegler. Our readers will remember that Mr. Ziegler bought the tract, comprising some 110 acres, about five years ago for $285,000, and after years of litigation succeeded in getting a good title, which has been approved by the Lawyers' Title Co. Since last December the Norton Point Land Co. have had a large force of men at work regulating, grading, curbing, guttering, soiling, grass-plotting and macadamizing about one-third of the tract facing the ocean and the result was visible on Tuesday when the excursionists arrived. A great deal of work remains to be done, however, before the property is put in the finished state its promoters have in mind. The tract has been divided into 2,000 lots, each 20x100, and no less than three 20-foot lots will be sold to any one purchaser. Plans have been prepared by Architect Parfitt for a club-house for the Sea Gate Club, and by Constable Bros. for several houses which will soon be built. Mr. Abriek H.

Man is president of the company; J. Lott Nostrand, vice-president; Joseph P. Puels, treasurer; James T. Nelson, secretary, and Wm. P. Rae Co. is general sales agent. Here are a few of the persons interested in the property besides the officers already mentioned: Mr. Cornelius Macardell, president of the First National Bank, Middletown, N. Y.; Hon. George Peabody Wetmore, of Newport; Hon. Joseph C. Hendrix, Col. Andrew D. Baird, David Thornton, Eugene P. Barnes, Wm. J. Northridge, Calvin Tomkins, Wm. P. Rae and Edmund L. Baylies.

Will Increase the Cost of Public Buildings.

The Building Department has approved the plans for the new armory of the Ninth Regiment, to be built in West 14th street, and the contract and specifications have been ordered printed, but to-day the architects called the attention of the Armory Board to a matter that will delay the letting of the contract until the Board of Estimate can make an additional appropriation for the work.

The last Legislature passed an act which provides that all stone used in public buildings of any kind must be cut and dressed on the ground where the building is to be erected.

The plans for the armory were made last year, and the cost of the armory was fixed at $280,000. The plans call for the use of Maine granite. Under the new law this granite will have to be brought from Maine in rough blocks, which will add greatly to the freight charges.

Local stonecutters get wages 25 per cent higher than are paid the stonecutters of Maine and work only eight hours a day, while the latter work ten hours a day.

To have the stone cut here the architects estimate will add $20,000 to the cost of the building. This will have to be provided for before the contract is awarded.

This is the first public building in the city to be affected by the new law, but the Corporation Counsel has advised that in future all contracts for buildings contain a clause providing for this increased cost of stone work.—Evening Sun, Thursday.

The little spirit the market indulged in last week has been followed by the normal summer condition of comparative torpidity. The week's private sales include none of special importance, and their fewness seems to indicate that the brokers generally have abandoned for the present their endeavors to expedite transactions that only promise the longer to hang fire the more persistent the efforts made to close them. The sales of valuable parcels mentioned in the first paragraph of "Gossip of the Week," were all brought to a successful termination before the beginning of the present week and the details of each will probably help to redeem the record of some one of the dull periods the immediate future apparently has in store.

The following are the comparative tables for New York Conveyances, Mortgages and Projected Buildings for the corresponding weeks of 1893 and 1894.

The auctions held since the beginning of the week were all by direction of referees and attracted no public attention. In the majority of instances the purchasers have been the plaintiffs in the respective foreclosure suits. Richard V. Barnett & Co. sold at the Broadway salesroom on Tuesday a leasehold interest in an apartment in the Gramercy, on the corner of Gramercy Park East and 20th street. The sale is the second of its kind ever held under foreclosure, and owing to the doubt in the public mind as to the actual equity involved the plaintiff met with little competitive bidding and was forced to become the buyer. Another sale out of the usual line was held by the same auctioneers in the Real Estate Exchange on Thursday. It comprised Western mortgages which had figured as security for debenture bonds issued by the Jarvis-Conklin Mortgage Trust Co. of Kansas City. R. L. Austin, representing the reorganization committee of the company, was the purchaser, at $492,320, or 40 per cent of the face value of the securities.

On Tuesday D. P. Ingraham & Co. adjourned sine die a foreclosure sale of eight lots on Broadway or Kingsbridge road, 405.1 south of Sherman street. William Kennelly adjourned without date on Friday a similar sale of 723 7th avenue.

A committee that waited on Col. A. K. Hain on Wednesday to urge the completion of the Suburban Elevated road to Fordham were assured by him that work on the extension would be pushed as soon as the consent of property-owners along the line can be obtained.

The tax assessment rolls for 1895 were closed on Tuesday on the termination of the period legally designated during which they must remain open for public inspection. The usual number of writs of certiorari were issued in behalf of aggrieved taxpayers who claimed that their assessments were excessive, but the securing of them seems to be greatly a matter of habit, as few of the cases are ever heard of in the courts again. The tax rate will be agreed upon by the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen in August, after which the books will be turned over to the Tax Department to be extended or filled out.

Eugene S. Ives, Joseph Ullman and Richard Deeves, the Commissioners of Estimate and Assessment in the matter of laying out St. John's Park on the site of the old cemetery of that name, have filed their report at the office of the Park Department. The new park will occupy the block front on the easterly side of Hudson street, between Clarkson street and St. Luke's place or Leroy street. Property-owners within the district, outlined in another column, must pay one-half the cost of improvement. The city will pay the other half.

The new park was projected several years ago, but its establishment has been delayed owing to the opposition of the Trinity Church corporation.

Job H. Jackson who, as plaintiff, purchased at foreclosure sale on Tuesday the Carrollton hotel, Madison avenue and 76th street, erected by the defunct firm of Horgan & Slattery, is a member of the firm of Jackson & Sharp, of Wilmington, Del., who furnished the trim in the building. We understand that two other firms of contractors who also hold mortgages on the hotel are interested in the purchase.

NEW PARK PROCEEDINGS.

The commissioners in the Fort Washington Park proceeding met at the Corporation Counsel's office for organization on Monday, and those for St. Nicholas Park on Tuesday last. Within a fortnight or so property-owners will be asked to file their claims with these commissions.

THE NORTH RIVER BRIDGE SCHEME.

The Commission of Engineers appointed by President Cleveland to supervise the plans for the proposed North River bridge has been holding daily sessions in the Army building since Tuesday week. Thus far there has not been much to supervise. The company's engineers have been taking soundings along the river margin, between 59th and 69th streets, to find the best location for a pier, and have been reporting their daily doings to the government engineers. Much importance is given in certain quarters to the "surprising discovery" that the New York Central Railroad Company owns the land along the river front between 59th and 69th streets, and thus "controls the situation." But as the requirements of the bridge would be fully answered by a site for a pier on either side of the railroad grounds, and a crossing a hundred feet in the air, it is difficult to see how the New York Central ownership can seriously affect the situation. The bridge promoters are trying to persuade the Commission of Engineers that a plan embracing a central span in the river would be most advisable. The hearings will be continued next week.

RUMORS ABOUT FERRY CHANGES.

Rumors are in circulation to the effect that the Pennsylvania Railway Company is preparing to remove its Desbrosses street ferry station to the foot of Vestry street, a block distant. The rumors had apparent support in the fact that the Grand street cross-town street railroad has continued its tracks through Vestry to West street. Pennsylvania Railway officials, however, declare that they have no intention whatever of making any changes in their ferryage arrangements. The suit against the company by the City for recovery of lands under water, between old piers 39 and 40 and 16 and 18, was begun in the United States Circuit Court four years ago, but has never come to trial.

A BIG DISCREPANCY IN REAL ESTATE EXPERTS' ESTIMATES.

In the proceeding to acquire title to the property between Amsterdam avenue and the Harlem River, from 174th street to a line 150 feet north of Washington Bridge, for park purposes, testimony has been closed and the case is in the hands of the Commission for the preparation of their report. The Commissioners are E. H. Martine, David McClure and Samuel W. Milbank. Assistant Corporation Counsel Chas. A. Olendorf and Special Counsel David Leavenworth were in charge of the proceeding for the city. Nearly a thousand closely typewritten pages of testimony were taken. W. G. L. King, one of the oldest and best-posted brokers in the city, and Patrick Fox, an extensive operator and owner on the upper West Side, testified as experts on behalf of the city. For the property-owners Wm. E. Haws, Howard G. Badgley, Wilson H. Blackwell and John Carlin gave their opinions. The experts for the owners made out a prima facie case against the city for about a million and a-quarter dollars. The city's experts, fortified with memoranda of conveyances from THE RECORD AND GUIDE, covering a period of over five years, found the value of the property to be taken about $150,000. It will be the business of the commissioners to ascertain the fair market value of the property to be taken from these conflicting views. A report will doubtless be forthcoming some time in the fall.

SITE FOR A NEW SCHOOL-HOUSE.

Proceedings of a similar nature will also be instituted at the same time, on behalf of the School Board, for the condemnation of the block front, 125 feet deep, on St. Ann's avenue, west side, between 147th and 148th streets, for public school purposes. This and the Maiden lane engine house proceeding will be in charge of Assistant Corporation Counsel Chas. A. Olendorf.

FOR A FIRE-ENGINE STATION IN MAIDEN LANE.

Corporation Counsel Clark has prepared the papers in a proceeding on behalf of the Board of Fire Commissioners to acquire title by condemnation to the property Nos. 79 and 81 Maiden lane, for use as a fire-engine and hook and ladder station. The property fronts 34.2 on Maiden lane, north side, 144.8 east of William street and is occupied at present by old brick buildings. This will be the first proceeding under the new law, Chapter 151 of the Laws of 1894, authorizing the Board of Fire Commissioners to acquire fire-engine sites by condemnation proceedings.

THE FOURTH AVENUE IMPROVEMENT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Kindly let me know in your next issue what will be the appearance of the 4th avenue railroad, between 118th and 122d streets, when completed, where a sketch of same could be seen, and what effect will the alteration have, as near as you know, on real estate in 4th avenue. By answering the above you will confer a favor on

WM. A. SOLES.

Inquiry at the office of the Commission having this matter in charge elicits the information that at the point inquired about there will be an elevated steel railroad structure 56 feet in width through the centre of the street. The present railroad cut will be filled up to grade and paved, making a roadway 110 feet wide from curb to curb, unbroken except by the steel posts on which the railroad structure will be supported. This latter will be a rain-tight structure, drained into the sewers. The improvement will make 4th avenue, from 111th street to the Harlem River, an unbroken street, free to wagon traffic, with sidewalks 15 feet wide on either side, and a space 27 feet wide from the curb to the elevated railroad supports on either side. What the effect will be upon property owners depends upon many contingencies. We prefer not to answer that part of our correspondent's question.

Trade Notes.

Messrs. E. De Forest Shelton & Co., of the Stewart Building, 280 Broadway, have exceptional facilities for negotiating the purchase, sales or leasing of manufacturing properties. They are specialists and deal only in mill or factory property (with or without machinery) in this city and all parts of the country. Mr. Shelton has been proposed for membership in the New York Real Estate Exchange.

Architects, builders and owners engaged in planning and erecting new buildings or altering old ones, should consider well the advantages that manufacturers claim for metal ceilings and side walls. Mr. V. Moeslein, of Nos. 420 and 422 East 48th street, has issued an illustrated catalogue that contains much information that is interesting and instructive on the subject of stamped steel ceilings and side walls which he will gladly mail on request. A recent design of Mr. Moeslein's for a ceiling known as style "D," shown in miniature on another page, is very attractive. The demand for these ceilings and side-walls for parlors, dining-rooms, libraries, banks, churches, schools, etc., is constantly growing, and Mr. Moeslein is keeping pace with it by turning out the latest and best that can be manufactured.

John Downey has been awarded the contract for the construction of the twelve-story marble annex to the Metropolitan Life Building. Contract price not given.

MORTGAGES.

The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagee, the next that of the mortgagor. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever L. S. letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

Mortgages against 23d and 24th Ward properties will be found all together at foot of this list.

*Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

The lien filed by Mr. McLaughlin on my Boulevard property is unjust. The work was to be completed July 1, 1894, without fail. Nearly a fourth of the work remained undone, though fully paid for to that time, and no definite time would be fixed by lienor for completion. He has already been paid more than he is entitled to.

Notes Gathered Here and There.

The Standard Oil Company last week asked the Board of Assessors to reduce the assessments on its property on Newtown Creek nearly $500,000. W. B. Emerson, representing the corporation, said the property in question has decreased in value every year for the last six years, as vessel owners will not take their boats there because the waters of Newtown Creek are injurious to them. The total assessment is now $646,950.

The Long Island Title Guarantee Company, through its president, appealed to the Board of Assessors also for a reduction on the assessment of its plant. This was valued by the assessors at $70,000. The company claims that $10,000 is all that it should be assessed.

Lawyer William C. De Witt stated last week in the Supreme Court, that by the fire at Harbeck's stores, in 1893, $120,000 worth of property had been destroyed. "The trustees of the Cornell University, owners of the property," said Mr. De Witt, "have consented to take a reduction of $60,000 in the assessed valuation rather than go into litigation." With the consent of the Corporation Counsel the Court granted an order reducing the assessed value accordingly.

College Point.—Ground was broken this week for the new Roman Catholic Church of St. Fidelis, to be built here at a cost of about $40,000. It is expected to have the structure ready for occupancy before the winter holidays.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.

BUILDING MATERIAL MARKET.

NEW YORK.

BRICK.—It has been a hot week, interfering with consumption somewhat, and demand at no time came up to a level of the offering. Advantages in consequence have favored buyers again, and the bulk of the business was at a lower level of valuation. For a few days it looked as though the float supply was likely to keep piling up without check, but suddenly in one day nearly thirty loads went out, with the deliveries scattered all along the line of river fronts and a few in New Jersey and on Long Island. It could hardly be called an increase of demand in the ordinary sense, but it was a happening when builders, the principal parties to whom deliveries were made, could handle a little stock without inconvenience, and catching on to that they were offered attractive terms. Exactly how much the shading was could not be ascertained, but most receivers admit $5 to be almost an exceptional figure now, and say that business has been done on the lower grade 12 1/2 @ 25c, off during the week. Washed brick show up to some extent, and are difficult to place even at something more than the usual allowance because of the exceeding cheapness of smooth stock. Pales have continued in demand at steady rates, with rather a scant offering, as makers seem disinclined to forward the stock, and it is said are piling up quite an amount at the yards. Production is understood to have gone right along without interruption.

LATH.—Additional arrivals have taken place during the week, but were small as compared with the quantity noted at time of our last report, and the market has improved in tone. A sale is reported within a couple of days at $1.75, and while open bids did not prove plentiful at that, the small quantity of stock now offering could hardly be obtained for less, and some receivers ask still more money for parcels to arrive. Most local dealers are well stocked.

LIME.—No one appeared to have any views to communicate. The cost is the same as heretofore and receivers say everything is lovely in the way of the amount of demand they secure, the quantity of stock they have on hand and the arrivals expected.

LUMBER.—As pretty much all demand continues to be stimulated by absolute necessity, rather than by choice, buyers naturally remain in an indifferent attitude. They have no increase of custom to hurry them and therefore feel that it may be well to wait a little longer before attempting to secure additions to yard stocks. Some dealers, too, are talking about having a very fair assortment on hand, which has gradually accumulated in various ways; a portion from purchases as long ago as last season, and since brought forward, instead of making new purchases, and a portion from orders given this year, where it was necessary to secure special cuts and which have been hurried along just about as fast as cut and shipping facilities could be secured. The fresh offerings are comparatively moderate, in view of the positive indications that attempts to place stock would simply make matters worse.

Regarding white pine there is little that can be called new or of special interest. Some time ago, and as we then noted, a few parties entertained a hopeful sort of feeling over the finer sorts, but they have realized no results as yet, and the only demand is for the lower qualities. Even for box, however, the demand is not holding its ordinary relative position because the rigid economy of consumers in many cases leads them to seek such other qualities as may be found available at less cost. Export orders are moderate and unimportant.

Yellow pine is not attracting the attention that would gladden the heart of those who have the stuff to sell and the common report upon the market is of a character to impress a belief that affairs are quite unsatisfactory. It seems to be extremely difficult to obtain anything in the way of a positive quotation, and each particular deal made unquestionably has a special price fixed by immediate influences.

Carolina pine gets no straight demand of a regular character, and business is quite uncertain. The uncertainty, however, is principally upon the time when some regular customer will run out of stock, but this being one of the cheap woods has a good proportion of such consumption as now takes place, and will sell when better and more costly stock is neglected. Every seller now has the privilege of making his own price in view of recent agreement to abandon co-operation, and the result is an exceedingly irregular and non-quotable line of figures. Hemlock is still talked about as a wood likely to do better "later on," but just now does not make a market of any importance in the local deal. The suburban and general country trade, however, affords some custom in view of the moderate cost of the stock and the fact that in some localities consumers have become accustomed to using it, and do not object to some of its disagreeable characters, after the manner of city workmen.

Eastern Spruce has been quite unsettled in about the usual form. Since the "1th" the arrivals have been quite liberal, a great many of them on orders, but covering almost too many randoms for the convenience of receivers. In offering supplies much stress has been laid upon the fact that nearly all the mills at St. John and in Maine have shut down and do not propose resuming work until they can obtain rates that will afford a balance against the full cost of new logs, but buyers paid no attention to any influence except their immediate wants and the piling of cargoes has been difficult with much irregularity shown on values, although figures were generally quite as low as heretofore. Late mails from the Eastward state that since the mills have closed tenders of specials have been received from parties who previously refused to negotiate, but received only indifferent attention. State spruce has some demand and standard assortments command bids at former figures. West Virginia spruce not very active at the moment yet; the market is in better shape consequent upon the control of the output recently secured and noted in our last, with a probability that rates in future will be quite uniform. The present line of valuation is placed as follows: For 12-inch and under, up to 20 feet, $15 at Philadelphia, $15.50 at Jersey City and $16 at New York, and 50c additional for each 2 feet of over length. For 14-inch $1 extra, and 16-inch $2 extra on same basis. For delivery at points subject to arbitrary rail charges cost will be made to equalize the additional expense, piling has had a rough sort of season, but of late the course of the market inclines toward improvement. During a fullness of supplies, and at a time when the outlet was very narrow, it is difficult to say how low prices were forced, but the intimation is that 3c, or even a fraction less was common on standard sizes, especially when arrivals had to be handled quickly. At present, however, 1c is about inside for 12-inch butt, 3c to 38-foot sticks, and 4 1/2 @ 4 3/4 c. 12-inch 38 to 40-foot sticks, with only small quantities said to be coming forward.

GENERAL LUMBER NOTES.

THE WEST.

The Northwestern Lumberman as follows:

In all lines of the lumber business operators all season had been hoping and waiting for the resumption of demand and activity in distribution and consumption. Progress had been slow. Now that it has been checked by the strike it seems as if a new start must be made and lost ground retraversed. The effect of this on values remains to be determined. In the white pine field this is a vital question to manufacturers and dealers. Considerable lumber has already passed from the ownership of the mill operators to that of the dealers, especially at western points. Stock was extensively purchased in June because it was considered that the rock bottom of values had been reached. But the present prostration of the industries presents a new phase to the question. Production has gone forward, while distribution and consumption have mostly stood still. It is evident that if the check to the outlet of lumber shall be only temporary the effect on values will be but slight. But just now no one can say how long the industries will remain prostrate. Indications, however, point to the complete passing of traffic and labor disturbances and a new start of the industries.

On the cargo market at Chicago there has been a comparatively small amount of business done. The railway tie-up stopped shipments in the yard, and besides, local trade has fallen off seriously within the past ten days. The result has been discouraging to the yard dealers, who have mostly withdrawn from the market for the time being. But receipts have been light, because shippers from the mills were aware that the market would absorb but little.

Nominally prices remain unchanged. It is probable that those dealers who have relieved the commission men of the lumber recently consigned to them have secured bargains in purchases. In a pinch like that of the past week responsible buyers can always pick up lumber at some concession of one kind or another. After the disturbance has entirely passed market conditions will become clearly defined, and henceforward the basis of values will not greatly differ from those recently prevalent.

Vessel rates from Manistee are still $1.25, captains who had held their boats for $1.37 1/2 having lately come out for loads at the old rate. It looks as if the strike for higher rates had gone to keep company with Debs' base.

As in other lines, the popular trade is still affected by the railroad strike and general stagnation of business. Prices in the eastern markets are slightly firmer than a couple of months ago, and until the strike came there was an appreciable increase in the demand. Dry stock would be scarce, with an ordinary demand, but at present there is plenty to supply all demands. A good trade is anticipated this fall and it is expected much higher values will prevail. Many of the mills are shut down, with no immediate prospect of resuming operations, because of the short supply of logs.

At the head of the lakes the movement of lumber westward has been practically nothing owing to the strike, although eastward by lake several cargoes have been sent. The suspension of traffic has resulted in few buyers from the east and Chicago frequenting the market, and as a result sales are few. Along the Wisconsin river plying mills are closed, but the mills are still running. The same is true at mill points on the Mississippi below Minneapolis, and trade has dropped off to nothing at every place as a result of the strike. But few orders are coming in by mail, and traveling men have universally been in off from the road for the past ten days, although during the last two days, since there has been a prospect of a resumption of business, some have gone out again with the idea in view of quietly calling on the trade while their competitors are in. Occasionally some retailer, either ignorant of the situation or presuming that some means of getting the lumber to him will be devised by the manufacturer, sends in an order demanding immediate shipment, but generally what few orders are received ask for shipment as soon as possible. But even such orders are so few that they are hardly worth considering and what few sales are made are local ones at mill points.

STATE.

The Albany Argus says:

Last week did not turn out nearly so well as looked at the start, continued dullness riding most of the time. Dealers say that their Southern and Eastern customers complain of dull times and curtail their orders, but this is hardly a new feature. Lake freights from Bay City have fallen to $1.25 from $1.50, while canal freights continue at $1.35. There is no change in prices. The mills on the upper Hudson are not sawing much, but the stock of lumber on the yards here is ample for all requirements.

METALS.—COPPER.—Ingot is a fraction easier than at the first of the month, but otherwise the market does not appear to have undergone much. If any, change in its general features. The demand from home buyers is light and mainly upon a basis of necessity, but with offerings from the companies more or less reserved the position remains fairly steady. On the average range of valuation we quote at 9 1/2 c. @ 9 15 c. for Lake and 8 1/2 @ 9 c. for casting brands. Manufactured copper meets with somewhat irregular demand, but on the whole the movement is about as fair as can be expected for the times, and there is no more than ordinary fluctuation from the regular price list. We quote as follows: Sheet, not above 30x72 in., 16 oz. and over, 11 c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 15 c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 16 c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 17 c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 20 c.; do, under 8 oz., 22 c. Sheets longer than 72 inches 1 c. for 12 1/2 @ 14 c., 19 c. for 14 @ 12 oz., and 23 c. for 8 @ 10 oz. Sheets not above 36x96 in., 16 oz. and over, 11 c.; do, 14 to 16 oz., 16 c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 18 c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 22 c.; do, 8 to 10 oz., 25 c. Sheets longer than 96 inches 1 c. for over 32 oz., 15 c. for 16 to 32 oz., 23 c., 14 to 16 oz., 19 c., 12 to 14 oz., 23 c., for 10 to 12 oz., and 27 c. for 8 to 10 oz. Sheets not above 48x96, 32 to 64 oz., 14 c.; do, 16 to 32 oz., 16 c.; do, 11 to 16 oz., 18 c.; do, 12 to 14 oz., 20 c.; do, 10 to 12 oz., 21 c. Sheets wider than 48x96 and longer, 11 1/2 @ 17 c. for 32 to 64 oz.; 19 @ 26 c. for 16 to 32 oz.; 21 1/2 @ c. for 14 to 16 oz. and 29 @ c. for 12 to 14 oz. Both copper, 3/8 inch diameter and over, 11c. Circles, segments and pattern sheets, 60 diameter and less, 3c. above price of sheets of same thickness; circles, 60 to 90 do do, 1c. do; circles, 90 do and over, 5c. do. Cold or hard rolled copper, 1/2c. per lb. above the foregoing prices. Copper bottoms, 18c. 24c. per lb. Iron—American Pig has made no noticeable improvement. There are some operators inclined to talk more cheerfully, but more upon a basis of what they hope for than what they have really gained and the current run of business is dull even making due allowance for the season of the year. With ample supplies available they are still kept well enough in hand to prevent direct pressure to realize. We quote at $12.00 a 13.00 per ton for No. 1 X foundry; $11.00 a 12.00 for No. 2 X do., and $10.00 a 11.00 for Gray Forge; Scotch pig iron, $19.50 a 22. Old material has no unusual demand, yet finds, at times, some little attention, and sellers generally manage to obtain about former rates. Offerings are fair of ordinary assortments. We quote at $11.00 a 11.15 for old iron rails; $10.00 a 10.75 for No. 1 wrought scrap; $9.00 a 10.50 for cast scrap; $10.00 a 11.00 for old car wheels, and $6.50 a 9.00 for borings, stove plate, etc. Manufactured iron is now being delivered to some extent on orders and a few houses book additional business of fair proportions, but the general run of trade is moderate and disappointing. Prices about steady. The following quotations are made f. o. b. at Pittsburgh: Angles, 1.25 a 1.30c.; tees, 1.40 a 1.50c.; beams and channels, 1.30 a 1.35c.; base; sheared bridge plates, steel, 1.25c.; Universal mill plates, steel, 1.25c.; iron, 1.35c.; rolled bars, 1.35c. base. Steel rails remain in a slow uncertain condition. There is some talk of one or two roads wanting more stock, but apparently only in a small way for sidings, switches, etc., and the mills have no difficulty in promptly executing all the calls made upon them. One or two concerns are said to be doing very well in making light sections of special shapes. We quote standard sections $24 a 25 per ton at mill, with usual advances for delivery at tide water. Pig lead generally has retained a good position and the tendency of the market was toward increased firmness. Business did not work up into any positive animation, but supplies sold closely enough to prevent an accumulation, and reports from sources of supply hold a stimulating tenor. We quote at 3 1/2 a 3.55c. per lb. The manufactures of lead are quoted at 5 1/2c. for Pipe, 6 1/2c. for Sheet, 15c. for tin-lined Pipe, and 37 1/2c. for Block Tin Pipe. Pig Tin has been showing considerable irregularity without much animation. The fluctuations were in fact, to a considerable extent, merely reflections of the changes on foreign market and operators here seemed to confine their indulgences to quantity merely sufficient to keep their hands in. Supplies fair but not obtrusive in quantity. We quote at about 19.10 a 19.15c. for round lots, and 19 1/4 a 19 3/4c. for jobbing parcels. Tin plate has an uneven market and rarely works up to a point of positive animation. A certain measure of steadiness is shown inasmuch as the general range of valuation does not vary greatly, but small fractional allowances are never refused when a good sale can be closed by granting them. We quote as follows: L. C. Charcoal, Melyn grade, $6.00 a 6.25; Charcoal, Melyn grade, crosses, $7.75;

L. C. Charcoal, Allaway grade, $5.35 a 5.40; Allaway grade, crosses, $6.45; Charcoal terne, M. F. grade, 14x20, $7.25 a 7.30; M. F. grade, 20x28, $11.50 a 11.55; Worcester, 14x20, $5.70 a 5.75; Worcester, 20x28, $11.00 a 11.05; Allyn grade, 14x20, $5.15 a 5.20; Allyn grade, 20x28, $10.00 a 10.25; D. R. D. grade, 14x20, $4.90 a 5.00; D. R. D. grade, 20x28, $9.70 a 9.75; L. C. Coke, Penlan grade, $5.00 a 5.05; J. B. grade, 14x20, $5.15 a 5.20; L. C. Bessemer steel, squares, $5.30 a 5.35 basis; L. C. Siemens steel, squares, $5.15 a 5.15 basis. Spelter retains a pretty strong position on account of reduced production and slow deliveries. In general the demand is only fair and from regular sources. We quote 3 1/2 a 3 3/4c. for Common Western, according to brand.

NAILS.—Demand still comes mainly from regular custom operating against natural wants and is a little irregular in volume without evidences of haste on the part of buyers. It is a claim of manufacturers that they have no greater supply than can fairly be considered sufficient against a natural emergency, yet now and then a slight effort to realize would seem to indicate a surplus in some localities. On general range, prices stand about as before. We quote Cut at $1.00 a 1.10 per keg for car lots and $1.15 a 1.25 per keg for parcels from store for iron, and add 3c. per keg for steel; Wire, $1.00 a 1.15 for car lots, and $1.25 a 1.35 from store.

PAINTS, OILS, ETC.—The line of operations continues quite small and the form is merely that of picking up such odd lots of stock as may from time to time be required for the purpose of rounding out assortments for ordinary trade purposes. There is plenty of evidence that the principal portion of dependent custom is carrying a very much lighter supply than usual and would be compelled to replenish upon the first touch of increasing custom, but until compulsion comes from just that source buyers prefer to remain upon the waiting list. Export assortments are being picked up to some extent and probably holding very close to an average for this season of the year. Supplies have thus far been found ample for all requirements of the market, and there are no official changes in value, although buyers generally have greater advantages than shown by regular list figures. For leads, corrodors' quotations stand as follows: Lead in oil in kegs and dry lead in kegs in lots of less than 500 lbs., 6 1/2c. net; in lots of 500 lbs. to 5 tons at one purchase, 6c.; 5 tons to 12 tons, one purchase, 5.94c.; 12 tons and over, one purchase, 5.9c. Lead in oil in 12 1/2 lb. tin pails, add 1c.; in 25 and 50 lb. tin pails, add 1/2c., and in 1 to 5 lb. tin cans, assorted (100 lbs. in case) add 2 1/2c. per lb. to keg price. Terms on lots of 500 lbs. and over, note or acceptance at sixty days, or 2 1/2 percent discount will be allowed for cash paid within fifteen days of invoice date. To make either of the above required quantities any assortment of packages of white lead, red lead and litharge may be counted. The above quotations are free on board cars or boat at corrodoring point. Linsced Oil has secured no unusual custom, and at times the market was quiet. Manufacturers, however, appeared to have affairs very well in hand, and rarely consented to swerve from about the old line of valuation. We quote at 50 a 52c. for Western, 53 a 54c. for City from domestic seed and 54 a 55c. for do. from Calcutta seed. Spirits Turpentine keeps within about the former line of valuation, but shows fractional irregularities. There seems to be heurish efforts in some cases, without particularly free offerings, and buyers secure no pronounced advantage. We quote at 29 1/2 a 30 1/2c. per gallon, according to quality, quantity, delivery, etc.

TAR AND PITCH.—Offerings do not appear to be very extensive, yet plentiful enough both in quantity and assortment for the indifferent outlet at present afforded. A showing of steadiness is made on values, but moderate allowances are frequent when such will insure desirable orders. We quote Tar at $1.85 a 1.90 in pine or Wilmington bbls., $2.50 a 2.55 in pork bbls., and $3.50 a 3.55 in oil bbls.; Pitch $1.50 a 1.70.

IN lines directly affected by recent strikes there are signs of picking up. This is notably the case in the iron trade, for while the reports of production for the first half of the year are not favorable prices are firm and the stocks on hand comparatively very light. Reports from centres of dry-goods, drugs, etc., show no falling back and, if anything, an increase in demand. Considering what a strong influence political conditions have on trade and that we are in the very heart of what is the dull season of any year the condition of general business cannot be considered at all unsatisfactory. The stock market, owing to the continued absence of legitimate business, continues to be swayed according to the view taken by the majority of professional traders for the time being of news from Washington. This being the case it is natural that Sugar should receive the greatest amount of attention. Very few, if any, of these traders know what the effect of the proposed new duties will be upon the actual commodity if imposed, but act on the rule that anything less than the refiners ask for will be detrimental to the stock. It will be very surprising if there is no room to satisfy the sugar trade between the duties as fixed by the Senate, which are practically all that is asked by the trade, and the views of the House. Supposing the rate suggested by Mr. Vilas should be finally adopted, it is very probable that any one who sells the stock short on that account will be treated to a disagreeable surprise. The railroad list has been weak in consequence of the exposures relating to the Atchison accounts, the supposition being that what was done in one case is done in most if not in all the others and the so-called surplus is only a bubble which disappears on being pricked. The passage of the dividend on Lake Erie & Wheeling preferred, suggests also that other properties have yet to show their ability to maintain dividends in the face of excessively bad business, and this fact is likely to have a depressing influence on railroad stocks for a little time yet to come. The continued fall in the price of wheat, due to the favorable crop news from Europe, is also having its effect on the value of railroad securities, as is also the continued export of gold.

HARVEST prospects are very good throughout Europe. In England the percentages made up for July 1, for wheat, barley, oats, beans and grass were all above 100. Barring the intervention of unfavorable circumstances the production of cereals will be the largest ever known in France. Even in Austria a warm spell has remedied much of the mischief caused by cold and rain in the early part of the season. British receipts of wheat from the United States were 4,000,000 cwts. less in the six months closed on June 30 last than in the same time of 1893, this decrease being offset by increased imports from Argentina, Russia and India. A review of the iron trade of Great Britain shows that the exports for the first half of this year were smaller than in the corresponding period for four previous years, but while prices are low there seem to be no large stocks on hand or pressure to sell, consequently a hopeful view is taken of the situation. A similarly favorable prospect is offered by the great iron centres of Germany. Referring to the overstocked condition of the London money market and the prospects for increased rates, the Economist of that city says: "What would tell immediately would be a drain of gold for the United States and that is by no means unlikely to arise before very long." The demand for a customs union between Great Britain and her colonies is not received with much favor in the mother country for the reason that 77.4 per cent of her export trade is done with foreign countries and only 22.6 per cent with her possessions, while at the same time only about 20 per cent of the Colonial import and export trade is done outside of British territory. Any system of differential duties would therefore be at the cost of the home merchants. Argentine custom receipts are falling off at a rate that endangers the existence of what is known as the Romero compromise agreement with the foreign creditors. Tax receipts of France are better than last year, from which it may be fairly inferred that business there is improving.

THERE is a factor in the situation which is either not seen or has quite been lost sight of by those who undertake to express an opinion upon the future of the silver market. The friends of silver have all apparently taken the view that the limit of the demand for the white metal for monetary purposes has practically been reached, and that the only way that the use of silver for coinage can be increased is by legislative enactment. It is beginning to be seen, however, that it is very probable that Africa is destined to play in the immediate future a prominent part in the status of the precious metals. That continent is not only becoming one of the world's chief sources for the supply of gold, but is likely to be a very large user of silver. The commercial greed of Germany and England is bringing the white man into trade relations with an immense population which a few years ago was practically nonexistent. These millions are being rapidly annexed to the commercial markets of the world. Even a few years of intercourse with the European had been sufficient to develop the trader from the former savage, content to barter his oils and tusk for old flint locks and fire water. Wampum, the old form of shell money once current on the West Coast, is falling into disfavor with the natives, and it is very probable that within a very short time the African races will be numbered among the silver using peoples of the world.

WHEN the body politic is suffering, a legion of quacks come to the front each with a specific that is sure to cure. These misguided men do not seem to understand that a long course of study and preliminary practice is necessary to qualify them to speak even in the humblest tones about such a case. They come forward, mixtures of ignorance and—not exactly impudence—stupidity is probably the right word, and deliver themselves of their crude thoughts with as much assurance as if they were the perfect results of knowledge and experience. In this way we have currency, anti-option, and other populist cures for the present business distress. There are many, too, who think the restriction of immigration will do the country good. Among these is the Nebraska Congressman who has introduced a bill into the House to restrict immigration by the imposition of a poll-tax of $100, at a time when working people are leaving the United States as if it were stricken with the plague and the immigration has fallen off to an enormous extent. The cutting of steerage rates between this country and Europe is increasing the eastward travel but not the westward. The people who are going away are of course the thrifty ones who having saved money and finding themselves out of work are returning to their old homes either to wait for better times here or because they see better chances for employment on the other side of the Atlantic. In view of these circumstances alone, any attempt to restrict immigration is an absurdity. Economically nothing could be more unwise or mistaken. Labor follows the line of the greatest demand, like other things, and that fact alone, whether we wish it or not, will be sufficient to limit immigration for the present. But there will come a time when the flow should be this way and any artificial barriers to its movement will inflict the greatest injury to the country. The value of these additions to our population will then be learned. Great Britain has a population equal to about half that of the United States, in a territory equal in extent to that of the State of New York only, yet refuses to stop the infusion of new blood into its working forces, thereby recognizing the value and necessity of Fleming, Frenchman, German and others in maintaining its many industries. The United States, with immense undeveloped territory and in the dawn of its industrial success, can very much less afford to turn away the thought and energy, to say nothing of the actual cash, that is represented by every shipload of immigrants that comes to its shores.

A DISCUSSION recently had in the French Chamber of Deputies brings out forcibly the illogical and unreasonable stand that workmen will take under the advice of irresponsible leaders. A company working the Graissessac collieries, which has paid no dividends for two years, decided to close some pits worked at a loss and discharge 300 men. The other men employed by the company asked that all the miners be kept on, but that the weekly hours of labor be reduced so that all could be employed. As an experiment of this kind had already been tried unsuccessfully the company declined to renew it and a general strike was organized. The Socialistic group in the Chamber sought to bring pressure to bear on the company by moving to cancel its mining concessions, which was, however, not voted. In the course of the discussion of this motion the Minister of Public Works stated that he had obtained employment for all the discharged men on some railroad works that were about to be commenced and had offered to convey them free of charge to the new work, but the men declined, saying that they were attached to Graissessac and were unwilling to undertake work to which they were unaccustomed. In this position they were encouraged by the Socialistic deputies and the strike is consequently prolonged. This, if possible, beats the absurdity of the Debs' incident in the history of American labor.

WHAT an indictment a year presents of railroad administration in this country! Where Europe has one betrayed trust, we have a dozen, until it almost seems that rottenness is everywhere and it only needs inquiry to bring it out in any case. This is the natural consequence of public indifference to immorality in business or of indignation that spends itself in abuse. Security-holders are as much responsible for the fall of Richmond Terminal, Northern Pacific, Reading and New England as the managers who actually brought it about by their recklessness or deliberate fraud. They have allowed crimes against corporate institutions to go unpunished so long that they have encouraged the belief that such offences may be committed with perfect impunity. In a few instances some steps have been recently taken to secure restitution of misappropriated funds. It is to be hoped that these will be successful, but even if so they will not be sufficient to cure the evil. What is wanted is a stern prosecution and punishment of such misdoing in the criminal courts. That is the only thing that will be effective. The latest scandal, that of Atchison, offers a good opportunity for action in this direction. If the opinion of the expert who has examined the Atchison accounts is correct, while the security-holders have placed implicit trust in the management of the company and have made great sacrifices at its request, every annual report put out since the reorganization in 1888 has been nothing more or less than a lie. If the statements made to the Inter-State Commerce Commission and various railroad commissions of the States in which the Atchison road is operated contain the same false entries as those to the stockholders do, then perjury has been committed and should be rigorously punished. Besides this the giving of rebates is a violation of the Interstate Commerce law for which there are severe penalties.

The Constitutional Convention and Real Estate.

ALBANY, July 26th.—The Constitutional Convention turned its attention to-day to the interesting subject of the transfer of land titles. Andrew H. Green, former Controller of New York, and a member of the Convention, is pushing a proposed amendment to the Constitution intended to simplify the laws relating to the passage of real estate from the ownership of one individual to another.

It was upon the 10th of July that a "Special Committee on Improving the Methods and Lessening the Cost of Transferring Land and Interest Therein" made its report to the Convention. The report was as follows:

"To the Constitutional Convention:

"The special committee on improving the methods and lessening the cost of transferring land and interest therein, respectfully report:

"That after careful consideration of the subject referred to them, they are impressed by its importance, and can but conclude that very great advantage, and benefits of no ordinary extent, will result to the whole people by the adoption of judicious methods of lessening the expense of the transfer of land, and by the establishment of a system of recording and indexing instruments relating thereto that shall be uniform throughout the State.

"The committee, therefore, recommend that the following clauses be inserted in the Constitution:

"All laws relating to the transfer of titles to, or interest in, land in this State, by conveyance, devise or descent, or the recording or indexing of instruments providing for such transfers, shall hereafter be general laws applicable to the entire State.

"The Governor is directed, at the first session of the Legislature after the adoption of this Constitution, to appoint, with the advice and consent of the Senate, five persons, residents of the State, who are counselors-at-law and have been admitted to practice for not less than ten years, who shall be known as the Board of Commissioners of Land Records of the State of New York, whose duty it shall be, among other things, to be prescribed by the Legislature in connection therewith, to consider and from time to time report to the Legislature such bills as in their opinion should be passed by the Legislature to reform, simplify and cheapen the transferring and dealing with the titles to and interest in land in this State.

"Any vacancy in said board shall be filled in like manner as the original appointments.

"Said commissioners shall serve without compensation, and shall be allowed, for their reasonable expenses and clerk hire, such sums as shall be audited and approved by the State Comptroller."

Andrew H. Green was chairman of this special committee. Naturally therefore he was the man who called up the report in the Convention to-day, and made an explanatory speech in relation to the origin of the amendment, and why it should be passed. Mr. Green is an old man and his voice is feeble. But there was great interest in the subject he was debating, and therefore members of the Convention gathered in the aisles in the vicinity of where he was talking and listened closely to what he said. Mr. Green, in his speech, reviewed the history of the efforts which have been made in New York to reform the methods of land transfer, and then closed with words advocating the amendment. He said:

"In 1872 a Special Committee of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York recommended that the number and duration of liens on real estate be materially reduced. No attempt was ever made to cause the recommendation to be carried into effect.

"Ten years after, in 1882, five members of the same Association who were appointed to consider and report what, if any, changes should be made in the manner of transferring title to land in the City and State of New York, made an elaborate report to the Association, recommending no less than eighteen amendments to the existing law. They also reported that, on account of the great number of instruments and liens recorded in the offices of the New York Register and County Clerk, searches against real estate practically could not be made in those offices, except by the aid of the private indexes of the official searchers.

"While most of the recommendations were approved by the Association, not one of them have matured into laws, except that providing for short forms.

"In 1882, the same year, the New York Chamber of Commerce adopted resolutions requesting the Legislature 'to appoint a commission to consider and suggest a method of transferring titles to land in this State.'

"After great efforts on the part of those interested an act was prepared for the appointment of a State Commission 'to prepare and report to the Legislature a bill to facilitate and lessen the expense of the transfer of land and dealing therewith in certain cities of this State.'

"Owing to the opposition which may always be expected to such reforms it was not until the year 1884 that an act for the appointment of Commissioners was passed by the Legislature, and their appointment made by the Governor.

"After a lapse of six years two very important bills resulting from its labors were passed by the Legislature. One for Short Forms passed in 1890, modeled after the English Act, and the other providing for the introduction of Block Indexing in the City of New York, which was passed in 1889, and perfected by amendment in 1890, nearly twenty years after the movement was initiated.

"Both of these acts have been of incalculable benefit to the State. Without the relief afforded by the Block Indexing Act, which was in the first instance made applicable only to the City of New York, it is probable that this Convention would have been confronted with the question of the repeal of the recording Acts, so far as they affect that city, and with all the consequences, near and remote, arising from such repeal. Both Acts have had a fair trial and been found to work admirably. By an Act passed last year, the Block system is being introduced into Kings County.

"In New York the Act has also been extended to the Tax and other city offices and is in partial operation there.

"Another difficulty of equal moment confronts us: The great and ever growing accumulation of land records in the several land offices of the State, especially in the large cities; necessitating enormous labor in the examination of titles, accompanied by increased risk and cost. A difficulty so great that unless some relief be provided at an early day, the question will again recur, not merely as to the expediency, but as to the necessity of the repeal of the recording acts, upon which so vast a number of titles depend, and the closing of the doors of trust companies, savings banks, and of all those companies the safety of whose securities depends, under existing laws, upon the protection given to titles to land by a public record.

"As I have said, the various methods of reform in the transfer of land it is not worth while here to discuss.

"One is the reduction of liens of land, another the mode and legal effect of registration, another the adoption of a short statute of limitations, and one of the most important and far reaching is the application to real estate of the laws which govern personal estate, so far as the subject matter will permit. These and other measures relating to the reform require the most mature deliberation by those whose ability and studies fit them for their consideration, as well as the approval of the public. The course of such reforms must necessarily, and should be slow.

"No more important interests can engage the attention of the Convention than those relating to land in the cities and farming portions of this State.

"In the City of New York alone not less than $2,000,000,000 (two billion dollars) of real estate is held by more than 200,000 different owners. In Brooklyn and other cities and in the agricultural districts the land interest is also enormous.

"While every agricultural land owner must be largely benefited by any improvement in the laws calculated to make more certain the title to his property, and to facilitate and cheapen its transfer, and thus to enhance its value, the advantages to be derived from such reforms cannot fail to increase the marketable value of the land. To capitalize land, to turn its value into the channels of trade, to give it commercial value, especially in the country where land is held by free titles, in small allotments, by the aid of reforms, which it is now well understood by those conversant with the subject, can accomplish the purpose, would give the State of New York a pre-eminent commercial position.

"In England the subject of reform in the transfer of land is very old, scarcely less than half a century: attention having been given there for the most part to the simplification of titles, from which difficulty we are comparatively free. In this country the reform is of recent growth, although, at the present time, many States are investigating the subject by the aid of commissions.

"To the great importance of the subject to the State at large another reason is added why the Convention should act upon it, the great delay and difficulty which would accompany the attempt to procure the passage of a bill for the appointment of a commission, and if passed you cannot compel its enforcement. The experience had in procuring the passage of the act for the former Commission would deter any one from a like attempt now. Powerful influences have arisen against any change in the present laws since the passage of the New York bill. Title companies have been formed which, as every conveyancer knows, are absorbing pretty much all the business of searching in New York and Brooklyn, at an expense to the real estate owners of not far from $500,000 per annum. The capital stock of these companies is held, for the most part, by those whose interests are hostile to any reform, and with their opposition reform bills are not likely to be passed by the Legislature, unless supported by the authority and approval of a State Commission appointed by direction of the Constitution.

"The course of the reform bills heretofore acted upon by the several legislatures shows what little time and thought the ordinary work of the Legislature permits to be bestowed upon the abstruse and technical subjects connected with land transfer reform.

"Two bills were reported to the Legislature by the former land transfer commission. One, the majority bill, known as the Lot Bill; the other, the minority bill, known as the Block Bill. The Senate in the first instance passed the Lot Bill by a large majority, and at the next session of the Legislature the same Senate passed the other Block Bill almost unanimously, as did the Assembly, and it became a law. It is also important that the Convention should adopt the amendment to the Constitution looking to uniformity of legislation relative to recording and indexing in the State. There is now one legal method of indexing in New York and Brooklyn, and another for the rest of the State. In the City of Syracuse indexing for that city is according to the lines of old patents, without any law for it whatever, it is believed.

"Year beforelast an Act was passed for certain indexing to be done in the offices of the Comptroller, Register and County Clerk in Brooklyn, under a Commission. The Bill was manipulated at Albany by the introduction of certain objectionable provisions. Although the Act was mandatory, the City authorities refused to carry it out, and last year the former act was repealed and another substituted, with the sanction if not the direct co-operation of the City authorities, conferring upon the Comptroller power to introduce into his office objectionable methods of indexing, subversive of the system as used in the other offices of the city. It also bestowed, by implication only, upon the County Clerk, the power to index future liens on the Block plan, without any absolute direction for him to do so, and without any provision whatever as to the legal effect of such indexing as notice.

"The Brooklyn authorities have, I am informed, recently, in attempting to copy the New York acts, very nearly got the whole system of recording and indexing in the County of Kings into confusion, and have been forced to ignore a part of the act by reason of its uncertainty and manifest errors.

"What is taking place in New York and Kings County in respect to the very important matters of recording and indexing, is liable to occur elsewhere in the State and in other cities, when block indexing comes into use in those cities, as it necessarily must in time and should under a general law. An amendment to the Constitution is imperative, in order to prevent such further legislation as has been attempted.

"In view of the difficulties which have been encountered in the past, and the existing condition of things, it is believed that it would be futile to attempt to procure the appointment of a proper Commission to supervise the interests of land in this State, without the direction such as it is proposed to incorporate in the Constitution. This will avoid the necessity of any application to the Legislature, as the Governor will act directly on the authority conferred by the Constitution.

"Reform in the method of transferring land is imperatively needed. Its necessity is increasing every year. In the City of New York the old still existing system is unwieldy, producing delays and great expense. Nearly 4,000 volumes of records have already accumulated in the office of the Register and they are increasing at a rapid rate.

"The ratio of increase keeps pace with that of the population. As the number of inhabitants of that city has about doubled every seventeen years since 1820 and as there seems no sign now of decrease, it is likely that soon the present population of 1,800,000 will become three million and the Register's records under the present system reach 8,000 volumes ere this century shall end. The present system of searching titles, even now dependent upon the private indexes of employees in the Register's office, would then become water-logged and break down by its own weight.

"If searches cannot now be completed, without great delays and great expense, the delay and expense would, at that time, be such as to prohibit further searches. Even now titles are sometimes taken without examination and the risk of possible defects incurred by the purchaser rather than to encounter the delay and expense of searching.

"As near as may be, land should be made as easily transferable as personal property.

"With very slight difficulties incident to the nature of the estate, a man ought to be able to sell and part with or mortgage his lot, his farm or his house as quickly and as cheaply as his corporate stocks or other personal estate. There is no insuperable obstacle to this. But now a man cannot carry through a sale or mortgage of land in the City of New York, even after the terms are agreed on, without an average delay of perhaps thirty days, sometimes much longer, and at an average expense of say $150 and often at a considerably larger sum.

"This is a serious weight upon real estate. To remove the obstacle to the ready, easy, quick and inexpensive transfer of real estate would be to increase very largely the wealth of the city and of the entire State, and to make this now cumbrous form of property an element of commercial activity.

"It would also tend to distribute land amongst the people, to make a greater number of land-owners, and thus add strength to our country and create for it zealous defenders.

"The direction of modern reform is toward simple titles to land, its general distribution among the people, free holdings, and in opposition to entailments and permanent settlements.

"Not only is this deemed advantageous to the farming population, which in every country constitutes the great body of the people, but also to the State as insuring permanence of government through general possession of the soil.

"It was said long ago, 'Small ownership is the best protection against socialism.'

"The land question, in one form or another, is uppermost in England, not excepting, perhaps, the Irish problem, which is also a land question, and one of the most important branches of the subject is recognized to be that of land transfer.

"No bill for the registration of titles in any form should be introduced and acted upon by the Legislature except such as has been prepared and recommended for passage by a commission of competent men appointed especially for that purpose, who are willing to study the subject thoroughly and give their time and attention to it, and who will inform themselves of all which has been written in relation to it.

"They should also take testimony and procure and compare the views of lawyers and others.

"No one person is likely voluntarily to take upon himself the responsibility and labor of preparing such a bill, nor should the work be committed to a single individual."

John H. Peek, an eminent lawyer of Troy, followed Mr. Green with the following earnest speech in support of the amendment:

"Mr. Chairman, you have before you in this proposed amendment a very important and valuable proposition. Some of the actions of this Convention have been criticised as un-American; that we were too far from the people. We have before us in this proposed amendment not only something in accordance with all the historical lines of America, but also of the State of New York. We have here also a proposition to put the thrifty man of moderate means on a par with every other citizen, without reference to the amount of his property. Every lawyer here knows that a man with well-selected corporate stock to the amount of three hundred dollars can go out into his own neighborhood and borrow at the cheapest rate the full value of that stock. You also know that the thrifty man whose first savings are put in real estate, if he has property of double that value, cannot go into the market and borrow one-half of its value. The reason for this largely resides in the fact of the difficulty, the expense and the trouble of searching land titles and executing land conveyances. This is all wrong. The thrifty man of moderate means should be put upon a par with every other citizen. The best property for the people of this State to own, in the interests of the State, is its own real estate, where men become taxpayers and where they are interested in all economic measures. I said that this was in the line of the history of this State. When the people of this State first assumed sovereignty in its own matters one of the first efforts which they made at legislation was to carry on the work which had been begun in the old countries, to do away with the difficulties which stood in the way of the alienation of real estate. From that time until the Constitution of 1846 this matter was before the Legislature in isolated statutes on many different occasions, and many reforms were adopted in the law of the land. This thing was perfected to such an extent in the Constitution of 1846 that not a very great deal of legislation has since been required. But that very ability to convey real estate in this State, which has been conferred upon its citizens, has brought upon it a great difficulty. To use the language of Chancellor Kent, it is now so nearly a matter of commerce that the multitude of conveyances has been multiplied, and the clerk's offices, the recording books of our registration offices are crowded and the indexes in many cases are so full and so congested that the searching of real estate titles has become a matter of great difficulty, and has become a matter of great expense. It is often as expensive to search a three hundred dollar title as it is to search a three thousand dollar title, and the result is that the man of moderate means cannot use his property, if it is invested in real estate, as a matter of business credit and facility.

"Now, that is all wrong. This condition of things has grown out of the work of our fathers. What we should do if we can is to so arrange the transfer of titles to real estate that it shall approximate the ease of the transfer of personal property. It is one of the great safeguards of our country. It is often said that our public schools are responsible for the assimilation of the foreign population that comes to our shores, and that to them we look for the homogeneous population of this country. The public schools do work upon the youth who come here, and the children of those who came here in adult years. But I apprehend that the public school must divide the credit with our real estate law. The moment a man comes here from a country where he cannot own land, where the restraints upon alienation are so great that land is the one thing in all the world that he cannot own, the first thing that he does, the first savings that he makes, is invested in land. He becomes one of our taxpayers, but when he undertakes to use it as a credit he finds himself at a disadvantage with his neighbor who has invested in personal property.

"Now, Mr. Chairman, in view of that it seems to me that a great effort should be made by this Convention to do something which would put these two classes of property upon a par. Now, to show you how this thing is working, take it in my own county: Up to 1846, the assemblage of the last Constitutional Convention, there were sixty-four books of deeds and about the same number of mortgages. To day there are four times that number, and in the last fifteen years we have more books of recorded deeds than in the fifty-five years preceding the Convention of 1846.

"This is a magnificent record for this country. It is one of the grandest things in the history of this State that land is being distributed to every person who desires it. But if we leave it at the disadvantage which is growing, it will grow greater. It will be more difficult to manage this question ten years from now than it is to-day. It ought to be attended to to-day. Now is the time. This is the proper time to take up and manage this question.

"Now, it may be said, that by making general laws we are affecting counties that are not troubled in this way. Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, we are affecting, and ought to affect, every citizen of the State upon this question. Every citizen is liable to have to enter upon the examination of the records of other counties. A man from one county ought to be able to make a search in every county in the State, and it ought to be done at a glance. It can be done at a glance just as well as the transfer of stocks can be, and the necessity for these great searches can be speedily eliminated.

"Now, it may be said that this is a matter for legislation. Gentlemen, is there a spot in the history of this State which has brought so much lustre to it as those few lines in the Constitution of 1846 which require that a commission be appointed to codify the law of the State? Our work done then has been copied and used in the vast majority of the States of this Union already, and it has crossed the ocean to the old country. I think that while it is not comparable in some regards to the importance of the commission which was required to be formed under the Constitution of 1846, that it is a very great and important measure in the progress of reform, and that this Constitutional Convention, if it adopts a measure of this kind, will have taken a step forward. We will not merely have been correcting abuses, not merely have been correcting mistakes, not merely dealing with the people indirectly through their banks, through their railroads, through their legislators, through their towns and villages, but we will have come right down to the citizen, and we will help the men who are the bulk of our constituents, the thrifty men of moderate means. This is a question which the lawyers understand better than any other class of the community, and those of us who are lawyers owe it to our constituents that this law of the State of New York shall be regulated in this respect, and let it be to the honor of the lawyers of this State that they point the way." (Applause.)

At the conclusion of Mr. Peck's speech, I. Sam Johnson, of Wyoming County, stated that the Convention had taken hold of a very important subject, as was obvious from the speeches which had been made. He thought the speeches of Mr. Green and Mr. Peck should be printed and meantime the Convention should set aside the amendment for future consideration. This idea prevailed and the amendment was laid on the table. The speeches of Mr. Green and Mr. Peck will be printed by the middle of the coming week and then the Convention will again take up the amendment.

Real Estate Market.

Contrary to established precedent the reports of the week that ushered in the period known as the dog days are this year replete with details of interesting sales and trades. This violation of the traditions of the real estate market is the more remarkable in view of the dullness that has been its most prominent feature for some time past. The fact that brokers are now in a position to place with comparative ease mortgage loans that were formerly viewed askance by representatives of capital has probably had much to do with the unexpected summer revival of active dealing. The Astor purchase of the Hotel Metropole is the specially bright star of the week in the realty firmament. It is another demonstration of the policy of the estate first noticed a few years ago to make investments with the object of centralizing its holdings. Its effect in restoring confidence in the safety of investments in city real estate should be reflected by the market for the balance of the year.

The week's auction sales are unworthy of comment. The few held were the result of foreclosures, and the plaintiff in each instance had a clear field, meeting with no competitive bidding whatever. D. P. Ingraham & Co., on Tuesday, adjourned until August 8 a sale of No. 48 Monroe street, owing to an error in the legal advertisements, and L. J. Phillips & Co. adjourned the sale of the Graham House property on Madison avenue and 89th street, to September 20.

It is unofficially announced that the Board of Aldermen will next month fix the new tax rate at $1.80. The present rate is $1.82.

The habit of giving out untrue news regarding private sales has developed remarkably of late, but we are pleased to note that it is one that has few, if any, advocates among the better class of brokers. The custom of giving notional considerations in deeds is far less objectionable and is to be commended as preferable to the practice of former years, which is still in evidence at times, of expressing in legal instruments falsified considerations. The latter are misleading only in the event of a buyer not familiar with realty values failing to consult a broker regarding a contemplated purchase. A suggestive peculiarity about the sales in which prices are misrepresented by one or more of the interested parties is that when they become matters of record they are almost invariably found in the list of conveyances for nominal considerations.

Builder John C. Barth has secured a judgment for $25,326.69 against John B. Manning, the maltster, of Buffalo, on notes given in a real estate transaction consummated some months ago, which have been allowed to go by default. The notes were the equity involved in a trade by which Manning secured the ownership of the Central Park flats, on Central Park West, extending from 103d to 104th streets, giving in exchange out-of-town breweries that had fallen into his hands in lieu of unpaid malt bills. Manning has long been known as an extensive operator in city flat property.

A HEARING ON THAT 90TH STREET STABLE MATTER.

The Sinking Fund Commission has determined to give the remonstrants against the establishment of a stable for the Street Cleaning Department a hearing. It will be held in the Mayor's office on Tuesday at noon.

A RECOURSE TO FIRST PRINCIPLES OF PROTECTION.

A legal quarrel of more than ordinary interest was made public in the Superior Court, before Judge Dugro, on Tuesday. The facts appear to be as follows: Lanty Ryan owns and occupies a three-story and basement house at No. 281 Madison street, which forty years ago was still within one of the finest residence sections of the city. In recent years the district has rapidly changed character, old houses disappearing and cheap tenements, factories and business establishments taking their places.

One of the sites so changed was No. 283 Madison street, next door to Ryan's house. Here Jacob Osnowitz, a rag dealer and operator in a small way in real estate, erected a seven-story factory building, as he had the undoubted right to do. But he did rather more than this. He took possession of the easements of light and air on both sides of his building without regard to the owners of the adjoining properties, and pierced his side walls with frequent windows. Since the walls were upon his own property he did not exceed his lawful privileges in so doing—however his lack of discretion may be regarded. Ryan did not relish the prospect when he saw the windows going in, and promised Osnowitz that he would "make it hot for him."

Osnowitz finished and rented his building successfully, in the first instance, as appears. There was an undertaker's establishment, stable and embalming rooms on the first floor, an odoriferous grocery and restaurant on the second, and some 200 tailors and assistants with their machines on the upper five floors. Perhaps there would have been no trouble had the windows in this seven-story factory been used only for light and ventilation, but the tenants began to use them for the ejection of all sorts of refuse—food scraps, waste paper and rags, bottles, cans, noxious fluids, fruit rinds, etc., to the obvious annoyance of the neighbors. At this Ryan rebelled, and on the 4th of July, before any of the inmates had paused in the first ebullitions of their young patriotism, he built a telegraph pole in his yard, close up against the closed iron shutters that covered a tier of windows in the factory. He also nailed boards upon the pole so as to effectually close the windows in that tier. The effect was to shut off the light and ventilation through those windows, and to render the interior of the building almost uninhabitable. If the same course were to be adopted as to the remaining windows the building would be rendered so completely, and Osnowitz's property would become almost worthless.

Osnowitz thought it time to do something and accordingly brought suit against Ryan for an injunction restraining the erection of any further barriers to his windows and for the removal of the existing ones. Judge Gildersleeve granted a preliminary injunction, which came up before Judge Dugro on Tuesday on a motion to dissolve it. Judge Dugro did dissolve it, holding that since Ryan had constructed the barriers on his own property he had infringed no one's rights and so long as he kept within the building laws and fire ordinances he could not be prevented from building what he pleased on his own property. There endeth the first lesson. The second lesson will probably involve negotiations between Osnowitz and Ryan of a more or less amicable character.

Gossip of the Week.

SOUTH OF 59TH STREET.

John Jacob Astor has purchased through Tim & Co. from George Ross the site, with seven and eight-story buildings, forming the original portion of the Hotel Metropole, on the west side of Broadway and east side of 7th avenue, about 51.3 and 49.4 respectively south of 42d street, for $850,000. The property sold is Nos. 1457 to 1463 Broadway and Nos. 589 to 595 7th avenue, fronting 92.1 on the former and 89 on the latter thoroughfare, with a northerly depth of 99.11 and a southerly one of 124.7. The present northerly section of the hotel, occupying the block front on 42d street, extending from Broadway to 7th avenue, was formerly called the Brighton Hotel, and is owned by the estate of C. W. Coe. It is said that the trustee has been compelled to refuse an offer to purchase the property, made by Mr. Astor's representative, owing to the estate being tied up in such a way as to preclude the possibility of a sale being made. The Hotel Metropole is leased for a term of years to George Green.

Julius Friend has sold for Denison P. Chesebro and Harry McNally, of Chesebro, Whitman & Co., to John Kehoe for improvement, Nos. 73 and 75 West Houston street, a plot 50x95, with old buildings, for about $70,000. Mr. Kehoe gives in exchange No. 36 Goerck street, mentioned last week, and the southwest corner of Madison and Scammel streets, a plot 30x60, with one three-story and one two-story brick buildings.

Robert Appleton, Jr., has sold No. 269 South street, north side, 37.2 west of Jefferson street, 31.10x64.4, a five-story brick warehouse, for Alexander Ayres, who took title to the property last month, to Albert R. McMurray at a price reported to be $60,000.

B. Flanagan & Son have sold for Mrs. Anna J. Ripley the three-story and basement brick store and dwelling, 19.9x60, on the northwest corner of 7th avenue and 41st street to Mrs. Mary A. Early for $42,500. The property was conveyed to Mrs. Ripley in January, 1883, for a consideration of $20,000.

Cyrille Carreau has sold for Glover Chapman, of Bloomsburg, N.Y., Nos. 119 and 121 Roosevelt street, southeast corner of Water, two three-story buildings, on lot 40.6x50, to Mrs. Charlotte E. French, of Concord, N. H.

Tim & Co. have sold for the estate of the late Leopold Litaner, No. 114 West 32d street, a three-story brick and stone dwelling, 20x55x98.9.

L. J. Phillips & Co.'s sale referred to last week is that of the four-story brick hotel building occupying the entire lot, 22.6x65, on the southeast corner of West and Liberty streets, for Frank Raub at a price reported to be $160,000. The figure, however, is too high to pass muster, Mr. Raub having bought the property about three years ago for about $100,000 and having since leased it to his brother for a long term of years.

Geo. R. Read is the broker who negotiated the sale of Worth street property, of which mention was made in the issue of July 7. It comprises Nos. 83 and 85 Worth street, a five-story iron front store on plot 48x100, sold for the Catlin and Leavitt estates for $250,000. Builder John Downey is the buyer. The same broker has purchased for the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. Mary, No. 144 West 47th street, a three-story dwelling on lot 18.9x100.5, adjoining and in the rear of the property recently purchased by the same corporation as a site for a new church and parish buildings, to be erected on 46th and 47th streets. With the addition of the latest purchase the church now owes a frontage of 95 feet on 47th street and 125 feet on 16th street. Mr. Read has also sold to Martin Schrenkeisen, the owner of the property adjoining on either side, a strip containing 750 square feet on the northwest corner of Canal and Baxter streets. The buyer held a lease of the strip and had utilized it as a part of the site of his six-story building erected on the corner.

Mandelbaum & Lewine's 42d street purchase turns out to be the two three-story stone front dwellings, Nos. 120 and 122 West, on lot 25x100. The owners of the property are the heirs of the Peter Aston estate, from one of whom Mandelbaum & Lewine purchased in the name of Isidore Jackson last month a quarter interest for $18,750. They have since bought the three-quarter interest held by the other heirs for $65,000, making a total investment of $83,750. It is understood that the property has been resold at an advance, but for less than $100,000, through John N. Golding. The same operators have bought of Mary A. Tucker, Nos. 235 and 237 West 14th street, two five-story English basement stone front dwellings, on plot 31.6x129 and 103.3. They deny that they have secured the house as low as $35,500, the price reported to have been agreed upon. The buildings have been rented and occupied by the present tenant for the last seven years, who pays $2,800 per annum. The last conveyance of the property was in October, 1885, for a consideration of $37,000.

Charles Laner has purchased for about $19,000 from Gottlieb D. Elterich for immediate improvement No. 18 Chrystie street, a frame building with lot, 24.10x100.

F. Zittel has sold No. 130 East 57th street, a four-story stone front dwelling, covering the short lot, 22.6x20.5, for Charles Euders to Mrs. Sarah M. Odell, proprietor of the abutting livery stable, fronting on Lexington avenue.

The owners of property near No. 330 West 42d street, the sale of which was mentioned last week, object to the price it realized being taken as a criterion of the values ruling on the block. No. 330, they say, is an old four-story brick tenement of shallow depth, with a two-story brick stable on the rear of the lot, and does not compare at all favorably with nearby improvements. J. Edgar Leaycraft, the broker who closed the sale, says the price is $2,000 less than a similar house east of it brought some time ago. Mr. Leaycraft was inadvertently not given credit for negotiating the sale for Drought &

Carew, of No. 9 Christopher street, reported in this column two weeks ago.

Hugh Slevin, before his departure for Europe last week, sold at an advance of $1,500 No. 371 West 12th street, northwest corner of Washington, recently bought by him for $22,250.

NORTH OF 59TH STREET.

L. J. Phillips & Co. have closed a trade between Ludwig Bros., the dry-goods merchants, and Andrews Soher by which the former give the vacant plot, 200x30, on the east side of Columbus avenue, extending from 86th to 87th street, in exchange for a plot, 150x100.11, on the north side of 116th street, 319.6 west of 5th avenue, and a plot, 75x100.11, on the south side of 117th street, 370.11 west of same avenue, both owned by Mr. Soher. The equity to be paid in cash has not been divulged.

Tim & Co. have sold for Henry M. Denton, who recently purchased the property from the estate of the late E. H. M. Just, the Washington apartment house on the southwest corner of 7th avenue Boulevard and 122d street, an eight-story building, on lot 100.11x100. The price accepted is represented to be $350,000, of which $160,000 is the amount of the existing mortgage, and $140,000 the trading value of property at Lakewood, N. J., to be taken in exchange. Ross Browning, of Orange, N. J., is the buyer of the "Washington," title to which will be taken, it is said, by a Mrs. Henriques. The building is to be extensively improved and converted into an apartment hotel.

Charles Griffith Moses has sold for J. Romain Brown the plot of lots, 100x100.11, on the south side of 125th street, 125 feet east of Amsterdam avenue, to Mark Ash for immediate improvement, and for Mr. Ash and another the three adjoining new tenements and stores Nos. 440 to 444 West 125th street, on plot 75x100.11, for about $90,000. The broker declines to divulge the name of the purchaser of the improved property, but it would not be surprising if he should prove to be Mr. Brown.

Livingston & Budd have traded for A. Del Genovese the three-story brick dwelling, No. 343 West End avenue, west side, 25.6 north of 81st street, lot 25.6x100, with H. B. De Voe for a plot of eight lots with dwelling, on the corner of Ogden avenue and De Voe street, in the 23d Ward.

The four five-story brick flats, Nos. 231 to 237 West 61st street, 25 x 85 x 100.5 each, have been sold or traded by William E. Finn as executor of the estate of the late Myer Finn. The houses are valued at about $120,000.

F. Zittel has sold for Max Fischer his three-story stone front residence, No. 127 East 62d street, 16x72.3x16x73.2, to Alexander P. Mende, for $16,000.

Selbach & Co. have sold for Arthur Coleman to Charles M. Koplik, No. 6 East 132d street, a five-story double flat, 25x85x99.11, for $28,000.

Col. J. H. Hunt has negotiated a trade between Cotter Bros. and Gen. William W. Skiddy, of this city, by which the latter will acquire the ownership of Nos. 203, 207, 209 and 213 West 81st street, four five-story brick and stone flats, on lots 37.6x102.2 each. Mr. Skiddy takes the property at a valuation of $340,000 and gives in exchange in addition to a cash consideration, a residence and grounds at Stamford, Conn., fronting 375 feet on Main street, adjoining the property of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and extending through to Forest avenue. It has been put in at a valuation of $150,000.

William Hall's Sons have purchased of the Hutton estate the two lots, 49.11x100, on the southeast corner of Amsterdam avenue and 139th street, and the lots, 50x99.11, adjoining on the street, for $23,000. The sale was effected through Richard V. Harnett & Co. and Slawson & Hobbs.

John Kehoe has not, as reported, sold a plot, 100.8x100, on the southwest corner of Madison avenue and 90th street.

Barnett, Davis & Co. have sold for Timothy M. Taylor two lots, 50x99.11, on the south side of 181th street, 480 feet east of 11th avenue.

NORTH SIDE.

Crockett & Roddy have sold one of the five buildings they are erecting on the corner of 156th street and Union avenue to Thomas Schneider, for $15,000.

J. William Kaiser, Jr., has sold for Bertine & Egan, the five-story brick flat, 27.6x96x100, on the southwest corner of 138th street and St. Ann's avenue, to H. J. Meyerhoff.

LEASES.

Oliver Bryan has leased for Mrs. M. A. King to E. Withbrandt the four-story dwelling, No. 2136 7th avenue, for a term of three years from September 1 at $1,600 per annum.

Kiker & Son have leased for J. D. Roosevelt the four-story stone front dwelling, No. 70 West 49th street, to C. C. Edey for three years, at $2,150.

WESTCHESTER COUNTY.

H. C. Mapes & Co. have sold a full lot on Main street, Westchester, adjoining their real estate office, for Francis J. Schmugg to F. Steinbrenner, a Mt. Vernon photographer, who will erect a branch studio.

Out of Town.

Robert Appleton, Jr., has sold for the Jordan L. Mott Iron Works their foundry buildings at Peekskill, N. Y., with three and a-half acres of land, to Royal D. Comstock, of Hartford, Conn., for $110,000.

Obituary.

In the death of George J. Hamilton, on Tuesday, the building trades of the city lost one of their oldest and most highly esteemed representatives. He was born in Ireland in 1810, coming to this country in 1826. In 1850, after a successful career in the soap and candle business, which was cut short by the burning of his factory, he began, in 1850, to build houses for sale. The scene of his first operations was the East Side around Stuyvesant Park, and his further operations preceded the development of the city, through Murray Hill to Harlem. He made a specialty of three-story and basement brownstone front houses, and was noted for the superior quality of his work. His strong social sentiments found expression in ardent religious work, through the Methodist Church, of which he was an active and influential member. His last illness was of short duration and he died at the house of his son in Essex Falls, N. J. He left his wife and three grown sons and a daughter surviving him. The funeral at St. James' Methodist Episcopal Church, yesterday, was attended by many old friends.

Messrs. Mr. Braender has issued a neat brochure containing much information, accompanied by illustrations descriptive of the workings of the Braender Automatic Jet Pump, which he will gladly send to owners, architects and builders who are desirous of guarding against overflows or the bursting of pipes in cellars, or who want a machine that will pump water out of excavations. REVIEW AND RECORD.

BROOKLYN, JULY 28, 1894.

False Economy in Cobblestone Pavement.

AMONG Brooklyn's most important needs at this juncture is an enlightened and vigorous sentiment on the question of public improvements. Indeed, having now a decent and honest administration, it is doubtful if there is any matter of anything like the importance of this one now undetermined. A year ago this great city was groaning under the yoke of a hostile and thievish and universally incompetent local administration, but for six months now a reform administration has been in power, the city has regained in large measure the self-respect and confidence it lost during that dark period, and there is time for the consideration of other matters of equal or nearly equal importance to the city's permanent welfare. At least next in importance to an honest administration is the character of the public and private improvements which combine to make the city.

A habit which seems to have been fastened by long usage upon the city and which has done more than any one other thing to detract from the city's appearance is the paving of new streets with cobblestones. How the habit came to be contracted is concealed in the mysteries of the past. Perhaps some forefather from a Holland or German village, where the street traffic is of no consequence and the ordinary footwear of the inhabitants is made of wood, brought the disease over with him and fastened it upon the budding community, which has not been able as yet to eradicate it from the municipal system. Perhaps the poverty of the early settlers made the cobblestone pavement necessary, but if so that excuse has not been sufficient for many years. The habit was indulged, apparently, in ignorance of its insinuating and debasing power until it has become a chronic disease, seriously impairing the natural beauty of the city and exercising a repellant influence upon immigration and settlement.

However suitable the cobblestone pavement may be for Nuremberg and Freiberg and such ancient and dormant German cities, where the sprinkling cart is oftener in evidence than any other vehicle, and where the inhabitants turn out every evening and sweep their own streets, it is by long odds the worst possible pavement for a city like Brooklyn. It testifies to a woeful poverty of resources when the authorities go on perpetuating this archaic pavement, that has long been condemned and abandoned in the countries of its origin, where there might still be found some excuse for its employment. The soil of Brooklyn is least of all suited to such a pavement. Largely composed of red clay, when wet it makes a semi-liquid ooze, which rises easily to the surface through the interstices between the oval stones, and when dry and exposed to the sun and traffic for a short time it becomes an almost impalpable powder which floats in thick clouds on every breeze and is carried through the smallest of openings into the houses to make the life of the housewife a burden and a weariness forever.

Where recently some of the property-owners on a street about to be paved for the first time applied to the authorities to put down some other form of pavement, they were advised to withdraw their opposition to the cobblestones because the expense to them would be less; that the first pavement was paid for by assessment upon the abutting property, but they could have the street repaved in a few years with a better kind of pavement, and the cost would be defrayed out of the general fund. This was seriously put forth as the settled policy of the officer having incidental charge of the work. It did not occur to this man that the effect of such a policy would be to burden the city with the cost of a superfluous cobblestone pavement, and the property-owners in this instance seemed to think his advice was good and the policy of advantage to them. They did not see that in the end they would pay for one pavement by assessment and another by a high tax rate through several years, when only one was necessary if that were well laid.

In many of the streets of Brooklyn, probably in most of them, a wooden block pavement would have advantages over any other. The causes which led to its rejection in New York and Chicago do not apply to the Brooklyn streets, where its use would be advisable. In all such streets there is natural slope sufficient to keep the pavement dry, and the traffic is and always will be only of the lightest character. The wooden block pavement would be almost, if not quite, as cheap as the cobblestone pavement; it would be smoother and less noisy; easier on vehicles and afford a better footing for horses, and it would not only be easier to clean and keep clean, but it would keep down a large part of the powdery dust that rises constantly from the cobblestone pavement. So that, wherever because of the great cost of granite block and asphalt pavements they are inadvisable, and wherever the steepness of the grade excludes the asphalt pavement, Brooklyn's streets would be best paved in every respect by a well-laid wooden block pavement. Under any circumstances, however, the cobblestone pavement ought to be forever hereafter excluded from Brooklyn's streets. The injury they have wrought down to the present time will be a burden on the city for many years to come, and common sense and honest economy demand that they should be done away with. Another year of intelligent and honest administration of the tax office and of economy in municipal expenditures will give the city a sufficient financial margin to warrant proceeding with some of the more pressing repaving contracts. Some of these were let over a year ago, but because the city debt encroached so far upon the constitutional limit they had to be postponed. That is a disgraceful emergency for a city like Brooklyn to be caught in, but by continuing the laying of cobblestone pavements it is multiplying trouble of that character for the future.

Through trains are now running to the city line on the Kings County Elevated Railroad. The new stations are at Chestnut, Crescent and Grant streets. The new extension will be of great benefit to the residents of a growing section of the 26th Ward.

Among the Mayor's callers on Wednesday were Messrs. Wechsler & McNulty, who own the "Abbey" property and who have contemplated the erection of a large building upon the ground, for the uses of a theatre. These gentlemen were inquiring of His Honor the present status of the proposed extension of Flatbush avenue to the bridge, which they heartily favored. They said that if there was a possibility of its being definitely decided upon within five years, they would not expend a dollar on their proposed new building. The Mayor said that the matter was still only under consideration, and suggested that they should see President Harkness, of the Department of Assessment, who has an old map of the proposed extension.

A petition was presented by the citizens of Fort Hamilton and Bay Ridge to the Brooklyn City Railroad Company asking a reduction of fare to five cents from the City Hall on the 2d avenue line to Gravesend Bay, and on the 3d avenue line to Fort Hamilton. In answer General Manager W. A. H. Bogardus said that the company would eventually reduce the fares to five cents, but at the present time if the company reduced the fare they would lose money. This answer proving unsatisfactory and it being a charter requirement that all street railroads shall transport passengers over their entire lines in the city for a single fare, a citizen of Bay Ridge, to make a test case of the matter, refused to pay the second fare when the old city limits were reached and was put off the car by the conductor. He thereupon began suit against the company for damages. The company holds that the extension of the city limits can have no retro-active effect to compel it to carry passengers further than before.

Mayor Schieren, on Tuesday, approved the resolution passed by the Common Council the day before, appropriating $750,000 for the extension of the water system. Specifications were completed yesterday and bids for the work will be due August 15th. This will give the contractors three weeks in which to prepare their estimates.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as headings are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded. Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date. Whenever the rate is not given, read as 6 per cent.
